SoyDiesel Proclaimed Good For Farmers And Environmentalists

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ELVERSON (Chester Co.)—With soybean representatives, legislators, environmentalists, and media hounds looking on at Bill Beam's soybean farm, Beam first fired up a diesel tractor that was running on SoyDiesel and then started a diesel tractor that was running on common diesel fuel oil.

The contrast in the smell of the exhaust between the two tractors was as one reporter said, "The difference between the Lincoln Tunnel and someone's kitchen."

And that was the reason for the SoyDiesel bus ride from Harrisburg to Philadelphia Thursday--to let the public know that fuel derived from soybeans has many advantages for farmers and even more advantages for environmentalists who set the agenda for clean air.

A Capitol Trailways bus that was burning 50 percent SoyDiesel made the trip as part of the educational program of the Pennsylvania Soybean Board. The Beam farm was one of the stops.

Back in Harrisburg, State Agricultural Secretary Boyd Wolff made environmental and agricultural history when he lanched the SoyDiesel bus ride. The bus is the state's first SoyDiesel bus.

At the SoyDiesel demonstration are, on tractor, Bill, Robin, and Shawn Beam, soybean farmers. In front, Sara Nichols, Deleware Valley Clean Air Council; Ken Peters, National SoyDiesel Development Board; Mike Gerhart, vice-chairman, PA Soybean Board; and Art Hershey, state representative from Chester County.

Berks Honors Outstanding Farm Family

CONNIE LEINBACH
Berks Co. Correspondent

FLEETWOOD (Berks Co.) — If Kris Hoffman has anything to say about it, he will be the fifth generation to work the family farm at 448 Old State Road, Oley.

Kris, 11, a seventh grader at Oley Valley High School, is one of three children of Barry E. and Karen Hoffman. The family was named 1993 Outstanding Farm Family of the Year by the Reading Fair and the Berks Pomona Grange at a recent banquet held in the Fleetwood Grange.

This was the 38th annual awards banquet sponsored by the Agricultural and Horticultural Association of Berks County.

"The farm has been in the family for more than 100 years," said Karen during the festivities. "We're the fourth generation to farm it."

"I plan to be the fifth," Kris said.

Karen noted that the whole family, including eldest son, Dwight, 18, and daughter Sherry, 16, nonetheless help do everything on the 300-acre farm. All of the children are involved in numerous school, church and sports activities in the community, as are Barry and Karen.

They milk 52 Holsteins and average 17,850 pounds of milk, which is shipped to Dietrich's Milk in Reading.

The Hoffmans live on the farm owned by Barry's parents, Earl and Pearl Hoffman, who retired from farming several years ago and live in another home a few miles away.

Before their present home, Barry and his family lived on a 107-acre farm along Wiest's School Road, which they now rent to another family.

It was in that home that the Hoffman's experienced the most terrifying night of their lives.

It was September 1979, Karen explained, and the weather had been hot and muggy. Hurricane David was making his way up the coast, and on this particular night,

Atlantic Dairy Names Quality Winners

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative will present its 1993 Quality Premium Award to 51 members who earned the cooperative's quality bonus all 12 months of the 1992-1993 fiscal year.

"This award recognizes members who consistently produce high quality milk for the cooperative," said Don M. Breiner, Atlantic's quality and field services manager. "We commend these producers for their commitment to quality."

During the past fiscal year, which ended July 31, Atlantic paid out $2.2 million in quality milk bonuses. On average, 43.6 percent of the cooperative's membership earned the extra payments throughout the year.

Begun in 1987, the quality premium program provides a financial incentive to members to produce high quality milk. Members must meet a series of seven quality

Hall Named Junior Dairyman

Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. — April Hall, 16-year-old daughter of Jimmy and Linda Hall of Church Hill, Md., was named Junior Dairyman at the Maryland State Fair. She was the recipient of $300 cash award. Awards were sponsored by the Maryland Purebred Dairy Cattle Association and Midwest DHIC.

The contest was open to individual 4-H or FFA members or a 4-H or FFA team. Thirteen classes of competition included judging Holstein and Ayrshire heifers, dairy goats, dairy steers and hay. Identification of dairy products, meat and meat products, parts of a complete milking system and feeds were also part of the competition.

Contestants were judged on their comprehension of the milking process and management problems concerning herd health, nutrition and reproduction. Two written exams were given, animal health and breeding, and genetics and milking process, dairy products and general dairy industry knowledge.

To complete the contest, the top 10 seniors were given a personal interview with the official judges.

Miss Hall said the contest was fun. She has been active in dairy bowl and dairy judging contests in the past, placing 4th in the Junior Dairyman Contest last year. She credits her farm chores and 4-H in helping her win this contest. April owns 17 head of Holsteins and helps with the milking. She is also responsible for picking out AI bulls for their herd.

National Egg Market

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices in all reporting areas were unchanged. The trade sentiment ranged steady to fully steady and generally improved over early week. Movement of cartoned eggs into retail channels was fair to good, with the best demand where retail features were in progress or planned. Supplies of larger sizes were in close balance to adequate; mediums were adequate to available. In the Central States, prices for nest run breaking stocks trended higher, checks and undergrades were unchanged. Trading and demand was spotty. Offerings were adequate. Supplies were adequate. Available product was held with confidence while buyers bid higher for fill-in needs. The undertone was at least steady. In the South Central States, trading in light type hens was too thin to report prices. Demand was fair. Most plants had sufficient hens from contractual volumes to fill needs. The trade sentiment was about steady.

New York Egg Market

Wednesday, September 15, 1993

Prices were unchanged. The trade sentiment was steady to fully steady on extra large and large, generally steady on mediums. Movement of cartoned eggs into retail channels was fair and about as expected for mid-week trading. Supplies of extra large were short of buyer needs, large were in close balance and held with confidence; and mediums were available.

PRICES TO RETAILERS, SALES TO VOLUME BUYERS, USDA GRADE A AND GRADE A, WHITE EGGS IN CARTONS, DELIVERED STORE DOOR, CENTS PER DOZEN RANGE EXTRA LARGE .66-.68, LARGE .63-.66, MEDIUM .48-.51.

Northeast Broiler/Fryer Parts

Wednesday, September 15, 1993

Trucklot buying interest continued to be very good for white meat items but was slow to fair and cautious for most dark meat items. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were tight with buying interest for both pallet volumes and trucklot volumes not filled. Trading was at current prices but the undertone was fully steady. Line run breasts were short of covering commitments and no extra product showed up today. Trading was reported at higher prices. Yellow skin legs and leg quarters were available and buying interest for late week needs was cautious. Wings were short of needs at most locations but a cautious undertone was noted.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, SEPTEMBER 14, 1993. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices generally continued their downward trend. Trade sentiment was unsettled and cautious. Buying activity was mixed with most end users comfortable in their present situation. Raw materials were sufficient for most processors to maintain full schedules. Floor stocks easily handled current trade requirements.

Delmarva Broiler Fryer Market

Wednesday, September 15, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was moderate to good for immediate deliveries, not fully developed for later. Seller offerings were adequate and in best balance on under 3 pound sizes. Live supplies were generally moderate. Weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 58 to 69 cents. Trade sentiment was steady to fully steady. In the parts complex bone-in breasts were in short supply. Boneless skinless breasts and wings were tight. Legs and particularly leg quarters were available and slow to clear. Drums and thighs were irregular.

Take the HQ Challenge:
Plant WL 322HQ.
Harvest HQ.
Test for RFV & CP.

If we're not A1, we'll replace the seed PDQ!

Guaranteed.

Alfalfa growers rarely have had any assurance about how well a planting will perform. Until now. We believe that our new high quality, high yield WL 322HQ is so good that we'll do something no one else will: guarantee it.

Simply purchase WL 322HQ, fill out the official HQ Challenge card and plant WL 322HQ next to a competitive variety in your field. Harvest at the same time and have an approved lab test each alfalfa. If our bio-engineered WL 322HQ doesn't produce a higher Relative Feed Value and a higher Crude Protein, we'll replace the WL 322HQ seed with an alternate W-L variety of your choice. Guaranteed.

This is our way of letting you know that we believe our new HQ varieties are simply the best available in the field; university results have proven this to be true. So take the HQ Challenge. We're ready to prove our performance and back it up with more than promises. For HQ Challenge cards and complete details, contact your W-L Dealer – ASAP!

HQ The new symbol for high quality.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

Oklahoma City, Okla.
Wednesday, September 15, 1993

OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY: Compared to last week: English and exotic feeder steers over 650 lbs. steady to $1.00 higher. Feeder heifers over 650 lbs. steady. Steer and heifer calves under 650 lbs., as well as Brahma Crosses of all weights steady to $2.00 lower, with greatest declines on Brahma crosses. Demand moderate for all classes. Most Brahma Cross feeders now under heavy discounts as is typical for this time of year. Feedlots north of here totally out of the Brahma cross market. Quality of yearlings plain with extremely large supply of Brahma crossbreds. Calf quality average, however majority are unweaned. Weigh-ups average to full but overall not as bad as two weeks ago. Yearling flesh condition slightly thin thru moderately fleshy. Up to 6 inches of rain received Monday in central and eastern Oklahoma. Slaughter cows $1.00 higher; slaughter bulls $1.00 lower. Receipts this week 11,750; last week's holiday period 2,478; last year 11,552. Supply consisted of 55 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs.; 40 percent calves under 600 lbs.; and 5 percent cows and bulls. When Craig Armstrong needed a break, we were happy to oblige.

Craig Armstrong, Armstrong Farms, New Castle, Indiana

Craig Armstrong was ready to pay cash for a new grain drill for the 4,000-acre farm he successfully manages with his brother. He changed his mind when Telmark explained how much he could save by leasing the equipment instead. Along with a fixed rate and 100% tax-deductible lease payments, he also gets a buyout privilege at the end of the lease term. Craig found the tax break and flexible payment plan so attractive, he also leased a new barn. Most banks aren't ready to offer this kind of alternative financing. But because all Telmark reps come from the farm, they understand your special needs better—no matter what kind of farm you have. For a financing source that's been listening to farmers for over 25 years, contact your local Telmark rep, or call 315-449-7964.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

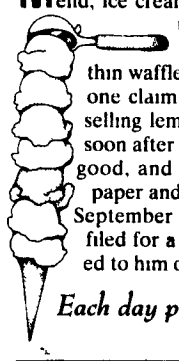
AUTUMNAL EQUINOX, SEPTEMBER 22.

THE GREAT ICE CREAM CONE CONTROVERSY



Most folks agree that the public debut of the ice cream cone was at the 1904 St Louis World's Fair In one legend, ice cream vendor Arnold Fornachou, located next to waffle baker, Ernest Hamwi, ran out of paper bowls One of the men rolled up thin waffles and the cone was born. However, at least one claim predates the fair Italo Marchiony began selling lemon ice from a pushcart in New York City soon after immigrating in the late 1800s. Business was good, and Marchiony devised cones, first made of paper and then of pastry, to hold his frozen treat On September 22, 1903, long before the fair opened, he filed for a patent on his cone mold, and it was granted to him on December 15, 1903

Each day provides its own gifts.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Keep a cup of water in the microwave to prevent accidentally operating the oven when empty.

EARTHWISE

Fall arrives, and we begin to shut the windows, close off air leaks, and seal ourselves in with our indoor air pollution Where does the unhealthy air come from? Primarily from the things we use and have in our homes. Carpets, adhesives, particleboard cabinets, vinyl furnishings, chlorine cleaning products, and the sprays we use on our bodies and furniture all make their own gaseous contribution to the air we breathe. In the next few columns we'll explore alternatives to reduce the "bad air" inside our homes

GREEN BEANS WITH RED ONIONS

Dressing:
1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
3 tablespoons olive oil
Beans:
1 pound green beans
¼ cup chopped red onion
salt and pepper to taste

Prepare dressing: add vinegar to mustard and whisk in the oil. Set aside. Wash and trim beans and cut into 2-inch lengths. Steam until crisp-tender. Drain, place in a bowl with the onion, and toss with dressing. Add salt and pepper Cool to room temperature before serving.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Seasonable and sunny, cold snap west then some showers and milder; turning cold north.

SOUTHEAST: Rainy and seasonable to cool; clear and hot then showers west

MIDWEST: Clear and warm then rainy and cooling; finally clearing.

NORTHWEST: Rainy and cool, sunny and mild coast; clearing and turning warm.

OPINION

Farm Safety Week

Each year, approximately 130,000 people suffer disabling injuries on U.S. farms. During National Farm Safety and Health Week, September 19-25, the nation's attention will focus on efforts to make farms safer places to work and live.

The 50th annual observance of National Farm Safety and Health Week gives farm families a chance to review safety on their farm, says an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Farming remains the nation's most dangerous occupation, and it's vital to be aware of how accidents happen and take steps to avoid them," says Dr. Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural engineering. "Farm Safety and Health Week is a good time to inspect your farm and take care of any safety or health hazards."

Farmers also should review factors about the farm workplace that can increase their risk of injury. "Several aspects of farming are unique compared to other occupations," says Murphy. "For instance, most farmers and their families live, work and play at the worksite. That's a situation construction workers or salespeople don't share."

Most farmers also work longer than eight hours per day, especially dairy farmers who have chores that must be done seven days per week.

"Longer work hours can cause fatigue, increasing the chances of an accident when operating farm machinery," Murphy says. "Many chores must be done during twilight or at night, so poor visibility contributes to farm accidents."

Many farmers also work with large and unpredictable livestock. "Uncontrolled livestock are just as hazardous as heavy machinery," says Murphy. "A 1,200-pound bull can crush you as swiftly as a tractor rollover."

Many farmers work past age 65, often farming until age 75 or 80. Problems can result when a farmer's chores exceed his or her physical limits. "Compounding the problem, many farmers work alone during the day without fellow workers to assist in an emergency," says Murphy.

Farms also have younger workers than other workplaces. "Children can perform chores appropriate for their age, but some farmers let children operate tractors and other machinery before they are old enough to handle the responsibility," says Murphpy. "Too often, that leads to tragedy.

"Most accidents resulting in serious injury or death to farmers, farm workers and family members are preventable, so take some time during Farm Safety and Health Week to check your farm and resolve situations that might threaten you or your loved ones."

The life you save may be your own or you may save the life of a loved one!

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Attend Northeast Poultry Show

The Northeast Poultry Show will be held September 29 and 30 at the Lancaster Host Resort, Route 30 east of Lancaster.

Educational programs are scheduled for both mornings. Topics include animal welfare, food safety, ventilation, SE research overview, disease management, and litter effect on turkey quality.

There is a registration fee for the morning programs. Both afternoons from noon to 5 p.m. the exhibit hall will be open. More than 100 exhibitors will be showing the latest in poultry equipment and services.

Admission to the exhibit hall is free. In addition, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. Dr. Charles Pitts, Penn State entomologist, will discuss effective fly control. One pesticide credit in category 4, animals, will be given for people attending this session. On Thursday afternoon, Michael Brubaker, Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Services, will be discussing Pennsylvania's Nutrient Management Law at 2 p.m.

Also, a $100 bill will be awarded as a door prize for each hour the exhibit hall is open.

So, plan now to attend the largest poultry trade show in the Northeast. More information is available by contacting the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 Progress Avenue, Harrisburg, PA 17101.

To Observe Farm Safety And Health Week

September 19 to 25 is National Farm Safety and Health Week. This year marks the 50th anniversary of this week, sponsored by the National Safety Council.

In 1992, 1,200 people died in farm-related accidents in the U.S. Safety and health education can play an important role in reducing fatalities and injuries on farms.

Progress has been made in some areas. Farmers, farm workers, and family members are safer when working with animals, around water, and in weather-related emergencies.

However, we need to continue to emphasize the importance of safety and good health. Tractor incidents are the leading cause of accidental death and injury on the farm.

To reduce tractor deaths, farmers must have rollover protective structures (ROPS) installed on all tractors. However, to protect the operator, the seat belt must be used at all times.

Also, tractor operators should never allow extra riders on the tractor. When dismounting the tractor, always make sure you have shut down the power takeoff unit.

Now is also a good time to think about your health. When was the last time you or any member of your family had a complete physical? As you schedule your physical, make sure to check when was the last time you had a tetanus shot. You might want to consider scheduling a flu shot to reduce your chances from working with the flu this winter.

Health and safety are two very important areas we to often take for granted. Now is the time to take proactive actions to protect your health and well-being.

To Use Proper Diesel Fuel

The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau reminds us that on October 1 this year the federal Clean Air regulations will require the use of low sulfur content diesel fuel in diesel powered vehicles used on highways.

High sulfur fuel, which will be color-dyed in contrast to the low sulfur fuel's clear color, will be permitted only for equipment used off the road.

Violators founded with dyed fuel on highways will be subject to fines up to $25,000. Farmers with off- and on-road vehicles have the option of either buying all of the more expensive clear, low sulfur fuel, erecting separate storage tanks for low and high sulfur fuel, or purchasing low sulfur fuel at the pump.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON BEING TOO CLEVER

September 19, 1993

Background Scripture:
Genesis 3:1-13
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 51:1-4, 6, 9, 17

The times in my life when I have been most foolish are ironically the times when I thought I was most clever. Knowledge has never done me in. Neither has wisdom or understanding. But cleverness will every time.

If we are truly knowledgeable, truly wise and truly understanding, we will also have some degree of humility. We will recognize that, in spite of all that we do know, there is still a lot we do not know. And, no matter how much we may celebrate the powers of the intellect, we will know that there are limits beyond which intellect alone can not carry us. But, when we are clever we are also likely to be arrogant.

No one exalted wisdom and understanding more than the writer of Proverbs, but he also warns us: "Be not wise in your own eyes" (Prov. 3:7). I'm not saying there's anything inherently wrong in cleverness, but all too often it causes conceit and conceit often leads to trouble.

MORE SUBTLE

There are a number of varied strands in the story of the garden of Eden, but cleverness seems to be the besetting sin. First, with the serpent, whom the writer says is "more subtle than any other wild creature that the Lord God had made". The serpent's mouth drips with cleverness--(I can recognize it for mine has too, at times)--"Did God say, 'You shall not eat of any tree of the garden'?" He begins by sowing a clever seed of doubt. When Eve says that God warned that touching the fruit of the tree would bring death, the serpent replies with what must have seemed to be inside knowledge: "You will not die. For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil" (3:4).

If I had not read this story many, many times, I would have bet my bottom dollar that the serpent would not be successful in beguiling Eve. Think of it: the man and woman have it made. They live in a magnificent garden. All their needs are provided for. Their relationship with God and with each other leaves nothing lacking. What could the serpent possibly offer the woman to lead her to disobey?

What the serpent could and did offer the woman was the opportunity to be more clever than God. They didn't need the fruit of the tree; they could have lived forever without it--literally! But why not grab it! The man and the woman were too clever to believe that disobeying God would have any dire consequences.

THE SERPENTS' FAULT

There's no end to their cleverness. When God reproaches the man, he tries to load the blame on the woman and, indirectly, God himself: "The woman whom thou gave to be with me, she gave me the fruit of the tree and I ate" (3:12). And the woman cleverly tries to pass the buck to the serpent: "The serpent beguiled me and I ate" (3:13).

At the end of the story, the serpent could have appeared to Adam and Eve and said, "See I told you that you wouldn't die; he's just thrown you out of the garden, that's all!" But what neither the serpent nor the man and woman were smart enough to know is that living outside the garden eventually would mean death, for they had lost their innocence and with it their immortality.

Like the parables of Jesus, this story has different levels of interpretation and meaning for us. But, whatever else it may mean to you, it says that the genesis of sin is disobedience to God. And the source of disobedience is often an excess of cleverness and a deficit in humility.

PA FFA Golf Tournament Draws Celebrity Support

DENVER (Lancaster) — Why do celebrities get involved in golf tournaments? Because they are paid, you say. Think again, in the case of the Hoss's Fore FFA Golf Tournament being held October 4th at Hawk Valley Golf Club in Denver, Pennsylvania. Any celebrities involved in this particular tournament love agriculture and know first hand what the FFA organization can do in training leaders for ag leadership of tomorrow. Furthermore, they are donating their time to a cause they believe in.

Dick Vermeil, former head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles and now ABC Sports commentator, grew up in the fertile soils and wine country of California. "I can recall my brother, Stan's, FFA SOE Project, a young bull by the name of 'Idiot'. I can tell you that was one FFA project that lived up to his name," says Vermeil, laughing at Idiot's antics during his tenure on the Vermeil Farm. Dick Vermeil, years later is still living on beautiful Pennsylvania farm acreage, in Chester County.

Greg Gross, Philadelphia Phillies, is a York County native, involved in horse operations, both in Pennsylvania and Florida. "There are many sports figures that have been connected with agricultural operations here in Pennsylvania...Gene Garber has a dairy farm in Elizabethtown, Dallas Green has a farm in Chester County, Claude Osteen had a chicken farm in Lebanon County, Jeff Hostettler, professional football quarterback, has a farm near Johnstown and the list could go on and on.

Gross states further, "I feel by serving on the Hoss's Fore FFA golf committee, I can bring attention to the fact that everyone of us is affected by the success of the American Farmer, from the wooden bat, the pigskin football and turf playing fields, to that hamburger gotten at a drive-in window of a fast food chain, we in America take the American farmer for granted. Future farmers do indeed affect our future.

"I urge supporters of the FFA and the geneeral public that just loves to golf to join me in participating in our golf tournament on October 4th, Hawk Valley Golf Club, Denver, PA. Call 1-800-522-HAWK or (215) 648-0674 for golf or dinner reservations."

Herd Comparisons by Rolling Herd Averages

I had the opportunity recently to look at a set of Raleigh DHIA Herd Summary Reports that enabled me to compare herds according to their rolling herd averages.

I have summarized these comparisons in Table 1. The table includes data for 588 Lancaster County DHIA Holstein herds on official test. Herds with rolling herd averages of less than 15,000 lbs. were excluded from the comparisons, even though they are included in the county average.

The most productive herds tended to be the larger herds. The cows were slightly younger, but not by much. As you would expect, the higher the rolling herd average, the higher the cows peaked. For all production groups, peak milk for first calf heifers was 78-80% that of second lactation cows, and the peaks for second lactation cows were 94-96% that of third lactation and older cows.

The group that had the lowest feed cost (15,000-16,999) also had the lowest income over feed cost and the highest feed cost per cwt. of milk produced. Even though the two highest groups spent about $180 more per year for feed, their income over feed cost was $500-700 more per cow, and feed cost per cwt. of milk was 45-85 cents less.

There is more to profit than income over feed cost. Also to be considered are: veterinary and medical costs, breeding expenses, feet and leg problems, mastitis, cow turnover, etc. The DHIA records don't reflect veterinary and medical costs, but at $500-700 more income over feed costs, we can afford some extra costs and still have a better bottom line.

Let's jump down to the bottom of the table and look at reproduction and culling. Note that there is almost no difference in calving interval and cow removal rates! The good herds are getting cows bred as well as most other producers. They do have a few more services per cow and their percent successful services is slightly lower. In spite of this their days to first service and calving interval is about the same as that for other farmers, which suggests they might be missing fewer heats or are using their veterinarians and other technology to shorten days open.

The highest producing group does tend to sell a few more cows involuntarily for reproductive and mastitis reasons. Because of that, fewer cows are voluntarily sold for dairy purpose or culled for low production.

The higher the production level, the lower the somatic cell count (SCC). This could be attributed to better mastitis prevention and control measures in these herds. Or, they could have been less tolerant of mastitis, and were more quick to cull mastitis cows from the herd, as the culling trends discussed above might indicate. Even though the raw count for the high groups was 150,000-200,000 or so less than the lower producing herds the distribution of cows by cell count code did not vary very much.

The higher producing herds also tended to have slightly better genetics as indicated by the AIPL$ of the cows and their sires. The quality of the service sires used, as indicated by service sire PTA$, was almost identical for all groups.

How productive and how profitable a herd will be is determined in part by genetics and management, with management having the greatest influence on variations in production from farm to farm. Table 1 tends to reflect that.

While production has an effect on herd profits, higher-production levels do not necessarily guarantee higher profits. One must consider ALL costs related to production. Feed is a major cost but don't overlook costs related to herd health, reproduction, cow turnover, etc.

Farmland Trust Announces Fund Drive At Picnic

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — More than 200 people attended Lancaster Farmland Trust's annual Farm Tour and Picnic on Saturday, September 11 at the preserved farm of Eugene and Ada Mae Martin in Earl Township's Mill Creek Valley.

The farmland preservation group kicked off their annual fund drive during the event. The group announced that Caroline Steinman Nunan will serve as honorary chairperson and Dorothy Lyet as chairperson of the trust's 1993-1994 funding campaign.

The campaign goal is $125,000.

The group also presented Mrs. James Binns with the 1993 Distinguished Donor Award for her outstanding generosity to the organization.

The trust announced the preservation of the third farm in Earl Township, an Amish dairy farm. The farm is 50 acres and the farmer, who wishes to remain anonymous, donated the conservation easement to the trust.

The Eugene Martin Farm, site of the day's picnic, was the first farm preserved in Mill Creek Valley and neighbor Frank Ludwig made the commitment to preserve his farm shortly thereafter.

Families toured the Mill Creek Valley south of New Holland in hay wagons, ran relay races, walked through tobacco barns, and enjoyed picnic food throughout the afternoon. Alan Musselman, executive director of the farmland preservation group, noted "this event has become an annual favorite of many of our supporters, and is a time for many of our members, who do not often get to spend time on farms, to connect with Lancaster County's farm families and scenery."

BETTER SEEDBEDS...BETTER YIELDS

M, MD SERIES

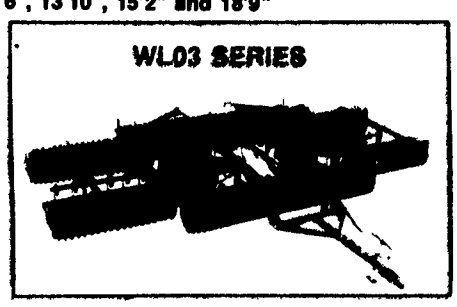
ML03 SERIES

ML Pulvi-mulchers feature the 20", six-spoke ductile iron notched roller wheel and now available with 20" ductile iron crowfoot wheel. The Brillion Pulvi-mulcher crushes both surface and bured lumps and converts fall and spring plowing into a clod-free seedbed. The ductile iron wheels carry a five-year warranty against breakage. Available in 12'6", 13'10", 15'2" and 18'9"

WL03 SERIES



The WL is the latest example of how Brillion has met the challenge of the earth and the competition. The front rollers break up surface clods. "C" shaped ribbon teeth or "S" spring tine teeth break up the soil to 6" in depth and pulls clods to the surface. Available in 21'6", 25' & 30' Widths. Ductile Roller Wheels firm without compaction.

PURINA

SUPERCOW™

You'll Soon See How We Named This Feed.

What would you call a milking ration that turns cows into more productive, more efficient "super" cows? We call it SUPERCOW.™

SUPERCOW is a highly palatable, high-energy blend of nuggets and pellets formulated to meet the demands of high production. In field tests, cows fed SUPERCOW produced about 6.7 pounds more milk per day per cow.

SUPERCOW also helps maintain a cow's body weight and condition after calving, which can improve her reproductive efficiency.

See for yourself with SUPERCOW. The name says it all.

FIELD TRIAL RESULTS
(Adjusted Days In Milk)

Beginning Production	53.3 lb/day
Ending Production	60.0 lb/day
Avg. Increase Per Cow	6.7 lb/day

TIMONIUM, Md. — Judging contests have been an essential part of the 4-H dairy and livestock programs in Maryland.

Starting at the county level, practices are held for anyone interested. They give placings and oral reasons to their adult coaches. From this group, a team of four is chosen to represent the county at the state contest held each year at the Maryland State Fair. They compete as county teams and on an individual basis, hoping to be chosen to go to National competition.

The 4-H'ers work hard from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. judging the classes of animals. During the contest, they are not permitted to communicate with anyone but the superintendent. Concentrating on each class, they put to use the knowledge their coaches have taught them during the several months of practice in their home counties.

Then several hours of waiting as final results are computed. Emotions run high, there is clapping, cheering and cameras flashing as parents beam with pride as each individual or team is called to the platform to receive their award for a job well done.

The 10 individuals scoring highest in the senior division remain at the fair for two days of coaching and practice. From these 10, four individuals are chosen according to their five highest scores to represent Maryland at the national contests. Four additional ones are chosen to represent Maryland at the Eastern National Contest.

This year, Brian Schnebley, Shannon Harrison, April Hall, and Annette Summers will be going to Madison, while Erin Burall, Kelli Myers, Kelly Savage, and Shawn Johnson will go to Louisville.

Brian Schnebly of Washington County was the recipient of the John L. Morris Trophy for high overall score for all breeds sponsored by the Maryland Holstein Friesian Association and the Dorothy Emerson Memorial Trophy for highest score on oral reasons sponsored by the Maryland State Fair. He also received the Sire Power, Inc. award for highest score on placings in the senior division.

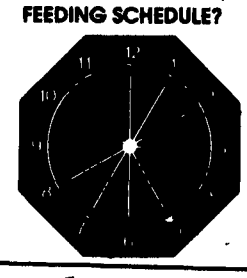
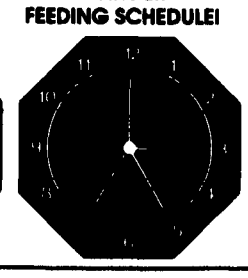
DRAG AUGER FEEDING SCHEDULE?



BIG DUTCHMAN CHAIN FEEDER FEEDING SCHEDULE!



How often do your feeders run in a day? It is generally necessary to operate drag auger feeders as many as eight or more times per day because of limited feeding space and the small quantity of feed presented at one time. That creates tremendous competition for the little feed available. The result of this competition is damaged eggs... from feet, toes and collisions. Big Dutchman chain feeders can feed your flock by running as few as three or four times a day, with little competition for feed, a calmer flock and fewer cracks and checks.

IF YOU ARE... FORCED TO FEED more than four times a day or during peak laying periods, call 911 for your egg casualties or. . . call (717) 393-5807 for information on how our chain feeder pampers your product. . . from cage to carton.

Are your wheat profits getting lost at the mill?

You've just harvested your wheat crop and the yields look pretty good. Looks like you'll even make enough to pay your taxes. Then you haul the grain to the mill. It's weighed. And you find out your test weights are under 58 lb/bu.

So instead of getting full profit, you lose 8¢ for every bushel you produce. Even more if your test weights are substantially under 58 lb/bu. So much for paying off the taxes.

Maximize your profits with unmatched test weights.

With Hoffman 89, you'll get every penny from your wheat crop. In three-year trials conducted by Penn State and the University of Maryland, Hoffman 89 weighed in with the top test weight across all locations.

Best of all, it produced test weights of 58 lb/bu or more every single time, topping the mean test weight by at least 4%.

Get superior test weights without sacrificing yield.

But superior test weights are only half the story with Hoffman 89. You'll also get top-end yields that will have you smiling all the way to the bank.

Its 98 bu/A average, for example, produced a 5% advantage over the mean yield of 92.9 bu/A in Lancaster County trials. At $3.00 per bushel, you'd make $15.30 more per acre using Hoffman 89.

Winter hardiness boosts plant population.

Hoffman 89 features excellent winter hardiness to improve percent stand come spring. It also tillers better than many varieties to increase overall plant population. Superior standability and Powdery Mildew tolerance ensure maximum yield potential for added profitability.

Stop losing your profits at the mill.

Tired of losing your profits at the mill? Then call your local Hoffman sales representative. Or call Hoffman Seeds at 1-800-776-7929. We'll show you how to get the most from your wheat crop using Hoffman 89.

Pa.DHIA District Meetings Set

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The district meetings for local DHIA directors are planned for November, but the meetings are open to all members.

There are five meeting schedules around the state, corresponding to the five director districts. These meeting are held every year primarily for directors of local DHIA committees or boards.

It is an opportunity for directors and management to get together for discussion of issues and developments affecting DHIA members statewide. Discussion from the board representatives will explain in detail the changes to the association that are to occur when the new bylaws are adopted.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting in their district should contact their county committee or local board, to let them know of your intentions, and so specific accommodations can be considered.

The meetings are to begin at 10 a.m. and end no later than 3 p.m. Lunch will be provided and all members are welcome to attend.

Delegates should mark their calendars for these important information meetings. The subjects discussed will affect the election of your member representatives, due to redistricting, on the Pa.DHIA Board of Directors, starting 1994.

The meeting schedule is:

- Nov. 1 for the Southeast District, at the Berks County Ag Center, in Leesport;
- Nov. 2 for the Southwest District, in the Ramada Inn, in Somerset;
- Nov.3 for the Central District, at the Family House Restaurant, in Mifflintown;
- Nov. 4 for the Northeast District, at the Pink Apple Restaurant, in Tunkhannock;
- and Nov. 5 for the Northwest District, at the Bonanza Restaurant, in Franklin.

Linton Exhibits Solanco Beef Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Brad Linton suspected he had a champion after selecting a calf from the herd of Charles Flowers in Staunton, Va. On Thursday night, Brad's 1,245-pound Maine Anjou/Angus/Chianina cross was honored as supreme beef champion at the Solanco Fair.

Brad, 17, son of Fred and Deb Linton, Kirkwood, is a Solanco senior. This is his third championship at Solanco.

Judge Ned Sayre, who operates a 130-brood cow registered Angus farm called Waffle Hill in Church Hill, Md., said the heavyweight steer was a complete package. "It has a thick, wide top, adequate in condition, and extremely correct," Sayre told the exhibitors. "It is an extremely eye-appealing, good-looking steer, easily the most correct steer in its class today."

Reserve champion was awarded to the heavily muscled second-place heavyweight, shown by Tim Craig. Tim, 17, son of Charles and Elaine Craig, Little Britain, showed the 1,265-pound Angus/Chianina cross named "Buz." Tim, a Solanco senior and FFA member, said he has placed in 4-H competition at the fair in the past.

It was one of the coolest, rainiest nights in Solanco Fair history. In all, there were a total of 15 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Four Adjoining Farms Preserve Land In Northampton County

ANDY ANDREWS

BANGOR (Northampton Co.) — In an attempt to keep a large agricultural area free from residential or commercial development into perpetuity, land from four farms here was recently preserved under the Pennsylvania Farmland Protection Act.

The preserved farmland, totalling 801 acres, is located approximately 10 miles north of Easton along the Delaware River. It extends in one large tract between Martin's Creek and Belvedere, N.J.

This is the first time that four contiguous, or adjoining, farms have joined in preserving land in the state at one time, according to Fred Wertz, director of the Bureau of Farmland Protection with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The farms include Arling and Frances Kiefer, who operate a dairy, steer, and hog operation, 252 acres, for $614,955; Elwood and Pauline Fox, crops and steers, 306 acres, $429,012; Jim and Patricia Gulick, an orchard, 95 acres, $185,000; and Paul and Ruth Koehler, dairy, 148 acres, $306,045.

"The county favored preserving a big tract," said Arling Kiefer. He said they wanted to keep a bigger chunk of the county from being developed, considering the surge in new housing from commuters from New Jersey and other areas looking for inexpensive land.

Arling manages about 200 head of dairy, 200 head of steers, and 200 head of hogs on his farm, of which he owns about 900 acres and rents additional for a total of 2,500 acres. He farms with his two sons, Albert, 35 and Robert, 31, in addition to five full-time employees.

According to Kiefer, it would be a shame if land that he helped convert from marginal and rocky to prime farmland 20 to 30 years ago would be lost to development. He said that the more development that occurs in the county, the more feed suppliers and implement dealers will leave, further eroding the farm industry in the county.

Also, commuters have increased, especially from across the state border in New Jersey. "They don't think anything about going 60 miles for a job," he said.

The farmer said that land from other farms in the county are under consideration for preservation in 1994. About 27 farms have applied.

First-Time Exhibitor Sweeps Solanco Swine Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — For the first time in recent memory, a first-time exhibitor swept the market swine championship show, picking up supreme and reserve championship on Thursday evening at the Solanco Fair.

When the dust settled, Jason Reifsnyder, 15, a 10th grader at Penn Manor, showed his heavyweight champion 246-pound York cross to supreme. Moments later he was honored with the reserve champion from the same class, with his 254-pound hog.

Jason, son of Kathy and David Reifsnyder, Pequea, said he purchased the hog from Abe Hess. It was this decision that clinched the champion. Jason said this is the first time he has shown hogs at Solanco and will also show at the West Lampeter Fair next week.

Judge Nelson Beam, Elverson, said the hog exhibited the muscling for a champion. For the exhibitor, this caps his Manor FFA project.

Senior division showman went to Keith Martin. Beam said the winner exhibited the key to showing, keeping the hog in the spotlight at all times. Intermediate division winner went to Rustin Herr, and junior was Robert Garrett.

Keith Martin, 17, son of Bob and Marilyn Martin, Strasburg, senior division winner, is a junior at Lancaster Mennonite High School and a member of the LMH FFA.

In all, there were a total of 105 hogs and 60 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

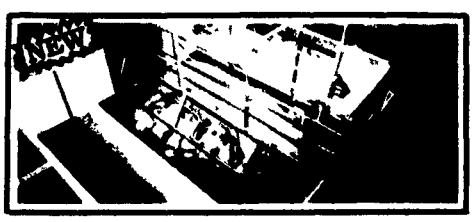
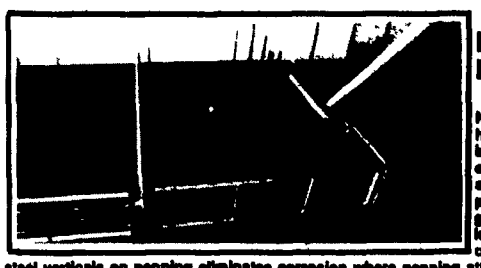
CONFINEMENT STALL
Developed recently in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x 86").

PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE"
Developed through testing in our research farms, the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity flipnail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.





NURSERY PENNING
Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel verticals on penning eliminates corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.

FINISHING PENNING
Optional stainless steel verticals and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

Two Join Sire Test Program

DEFOREST, Wis. — Two Pennsylvania dairy herd owners have agreed to participate in a contract sire-sampling program with a Midwestern artificial insemination company.

According to statements from American Breeders Service, headquartered in DeForest, Wis., Paul and Shirley Hoover, of Greencastle, and Donald and Robin Harnish Jr., of Alexandria, have agreed to use semen supplied by ABS on their dairy cattle.

In return for using semen from ABS, and keeping accurate and official records on the animals and then submitting that information to ABS, the couples are to be paid for each resulting calf born.

Furthermore, the couples are to receive another payment from ABS for each daughter of a test sire included on the test sire's second USDA summary.

According to the ABS information those who participate in the progeny test program also have the option of selecting semen from a test sire, or of being sent semen of the company's choice.

The Hoovers own and operate Willow Bank Jerseys. The Harnishes own and operate Stone Home Farm.

4-Year-Old Canadian Holstein Wins Solanco

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — A 4-year-old Holstein owned jointly by Steve Wagner and Rudy Allen, both of the area, on Thursday was named grand champion of the Southern Lancaster (Solanco) Fair Holstein dairy show.

The Holstein show was judged by Ron Buffington, of Rosebuff Holstein Consulting, Dublin, Ohio.

Buffington grew up in Dauphin County where he was involved in 4-H and FFA and showed cattle at the Guernsey Barn in Lancaster County. He attended Penn State University and had been a member of the 1962 dairy cattle judging team that won the international collegiate contest in Chicago.

He was also coach of the 1969 Virginia 4-H dairy judging team which won the national contest. He worked for 10 years as a Virgiania extension agent.

After that he worked for 10 years as a sales coordinator for Select Sires Inc., an artificial insemination business. He is now a Holstein consultant and has judged dairy shows in 16 states including Pennsylvania, Georgia, Virginia, Florida, Mississippi and New York.

In his comments on the grand champion, Buffington remarked on the Holstein's overall stature, front strength and angularity, correctness of foot and leg, depth and length of body, spring of rib, rear attatchment and overall composition of udder, and correctness of head. He said that while she was "dairy," she wasn't "frail."

The cow, C Broadhill Typemaker Zorro, was a summer purchase by Wagner and Allen from a local farm, according to Wagner, who recently began working for Em-Tran Inc., a dairy genetics business in Middletown.

Wagner said that Zorro was classified Very Good as a 2-year-old in Canada, but that she hasn't been on test lately. He said that he and Allen have been showing her during the summer, taking a third place at the Lancaster County Holstein show, and was third in her class to the grand champion of the Central Pa. Holstein Championship.

He did say that she has been milking since last November and is about to dry up. She's due in February and he said he intends to show her at some spring shows.

The reserve grand champion was a 3-year-old Walkway Chief Mark daughter, Warns Mark Carolyn, shown by Joe Best.

Because of the number of animals entered, the 3-year-old and 4-year-old Holsteins were lumped together to form a judging class. Carolyn took second in the class to the grand champion. It was also the grand champion cow of the youth division.

The junior champion of the open show was a senior calf owned by Jacob Hushon. Hushon, a fifth grade student, was unable to attend the show, according to his mother, Pat Hushon. She said since he was going to miss some school for the All American Dairy Show, and since some school assignments were due, he had to attend and miss showing his champion.

Judge Buffington selected the senior calf over a senior yearling shown by Richard Lieske, because I have to go with the animal that I think will go further in competition, he said.

Hushon's senior calf is Lady's Manor Mavabell Sheik, sired by Lady's Manor To-Mar Sheik. Lieske's reserve junior champion was Wending-Creek Golden Oak Su, sired by Forsberg Golden Oak.

The reserve grand champion Holstein of the youth division was Hushon's senior calf.

The James Hess family, owners of Sea Green Holsteins, Quarryville, were named premier breeder and exhibitor of the show. Representing the family were James and Virginia Hess, and children Susan, James, Mark and Sarah.

The family brought 13 animals to the show out their 50-milking herd of registered Holsteins which they maintain about four miles south of Quarryville on a 111-acre farm.

"It's the first time we won premier breeder and exhibitor," James said, adding that he's been showing 47 years, since he was in 4-H.

"(The children) get the credit for this one, they did the work," James said. Last year they showed the reserve grand champion.

Eastern Milk To Meet

SYRACUSE, NY — Some 500 farmers and dairy officials are expected to attend the annual meeting of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative in Syracuse, N.Y. on Tuesday, Sept. 28.

The annual meeting and banquet will be followed on Sept. 29 by the co-op's Delegate Meeting. Attending will be about 200 delegates representing dairy farmers from Lake Champlain to the Chesapeake Bay.

James Barr, head of National Milk Producers Federation, will be a featured speaker at the annual meeting, which will get underway at 1 p.m. Sept. 28 at the Sheraton University Inn. He will discuss current dairy issues facing farmers, including efforts to get a farmer "self-help" program passed by Congress.

A milk punch reception at 5:30 p.m. will precede the 6:30 p.m. Annual Banquet. The banquet speaker will be Harry Houston, a nationally known Southern humorist who is former director of training for Tennessee Farmers Cooperatives.

Delegates will be offered a break during the business portion of Wednesday's Delegate Meeting when guest speaker Bill Perry makes a presentation on the topic, "The Politics of Milk." Perry is director of member services for Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI), an 8,000-member dairy co-op based in Strongsville, Ohio.

"The farmer delegates will meet to discuss the co-op's operations, including hearing reports from management on performance in a number of areas," Eastern President Lewis Gardner said. As president, Gardner heads the co-op's board of directors. When he is not working on co-op business, he runs a family farm with his wife and sons in Galeton, Pa.

Gardner noted that the delegates also will debate proposals to change the cooperative's bylaws and act on resolutions submitted by farmers to set dairy policy direction.

Based in Syracuse, N.Y., Eastern has 3,000 member farms throughout the Northeast, with the majority concentrated in Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont.

Flinchbaugh Shows York Fair Junior Market Lamb Champion

Jennifer, 12, topped the large junior market lamb show with the Suffolk crossbred wether, purchased out of breeding lines that took top honors early this year at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. The well-grown, but lean and muscled lamb was one of a string of 32 head brought to the fair for junior and open showing by Jennifer and her parents, Lou Ann and Ed Keeney, York R8.

"I like to show at the York Fair because they have special classes for the junior exhibitors, like showmanship, fitting and decorator classes," says the experienced young shepherd who has taken several top market and sheep breeding honors in her four years of junior and 4-H competition.

Reserve champion honors went to another junior market lamb show winning veteran, 17-year-

YORK (York Fair) — Junior exhibitor Adam Sellers took champion honors at the York Fair's open class market lamb show. The 14-year-old Thomasville youth topped an impressive group of contending weight division champions, selected from a large show of open class entries. Judge and Suffolk breeder Bill MacCauley, Atglen, praised the tall, muscled lamb for its smoothness and style.

Reserve champion honors went to young Travis Flory, exhibiting a crossbred entry to take the runner-up award. Division champion awards also went to Gina Shelton, Drew Bankert, Jennifer Flinchbaugh and Mike Burrell, all youth exhibitors competing in the open market lamb show.

A partial list of winners follows:

old Matt Sellers.

Matt's homebred Suffolk-Hampshire crossed wether was one of eight head of sheep he brought for York FAir open and junior competition. He is the son of Phil and Shirley Sellers, Thomasville and a 4-H exhibitor for several years.

Exhibiting the champion pair was 15-year-old Drew Bankert. The Red Lion R3 junior exhibitor took top honors in the pairs class with Southdown homebreds, a ewe and a wether.

Drew attributed the bloodlines of a good ram and regular exercise with pasture jumps for the success of his entries. A member of both the Red Lion FFA and the York 4-H Lamb Club, Drew, with the help of friends, showed a total of ten market lambs in the junior competition.

Julie Kern, Dover, took the reserve champion pairs title. The 15-year-old veteran 4-H exhibitor took runnerup honors with her pair of wethers, a homebred Suffolk and purchased Hampshire.

Judge for the junior market lamb show was Mark Johnson, Glen Arm, Maryland. Johnson is manager of Weston Farms.

SoyDiesel Proclaimed Good

At the start of the trip, the Pennsylvania Energy Office marked the occasion by granting its Alternative Fuels Pioneer Award to SoyDiesel, the first vegetable oil-based fuel to receive the award.

While a first for Pennsylvania, this event joins dozens of testing and large-scale demonstration projects now underway in the U.S. SoyDiesel is a biodegradable, non-toxic, soybean-based alternative fuel. Ken Peters of the National SoyDiesel Development Board in Missouri was on the trip and provided much of the background of the new fuel for reporters.

Peters said that in 1900, Dr. Rudolph Diesel showed his diesel engine at the Paris World's Fair. At the time it ran on 100 percent vegetable oil. Actually, the engine came before diesel fuel as we know it today.

The Soybean Board, funded by farmer's check-off moneys, currently is working with the U.S. Bureau of Mines where air is a real problem, and any spills or leakages become a real problem. Transit systems are finding that 20 to 30 percent blends are optimum. A demonstration boat uses 100 percent SoyDiesel. Officials believe about five percent of the market will eventually go to SoyDiesel.

Beam said the motor in the tractor that was running on SoyDiesel had not been changed to accommodate the new fuel. "I drained out the diesel fuel and poured in the SoyDiesel, Beam said. "I bailed hay yesterday, and the tractor worked well."

"I want to grow soybeans because it breaks the cycle of weeds and insects in the corn. I can often save the expense of using insecticides for rootworm and other insects. This protects the environment, and it saves me money. Unfortunately, the soybean price is not always what it should be, so I am very interested in finding new markets to turn the bottom line and make a profit."

Sara Nichols, staff attorney for the Delaware Valley Clean Air Council, said the new fuel was "just fantastic."

"When you consider the issues that this fuel is going to positively impact, I am standing here thinking this is almost a miracle."

"It's easy to focus on pollution problems that are most obvious, but the most harmful from almost every point of view is air pollution," Nichols said. "Yet air pollution is the one you can't see. But it is creating long term harm to us, the animals, the earth, the water, crops and everything. So anything we can do is fabulous.

"It amazes me that very few people really understand the dramatic effect the air has on public health, the economy and on agriculture. Most people don't know that motor vehicles generate pollution that causes $5 million in crop loss to America's farmers and adds $94 billion to health care costs. The number one cause of water pollution comes from the air. sulfur dioxide is one of the major causes of acid rain, and Pennsylvania is the most acid affected state in the country."

Representative Art Hershey (R-13) said as a farmer, legislator and a citizen with concern for the environment that he was pleased to be involved in the demonstration of the effectiveness and efficiency of SoyDiesel. Hershey said the cleaner burning fuel made it easier to comply with the increasing environmental protection laws and standards.

Credit is given to SoyDiesel for reducing exhaust smoke by 70 percent and reducing engine wear. "The economic impact from new markets will increase the demand for crops and be good news for farmers and the communities in which they live," Hershey said. "The issue of farmland preservation and open space dovetail into this exciting development."

Spurred by EPA Clean Air standards, SoyDiesel has recently become a competitive player in the alternative fuels arena. The fuel is virtually free of sulfur emissions (a major cause of acid rain), produces fewer particulates, comes from a renewable domestic source and can be used in existing diesel engines with no modifications. (Mercedes-Benz, for example, warranties their heavy duty engines on biodiesel.) Biodiesel is therefore an attractive option for many cities coping with tougher clean air standards, because it delivers emissions reductions while maintaining a city's current bus fleet, refueling stations, spare parts inventories and skilled diesel machanics.

Independent research shows that biodiesel in a 1:5 blend with petroleum diesel, along with use of a catalytic converter, reduces particulate matter by 31%, carbon monoxide by 21% and total hydrocarbons by 47%. Yet biodiesel performs the same as petroleum diesel in terms of torque, horsepower and miles-per-gallon. SoyDiesel is also an efficient fuel to produce: while soybean oil requires about 5,200 BTUs per pound to produce, crush and refine, the same amount of oil contains 17,000 BTUs.

SoyDiesel is currently in use in large-scale demonstrations in several U.S. cities. The greater St. Louis transit authority has now logged over 200,000 miles on SoyDiesel, with tests showing performance, mileage and drivability the same as with conventional diesel, but with a 30% opacity reduction and significantly improved exhaust odor.

The fuel is made from soybean oil through a simple refining process called "transesterification." This involves mixing methanol and sodium hydroxide with soy oil and letting the glycerine settle out. The resulting products are methyl soyate (SoyDiesel) and glycerine — both considered safe by EPA with no restrictions to their use or disposal. The glycerine has over 1,600 existing commercial applications, from toothpaste and cough syrup to environmentally friendly antifreeze. Research is also underway to substitute ethanol for methanol in the process, but it currently costs up to three times as much as has a lower conversion rate (80% compared to 98%).

While currently most popular in Europe due to tax exemptions and even some mandated used, SoyDiesel is also immediately available in the U.S. and already exceeds early demand projections by nearly 10 times. Manufactured by Proctor and Gamble, the fuel is marketed in Interchem Environmental in Kansas and can be purchased in quantities from five-gallon drums to semi and rail tanker loads. It is registered and certified with EPA as an alternative fuel. It also meets all relevant ASTM (American Society for Testing and Materials) criteria for diesel fuel.

Current costs for pure methyl soyate run about $2.50 per gallon, with projections of $1.50 to $2.00 as production increases. Cost is further reduced by using biodiesel in a 1:5 ratio with conventional diesel, while still achieving all major emissions reductions.

The Pennsylvania SoyDiesel Bus Ride was funded in part through a national soybean check-off fund, a special farmer effort since 1991 to support research and development of new and improved soybean products and to help develop and expand markets for American agricultural commodities.

Highland Cattle Sale At KILE

HILTON, N.Y. — The North East Highland Cattle Association is sponsoring its first ever Highland cattle auction, "Showcase 93."

The sale will be held in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg on Oct. 2. Highland activities begin at 12:30 p.m. with the NEHCA annual show followed by the "Showcase 93" sale starting at 8 p.m.

"Showcase 93" is to feature 22 lots of the finest Highland females in North America. Consignors from across the Eastern United States and Canada are bringing top females to showcase their herds in this sale.

Convention activities include business and educational meetings, a farm tour, a banquet and plenty of time to socialize and enjoy the show.

the weather was stormy.

Also, perhaps providentially, the family had departed from its usual routine where Barry and the two youngsters, then Dwight, 4, and Sherry, 2, would go to bed before 11 p.m. and Karen would stay up.

"But we were all in the living room watching a movie," she said.

As the weather outside grew stormier, Karen began closing windows, but found the wind a mighty combatant.

"I went to the kitchen door and threw all my weight against it to try to close it, when, pow! The door flew off and threw me on the floor," she said.

In the living room she could see glass popping out of the windows and the furniture moving across the room.

Instinctively, she protected her young son while Barry protected their daughter as the storm raged around them.

"Then, snap, just like that, it was over," Karen said.

It happened to be a tornado.

When Barry gathered himself together enough to go upstairs, he saw that the entire roof had been ripped off as well as the attic floor. In her daughter's bedroom, the crib had been crushed against a wall and was filled with bricks. Dwight's room had a huge hole in the wall, which would have sucked the boy out, had he been in the bed, now also covered with bricks.

"To think what would've happened if we had gone to bed earlier," she said with a shudder. "It hit at seven minutes to eleven."

Wedding presents that had been stored in the couples' attic were later found almost a half a mile away. Clothes from the upstairs closets were discovered hanging from nearby trees.

"I don't even know if I ever found my shoes," she said, adding that she had been barefoot that night.

A new roof on the barn was ripped off and the pickup truck had smashed into the family's car.

The Reading Fair's 1993 Outstanding Farm Family is Karen and Barry E. Hoffman of 448 Old State Rd., Oley, and their three children, Dwight, 18, Sherry, 16 and Kris, 11. They were one of four families competing for the honor, selected by the Berks County Pomona Grange.

Berks Honors

The tornado, which damaged a few other farms on its path through Berks County, up through Hamburg where it eventually died out in the Blue Mountains, had flattened the Hoffman's field of corn. It also ripped the ground right off Karen's potato patch.

"I didn't have to dig up my potatoes that year!" she said.

Amazingly, no one suffered the slightest scratch.

Unfortunately, the house was so damaged that all the couple could do was bury it and build a rancher on the site with the insurance money.

Besides the terror of the black, stormy night, Karen mostly remembers the kindness of her neighbors.

"People came out of the woodwork to help us," she said. "People we didn't even know came to help us. We couldn't say thank you enough."

She also feels for those people around the country whose lives have been ripped apart by tornadoes and hurricanes.

"When I hear about hurricanes hitting anywhere, I just cry," she said. "I know what those people are going through."

Also honored at the banquet were two outstanding FFA members, Jesse Rabert, 17, Kempton R.D. 2, a former vice president of the Kutztown chapter, and Tammy J. Gelsinger, 19, Wernersville, former president of the Conrad Weiser chapter.

Rabert, 17, has had the top quality supervised agricultural experience project for the last two years in the area of wildlife management, noted his FFA teacher at Kutztown High School, Dan Lynch. His projects placed third in the state in 1992 and first in the state this year.

Gelsinger, 19, who graduated from Conrad Weiser Area High School last May, is one of the hardest working students in the program, noted her teacher, Steve Miller.

Two 4-H members also were honored. Lisa Geschwindt, 18, a sophomore at Lebanon Valley College, was honored for her 11 years of outstanding effort, mainly in clothing and textile projects. A winner of numerous county, regional, and state awards for her fashions, Geschwindt has been president of her club and a teen leader for six years.

She and Christine Hunter, 18, a freshman at Delaware Valley College, Doylestown, who also was honored, will attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in December.

Hunter has been a 4-H member for 11 years, taking projects in sheep, swine, horse, foods, clothing, dogs, and vegetable gardening.

"Four-H has enabled me to help me while helping others," Hunter said about her 4-H career.

Meridian Bank sponsored the awards of $100 bonds for the youth awards and a $600 gift certificate for the farm family.

State Sen. Michael A. O'Pake presented fair agriculture director A. Wayne Readinger with a check from the state for $3,000 to help balance the fair's budget.

"Sponsors and donations like this are crucial to the fair," said David Souders, fair first vice president. He noted that the Reading Fair is one of the few left in the state that does not charge admission or parking.

The fair kicks off Monday, Sept. 20 at the Fairgrounds Square Mall, Muhlenberg Township, with a parade along the midway headed by the Hoffman family. It will run through Saturday, Sept. 25 with exhibits and judging including livestock, baked goods, vegetables, crafts, needlework, quilts and field crops.

Dreamfield Manor
960 Acre Country Estate
Just 35 Miles from Philadelphia

A rare opportunity to own a beautiful private valley. This one of a kind farm features a traditional English Manor entryway to the main set of buildings passing between the gate house and stone bank barn and over 2 stone bridges to an exquisite stone manor house circa 1703, with 6 bedrooms & 3 huge stone fireplaces. There is also a large Federal brick manor house. In total there are eight farm houses, four of which are stone, and two large stone bank barns The land consists of gently rolling fields, woodland, and a beautiful stream valley. This farm has excellent potential for equestrian activities such as fox hunting or combined training. Secluded yet close to a PA Turnpike interchange and Interstate 78. (the owner may consider dividing) $6.5 Million.

Reiff, Hershey Earn Top Titles For Sheep At Solanco

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Lisa Reiff did not have her brother Lyndon to contend with in the show ring at the Solanco Fair this year, but a batch of new exhibitors doubled the competition at this year's show.

Even so, Lisa carried on the Reiff tradition by capturing the grand champion market lamb, the champion lightweight and heavyweight, reserve middleweigh, champion pairs, and the fitting and showmanship titles at the sheep show on Wednesday.

Lisa, who is 15, and her brother, 18, have held almost a monopoly on wins at the Solanco Fair for several years. Lyndon, now in mission training in New Zealand, usually placed first with Lisa as reserve. This year with Lyndon gone, Lisa captured the top title with her lightweight Suffolk Combo. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reiff of Strasburg.

In hot pursuit of the championship title was 8-year-old Loren Hershey of Kirkwood with his Suffolk Ruffles.

It was Loren's first year in showing, and one that he almost did not participate in because of first year jitters. After a pep talk from his grandma Mary Hershey, Loren strove out in the show ring with Ruffles determined to win.

"I'm going to get one of those trophies," he told his parents, Les and Lois Hershey.

He was not disappointed when judge Jim Black of Elton, Md., chose the champion middleweight as reserve champion market lamb.

Loren thought Ruffles might have done so well in the show ring because he feeds her extra molasses and she steals corn from the corn crib in the meadow where she feeds.

Loren and a brother Linford, 6, and a sister, Lisa, 3, also showed sheep. Both Linford and Lisa took seconds in their classes.

Other titles went to Allison Hughes with her reserve lightweight; Andy Hughes with reserve middleweight, and Tiffany Dean with reserve champion pair.

Reserve champion senior showman was Kyle Harnish; reserve senior champion fitter was Tina Henry.

In junior showmanship, Becky Byrne was first and Jessica Schmidt placed first in junior fitting.

A partial listing of placing follows:

Lightweight Class 1: 1.Allison Hughes, 2. Brad Linton, 3. Tina Henry. Class 2: 1.Lisa Reiff, 2.Linford Hershey, 3. Jessica Schmidt. Class 3: 1.Greg Hess, 2. Kyle Harnish, 3. Tina Henry.

Middleweight Class 1: Loren Hershey, 2.Tiffany Dean, 3. Kyle Harnish. Class 2: 1.Andy Hughes, 2. Lisa Hershey, 3. Zachery Ackers. Class 3: 1.Tiffany Dean, 2. Becky Byrne, 3. Greg Hess.

Heavyweight Class 1: 1.Scott Wagner, 2.Jessica Pearson, 3.Caleb Pearson. Class 2: 1. Lisa Reiff, 2.Adam Byrne, 3. April Leaman. Class 3. 1.Lisa Reiff, 2.Brad Leaman, 3.Greg Hess.

Lightweight pair: 1.Kyle Harnish, 2.Brad Linton, 3. Jessica Schmidt.

Heavyweight pair: 1.Lisa Reiff, 2.Kyle Harnish, 3.Jeremy Welk.

It sounds like snack time at Solanco Fair, when Jim Black chooses Lisa Reiff's Combo as champion market lamb and Loren Hershey's Ruffles as reserve.

MARATHON™

FULL ROUND BUSHING CUTTER CHAIN

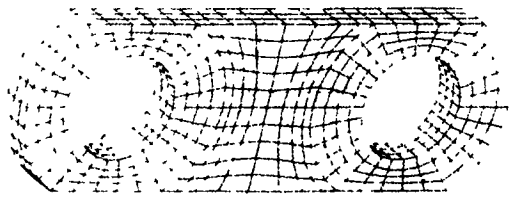
IMPROVED STRESS DISTRIBUTION

The MARATHON cutter chain features sidebars with full round bushing design for improved stress distribution, and a full contact press fit between the bushing and sidebar. This increases the fatigue strength of the bushing-to-sidebar joint. In laboratory cycle loading tests, the bushing withstood 30% more loading cycles than the previous bushing link design before working loose.



The full round bushing distributes force in a symmetrical pattern to the sidebar.

CLOSER PIN-TO-BUSHING TOLERANCES

Closer tolerances -- the result of new dedicated tooling and new manufacturing quality assurance processes -- contribute to chain tightness and reduce layover.

Lisha Mummert Packs Bags For Tonight's Pageant

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

EAST BERLIN (Adams Co.) — The last two weeks have been some of the busiest ever for Lisha Mummert, the 1993-94 Adams County Dairy Princess.

Early in the month, Lisha began classes as a freshman student at Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland. An accomplished athlete, she had been practicing with the college's field hockey team even before the term started.

Along with beginning her college career, there have been dozens of details to finalize as Lisha prepared to represent Adams County at the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant. There was her scrapbook to put together and clothes to select and pack. Her speech and promotional skit on cheese got some final polishing, using a cheery Mr. American Cheese prop she and her mother fashioned of styrofoam, dowel rods and a pair of her dad's old barn shoes.

Lisha, 18, is the daughter of Larry and Yvonne Mummert, East Berlin. She received her county princess crown June 25 at a coronation dinner hosted at Hickory Bridge Farms restaurant.

"The first major event I attended as a dairy princess was the training seminar," says Lisha. "That gave me a feel for the responsibilities of a dairy princess and help on how to do the promotional activities."

Prior to that Lisha did get some hands-on experience working with dairy promotion. Her older sister, Lela, is program director for the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA). In early June, Lisha accompanied Lela to MAMMA's Every Day Is A Sundae ice cream promotion, held in Philadelphia near the Liberty Bell.

Providing leadership to dairy promotion in Adams County is Lisha Mummert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mummert of East Berlin. She was crowned county dairy princess. Lindsey Kammerer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kammerer, Gettysburg, was crowned the Little Dairy Miss at ceremonies held at Hickory Bridge Farm Restaurant, Ortanna.

For her promotional skit presentation, Lisha devised a Mr. American Cheese sidekick. To support his styrofoam body on thin, dowel-rod legs, Lisha borrowed a pair of her dad's old work shoes - and spray painted them a patriotic shade of blue.

"I helped to get set-up and to get things ready, helped during the promotion, and then helped to tear down afterward," said Lisha, of the event that brought thousands of Philadelphians to the historic park to enjoy the dairy event. "It gave me some exposure to the work a dairy princess does. There were thousands of office people who came out on their work lunch breaks and lots of children from nursery and day care centers."

Lisha has also relied on former Adams County dairy princess Jayne Hess for help and advice on handling her new promotional role. Jayne's sister, Josi Hess, coordinates and helps organize the county's dairy promotion events for Lisha.

"Whenever we have a question, we call the Hess family," says an appreciative Yvonne Mummert.

The training Lisha received at the state dairy princess in July was promptly put to use with her busy schedule of promotional activities since mid-summer. She has visited an area nursery school to talk with pre-schoolers about milk and dairy products. A cheese promotion and sampling was well received by customers at a local hardware store. And congratulating show winners with ribbons at both the Adams County and Shippensburg district 4-H roundups was a special pleasure for Lisha, who showed cattle as a young 4-H member.

"We also had a dairy promotion at the Caledonia golf course," relates Lisha of a somewhat different sort of commodity event shared with the apple promotion program. "We handed out cheese to the golfers. They really seemed to enjoy it and it was a lot of fun to do."

"Do you really live in a castle?" a wide-eyed little girl asked Lisha during a visit she and Jayne Hess did with children of migrant farm workers employed in the county. Guests at the Brethren Home at New Oxford were equally friendly and receptive as she shared dairy tips.

But despite her training and experience with promotion, Lisha admits to being surprised at one unexpected request at an appearance — that she give autographs. She quickly regained her composure and complied, signing her name on dairy recipe leaflets she had been sharing.

Though Lisha has a busy college schedule for the next few months, she plans to continue her dairy promotion with newspaper articles and appearances that can be scheduled on weekends. Her princess role dovetails with Lisha's major studies in college, focusing on communications and marketing, with a lesser emphasis on health and fitness courses. As a field hockey player, she moved to Western Maryland College two weeks prior to the start of classes for pre-season practices and continues to run several miles daily for training.

Fitness and sports were an important part of Lisha's high school years. She played on New Oxford High School's field hockey, basketball and track and field teams. Lisha was equally comfortable in student leadership roles, elected for several years to the student council, serving as its secretary when she was a junior, and vice-president in her senior year. She was also president of the varsity club, and chosen by fellow students for such honors as sophomore princess and homecoming queen.

"I was lucky to be able to do all the things I could during high school," Lisha says with appreciation for her family's support. "I think it's good to be involved in your school and your community."

That family support continues with Lisha's added responsibilities as dairy princess. Her mother assists with her dairy promotion events, while other family members, like 16-year-old brother Ladd, have helped fill-in for her at milking time. Helping with milking the Yellow Buttercup Farms 150-head Holstein herd has been her prime farm responsibility, along with the care of the neatly-kept farmsteads lawn and gardens. A second brother, Lane, is a student at Franklin University of Electronics, Columbus, Ohio.

With last-minute dairy princess pageant preparations finished, Lisha will turn her full attention to the demands of college and its related activities. While the school is only about an hour from the Mummert farm and she does come home most weekends, Lisha admits to missing her mother's cooking, being with the family and their pet cocker spaniel.

Lisha enjoys traveling and meeting people and hopes to be able to participate in the college's two-credit, "January term" program. An intense, few-week cultural and travel opportunity for students, the January term program range from foreign exchange visits to specialized courses in specific studies. In her junior year at high school, Lisha visited France and Spain with a group of students from her French class. She enjoyed the European culture and was especially impressed with the amount of walking, rather than automobile use, to get from place to place in the cities.

Most of her traveling for the next few months will be closer to home, as Lisha visits Adams County classrooms, retail centers, and agriculture events. With her interest in athletics and the outdoors, she is already looking forward to the dairy promotions at local ski areas.

For Adams County Dairy Princess, Lisha Mummert, a busy schedule is probably only going to get busier for awhile.

Learn Chair Caning

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Have a lovely heirloom chair with a ripped cane seat? Have you priced the cost of repair? Why not repair it yourself? Join Katherine M. Smiley at the Chester County Cooperative Extension office, Government Services Center, Suite 370, 601 Westtown Road, West Chester, on Fridays, October 1, 8, 15 and 22, 1:00-3:00 p.m. to learn to weave a seat for a cane chair. On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Errant leaves litter the front porch, as if carelessly tossed by some unseen, giant hand.

So, day after day, I tackle them with a broom, sweeping the brownish-green, half-wilted, has-beens of the season out into the yard with numerous others.

But this year's leaf fall is different from most. We've had "fall" since mid-summer. And every one of the noisy, blustery thunderstorms of recent weeks re-litters the porches and lawns with a fresh scattering of maple tree fallout.

Perhaps it was the trauma of July's drought and record setting stretch of high temperatures that has resulted in this premature leaf drop. Or maybe an infestation of aphids, as has been the case in some of the past hot, dry summers. Though I've never completely outgrown a childhood passion for climbing trees, our ancient maples are a bit high to go scaling in search of bugs.

This early onset of falling leaves appropriately ushers in this week's "official" start of my favorite season. But autumn has already worked a foot in the door, its early signs easing into our surroundings more gradually than the jolt of tearing off the first-day-of-autumn page from our day calendar.

Our tall Norway spruce has also been giving us "drops" all season. Pine cones make wonderful wood stove kindling, quick-starting when dry and wonderfully fragrant with authentic pine scent. But the "drops" are not yet kindling-dry, a fact I discovered when trying to start a doggie-roasting fire recently.

So the winter woodstove supply of pine cones, ours and those gathered from the cone-littered lawn of friends, are being "cured." Laid out along the middle "step" of the railroad-tie retainer wall, the cones are protected from blowing away during strong winds while being exposed to the drying effect of the bright sunshine.

Thunderstorms rolling by every other evening, however, tend to slow this drying process. The cones are definitely clean and free of dust, though.

Ears on some of the neighborhood's earliest-planted corn began showing maturity some weeks ago. As husks turn brown and crinkly on some varieties, the ears droop toward the ground, a plant characteristic that helps shed moisture and protect the golden kernels.

A sure sign of the season is the area's army of forage choppers, noisily chewing up row after row of standing corn and spewing it out in tiny pieces of green and yellow into forage wagons lumbering behind. That urgency to start chopping, keep chopping and get finished chopping silage usually overrides all other jobs on dairy and livestock farms during September.

Farm wives nag, worry and pray until the last load is chopped that all that silo-filling-season urgency doesn't override their farmers paying attention to common-sense equipment safety measures.

And now, weedy meadows and brushy fencerows begin to "brighten up" with their seasonal colors, as stands of goldenrod wave long fingers of fluffy yellow blossoms. I break off a handful of the tall blooms growing along a field road, to mix with cattails from the pond bank and loosely arrange in the old nail barrel on the porch. Butternut squash tumbling from an up-turned wicker basket near the barrel adds a harvest touch.

Now if I can just find the gold papertwist ribbon to replace the tired, worn, insect-riddled lavendar stuff hanging limply on the front-door wreath, we'll be all set to properly salute the arrival of fall.

I'll have to sweep the leaves off the porch again so fall can find its way in.

Snitzing will be a featured activity at the Hans Herr House Snitz Fest.

Snitz Fest Reflects Early Settlers' Diets

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — Documents in the collection of the Hans Herr House prove the importance of the everyday apple in the diet of early Mennonite settlers in Lancaster County. Christian Herr's 1749 inventory lists among his other possessions an "apple mill and dough (trough) and a cider press." Three generations later, a great-grandson of Christian's (also named Christian) describes planting an orchard. Dated March 9, 1821, he states "...I planted an orchard on the place where John Beam lives as follows...." He then describes by row the apple varieties planted in this orchard, including Rambos, Redstreaks, Winesops, Sweet Pippins, Bellflowers, Newtown Pippins, Romanites, and Hughs Crabs.

The sixth annual Snitz Fest at the Hans Herr House celebrates the history of the apple in Lancaster County. Many of the same varieties mentioned by Christian Herr in 1821 can still be found in the museum's orchard. The anticipated bumper crop of apples this year will give visitors to Snitz Fest a unique opportunity to taste and compare most of the 40 historic varieties at the Tasting Table. Snitz Fest will be held this year on Saturday, October 2 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

There are certainly more ways to consume an apple than right off the tree, as the colonial forefathers well knew. Besides the apple tasting table, visitors to Snitz Fest will also be able to sample apples in a variety of other forms. Apple butter making, cider pressing, and "snitzing" apples for drying will all be ongoing activities throughout the day. Colonial apple recipes will be used in turning out delicacies from the past at both the raised hearth in the 1719 Herr House and at the outdoor beehive bakeoven. After experiencing everything that can be done with an apple, visitors can then board the Conestoga Wagon for a tour of the orchard from which the apples came.

As important as the apple was in the early settler's diet, man cannot, after all, live on apples alone. Snitz Fest will also include demonstrations of a variety of fall harvest activities. Come see corn husked by hand and shelled with an oxen powered sheller, sauerkraut being made, flax being processed into linen, sorghum being squeezed, soap making and butchering demonstrations. 18th century children's games will keep younger guests to Snitz Fest busy. Tours of the 1719 Herr House, the oldest original building in Lancaster County, will also be an ongoing feature of the day.

A special event at this year's Snitz Fest will be the release of a print of a painting done by local artist and illustrator Wilson V. Chambers. Chambers was for many years prior to his death a resident of the Willow Street area.

Admission to Snitz Fest is $4 for adults and $1 for children 7-12. Snitz Fest is a fun-filled educational event sponsored by the Herr House Foundation. The Hans Herr House is located 5 miles south of the city of Lancaster PA, near the village of Willow Street, just south of Routes US 222 and PA 741 and one mile east of PA 272. Bicyclists Promote Milk

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's city streets, country roads and neighborhoods have been home to bicyclists for years. Today, these athletes compete in many races and events from March to October of each year. One team, the 2 + 2 Velo Club, has taken to the streets with milk promotion activities.

All of the team's equipment — helmets, uniforms — features the "Milk. It does a body good" theme and the recognized Real™ Seal. This is seen by thousands of people at races from Allentown to Pittsburgh.

"We have received numerous compliments from other cycling teams and race promoters," says Peer Schaefer, club vice president. He adds that the team's uniforms have "turned a lot of heads" on the tour.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program took advantage of this special sponsorship because of the exposure it brings to the dairy industry.

"We are pleased to work with athletes of this calibre," says Brian Ross, Pennsylvania Dairy Program manager. "This team increases our coverage area and brings our message to a whole new audience of consumers.

The team is composed of 25 members with about a dozen appearing in each event. During this season, they have participated in more than 300 events in 14 states, with the majority in Pennsylvaia.

"We have had a good season," adds Schaefer. "We posted good results at a recent state competition. One team member was second in the State Time Trials and we have won a District Road Race Championship."

This team's helmets and uniforms remind thousands of people who participate in bicycling races from Allentown to Pittsburgh to drink milk. It does a body good.

Attention Chocolate Lovers

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Chocolate lovers from every corner of Pennsylvania will be pleased to learn that the NEW HOLLAND FAIR has teamed up with the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs and the Hershey Food Corporation for the promotion of chocolate cake and chocolate cookies for the 1993 Fair.

Over 90 fairs across the state are giving cash prizes for the "Greatest Cocoa Cake" and for the "Best Cocoa Cookie" made from scratch. This will be a preliminary competition which leads to the Commonwealth's best cake and cookie during the 77th Annual Pennsylvania State Farm Show next January in Harrisburg. Winners at the Farm Show will be awarded a weekend trip for four to a Hershey Resort.

Rules for the local contests are as follows:

GREATEST COCOA CAKE CONTEST

1. The layer cake must be made from scratch and frosted. (Original recipes encouraged)
2. Hershey Cocoa must be used in the recipe.
3. If the cake is frosted with chocolate frosting, Hershey Cocoa must be used in the frosting.
4. Display on a doily covered cardboard.
5. Must be a Pennsylvania resident.
6. Recipe must accompany the entry.
7. Any age group may enter.

Prizes - 1st $25; 2nd $15; 3rd Hershey Chocolate Treasury Cookbook.

GREATEST HERSHEY COCOA COOKIE, BROWNIE & BARS

1. Plate of 8 made from scratch.
2. Hershey Cocoa must be used in the recipe.
3. Display on doily covered cardboard.
4. Entry open to youth only - Age 8 to 18.
5. Must be a Pennsylvania resident.
6. Recipe must accompany the entry.

Baked items will be judged for shape, crust, flavor, appearance, tenderness and crumb.

Prizes - 1st $20; 2nd $10; 3rd Simply Chocolate Cookbook.

First prize winner in both categories is eligible for the 1994 State Farm Show competition in Harrisburg.

Exhibits can be brought to the Ford New Holland Building on Franklin Street (use the Dispensary Entrance) on Tuesday, September 28, between 2 and 8 p.m.

Apple Pie Contest

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The Baked Goods Department of the New Holland Fair is conducting a Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest. The certified first-prize winner will have the opportunity to enter an apple pie in the Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest at the 1994 Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg in January.

1. Each pie will be judged on overall appearance, crust, filling, creativity.

Premiums for the 1994 Harrisburg Farm Show will be: 1st - $100; 2nd - $60; 3rd - $40.

Bring your apple pie to the Ford New Holland Building (Dispensary Entrance) on Franklin Street, New Holland, on Tuesday, September 28 from 2 to 8 p.m.

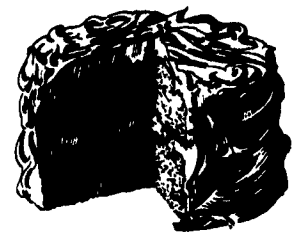
Home On The Range



Rice Is Great Staple For American Diets

All rice is not created equal — some is long, some is short, some is flavored, and some is frozen — but all are nutritious, delicious and can fit into any family's meal.

Long, medium, and short grain are the three types or rice that can be purchased. Long grain rice remains separate when cooked. Medium and short grain rice are more moist, tender, and cling together more.

Regular milled white rice has been completely milled. It takes 15 minutes to cook on top of the range, and because of enrichment, it is similar in nutritional value to brown rice.

Brown rice's tan color comes from the natural bran layers left on the grain, which is an important weapon in the fight against cholesterol. Research has shown rice bran to be effective in lowering blood cholesterol levels. This form of rice has a nutty flavor and a slightly chewy texture. It takes about 45 minutes to cook.

Precooked rice takes only 5 minutes.

For best results, cook rice according to package directions.

If you are one of those persons, who has limited time and prefers brown or regular rice, consider cooking a larger batch at one time and storing it in the refrigerator or freezer until ready to use. Cooked rice may be stored in the refrigerator for up to one week or in the freezer for six months.

The largest portion of your diet should come from the rice, bread, cereal, and pasta group — with 6 to 11 servings recommended daily. Rice is a good choice for a healthy diet and it is the most versatile.

Most of these recipes are from the USA Rice Council. To receive more information and recipes using rice, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to the USA Rice Council, Dept. FP, P.O. Box 740121, Houston, TX 77274.

SAUSAGE AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 cup minute rice
1½ cups water
1 pound smoked or Polish sausage, diced
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup diced green pepper
½ cup diced celery
16-ounce can tomatoes with liquid

Spray sides and bottom of a 10-inch skillet with vegetable oil. Add sausage, onions, green peppers and celery. Saute until vegetables are tender. Add tomatoes with liquid and heat throughly. Fold in cooked rice and mix well.

If too dry, add tomato juice, tomato sauce or water. If prepared early in the day and reheated at mealtime, the flavor is improved.

BLUEBERRY CRISP

3 cups cooked brown rice
3 cups blueberries
¼ cup plus 3 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar, divided
Vegetable cooking spray
½ cup whole-wheat flour
¼ cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter

Combine rice, blueberries and 3 tablespoons sugar. Coat 8 individual custard cups or 2-quart baking dish with cooking spray. Place rice mixture in cups or baking dish; set aside.

Combine flour, walnuts, remaining ¼ cup sugar, and cinnamon in bowl. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Sprinkle over rice mixture. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve warm.

Makes 8 servings.

RICE-NUT LOAF

3 cups cooked brown rice
2 cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
4 eggs, lightly beaten
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup shredded carrots
½ cup Italian-style bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup chopped sunflower kernels
¼ cup sesame seeds
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
16-ounce jar spaghetti sauce, optional

Combine rice, cheese, eggs, onion, carrots, breadcrumbs, walnuts, sunflower kernels, sesame seeds, salt and pepper; pack into greased 9-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes until firm. Let cool in pan 10 minutes; unmold and slice. Serve with heated spaghetti sauce.

HOT BEEF AND RICE PITA POCKET

1 small red onion, sliced thin
1 teaspoon olive oil
3 cups cooked brown rice
½ cup corn
½ cup sliced ripe olives, optional
½ cup barbecue sauce
2 tablespoons lime juice
½ teaspoon ground cumin
½ teaspoon garlic salt
4 whole-wheat pita rounds, halved and warmed
8 lettuce leaves
1 cup sliced, cooked lean roast beef
1 large fresh tomato, seeded and chopped

Cook onion in oil in large skillet over medium-high heat until tender. Add rice, corn, olives, if desired, barbecue sauce, lime juice, cumin, and garlic salt; toss until thoroughly heated. Line each pita half with lettuce leaf, ½ cup hot rice mixture, and roast beef, sprinkle with tomato. Serve warm.

Makes 8 sandwiches (½ pita each).

TURKEY BURGERS

1 to 1¼ pounds ground turkey
2 cups cooked rice
¼ cup grated onion
¼ cup chili sauce
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 garlic clove, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
Vegetable cooking spray

Combine all ingredients except cooking spray in large bowl; mix well. Shape mixture into 10 patties. Cook over medium-high heat in pan coated with cooking spray 10 to 12 minutes on each side or grill 12 to 14 minutes on each side.

Makes 10 burgers.

You'd never guess it, but Blueberry Apple Crumb is made with rice.

BAKED RICE PUDDING

3 beaten eggs
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked rice
½ cup seedless raisins, optional
Nutmeg or cinnamon, optional

Combine the first five ingredients, mix thoroughly. Stir in rice and raisins. Transfer mixture to 10x6x2-inch casserole dish. Bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes. Stir mixture, sprinkle with nutmeg or cinnamon or both, to taste. Bake another 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves 6. Tastes good warm or cold.

SPINACH RICE CASSEROLE

2 eggs
1 cup cooked rice
1 package frozen spinach, cooked and drained
Salt and pepper, to taste
⅓ cup milk
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 tablespoon onion, minced
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Beat eggs and milk until well blended. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into a lightly greased 8-inch pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Cut into 6 wedges and serve.

Some parents worry about between-meal eating, but many children need snacks because they have a smaller stomach than adults and don't get enough in three meals to ensure good nutrition.

Good choices in snacking can help children get nutrition and prevent overeating.

Some ideas for healthy snacks are fruit, cheese, yogurt, cereal, and raw vegetables.

PEANUT BUTTER AND DRIED APPLE COOKIES

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup butter, softened
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup honey
2 egg whites
1 cup finely chopped dried apples
3 cups raisin bran cereal
Vegetable cooking spray

Combine flour, baking soda, and cinnamon. Set aside.

In large mixing bowl, beat butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add honey, egg whites, and apples. Beat well. Stir in flour mixture. Add cereal, mixing until well combined. Drop by tablespoon onto baking sheets lightly coated with cooking spray.

Bake at 375 degrees about 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Let cool 3 minutes before removing from baking sheet. Cool. Yield: About 4 dozen.

Bedford County Sheep and Wool Queen Tracy Henderson shows Nightstar, a Corridale, which won the Supreme Champion Ram title at the Bedford County Fair. Seldom does a wool breed achieve this honor when competing against meat breeds. Tracy and her mother Elissa, raise Corriedales, Romneys, and registered natural colored sheep on their Wooly Wonders Farm in Schellsburg. They spin and knit from the fleeces. An enthusiastic promoter of wool, Tracy recently designed a sweater for the Leadline Contest for which she spun the wool from a black ewe and a white ewe and from her Angora rabbits.

The One-A-Day Habit

Perhaps you are familiar with the "no-more-chocolate" diet that was supposed to begin yesterday. Or the "starting-next-Monday" vow to end constant snacking.

There is a better way to begin eating more nutritiously. The "one-a-day" way to revamp eating patterns in a commitment to establish one new and improved eating habit every day for a week. Here are seven ideas that you might want to make part of your plan for better eating:

Shop Smart - Focus on fresh fruits and vegetables as well as low-fat dairy products, lean cuts of meat, skinless chicken and fish. Other good choices are pastas and cereals.

Break the Fast - Start each day with a healhty breakfast. It will help keep you from ravenous splurging at lunchtime.

Control Portions - Target higher fat items, such as meat and certain condiments. Limit meat portions to 3 ounces or about the size of a deck of cards.

Make Snacks Count - Plan ahead for snacks, choosing tasty low-fat ones, such as pretzels, frozen yogurt and animal crackers or plain popcorn.

Cook for Health - Grill, broil or bake rather than frying. Steam or poach instead of sauteing.

Take Time to Eat - Allow time to enjoy what you eat. It is easy to forget you ate when calories come from munching on the move.

Manage Indulgence - Set quotas on the size or amount of treats you will have. Offset high-fat or high-calorie treats with low-fat, low-calorie foods.

Changing just one habit a day can make it easier to revamp your overall way of eating.

Build A Better Sandwich

A nutritious sandwich is more than a pile of sprouts on top of layers of turkey breast between two thin slices of bread. In fact, you may be surprised at the variety of low-fat, healthy sandwich makings that are available.

Preparing healthful sandwiches opens up opportunities for creativity and variety. Here are a few ideas to spark your creativity and get you started:

Choose enriched, whole-grain breads such as whole wheat, multi-grain, rye, oatmeal, or bran bread.

Wrap fillings in soft tortillas or spoon into pita bread.

Prepare sandwiches with mustard, horseradish, fat-free mayonnaise or salad dressing or a drizzle of plain low-fat yogurt instead of high-fat spreads, such as butter or regular mayonnaise.

Substitute chicken or turkey breast, lean roast beef or lean ham for higher-fat fillings, such as bologna, salami and liverwurst.

Sprinkle on shredded cheese instead of adding thick slices. You will enjoy rich, cheesy flavor with less fat.

Pile sandwiches high with vegetables. Lettuce, spinach leaves, sliced tomatoes, onions, cucumbers, radishes and zucchini add flavor and texture.

Include chopped vegetables, such as celery, onion and green or red peppers, in chicken, tuna or egg salad.

Spoon coleslaw, made with low-fat dressing, onto chicken or turkey sandwiches.

Top lean roast beef or turkey with mushrooms, onions and green peppers sauteed in a small amount of olive oil.

Dice apples, pears or grapes and combine with chicken salad.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Marilyn Baumert, Herndon, would like a recipe for thick, chewy, chocolate chip cookies such as those made by Lennon Fudge and sold at Bird-in-Hand Farmers Market.

QUESTION — A Lewisburg reader would like some recipes to use in her crockpot.

QUESTION — Ruth Cantello, Somerset, N.J., would like recipes for food gifts that are suitable for mailing.

QUESTION — Dottie Kemmerling, Lehigh Valley, would like to know how to dry tomatoes.

QUESTION — Recipes are needed for chicken, turkey, and eggs to celebrate National Chicken Month and Poultry Month. Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.Va., writes that she has about 25 fryers ready for the freezer so she's glad these recipes will be printed so she will have some new ideas on how to do chicken right! Don't disappoint her. Recipes will be printed in the Sept. 25th issue.

QUESTION — N.A.K. of Lebanon would like a recipe for individual Pineapple Upside-Down Cakes made in muffin tins.

QUESTION — Sherry Willis, West Grove, would like a recipe for Cowboy Beans.

QUESTION — Joan Young, Lititz, would like a recipe for Seafood Salad made with tiny pasta shells.

QUESTION — Karen Yourga would like a pizza sauce recipe to can. Also, she thanks Ephraim Zook and Naomi Miller for the great canned strawberry recipes that they sent in.

QUESTION — Janice Rehmyer, York, requests a recipe for a crisp coating chicken recipe, baked or fried, that's healthy. Her request crossed in the mail with chicken coating recipes printed in the Sept. 4th issue. If anyone has a different recipe, please submit it.

QUESTION — Verna Howell, Schnecksville, requests a recipe for Carrot and Raisin Sauce.

ATTENTION — Some readers request personal replies to questions or want to write directly to a reader. Sorry, but time limitations prevent us from sending individual answers. To protect the privacy of individuals, we do not print full addresses unless specifically requested by the individual. Please, do not ask us to forward mail to other readers because we are not equipped to do this. We do want to help you as much as possible, and for this reason, all questions and at least one answer (more if space permits) are printed in this column.

ANSWER — Marie George, Churchville, wanted a recipe for peach or apple long cake. Thanks to Hazel Spamer, Perry Hall, Md., who sent this recipe.

My Favorite Peach 'N Apple Cake

Dough:
- 1 cup milk, hot
- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ teaspoon salt
- 1 package dry yeast
- 2 eggs
- ⅔ cup shortening
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ½ teaspoon grated orange rind
- 4¼ cups flour
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla

Divide hot milk in half; dissolve sugar and salt in one half of the milk. Cool other half and stir in yeast. Combine the two mixtures. Beat eggs until light; add to mixture.

Melt shortening; add with fruit rinds and half the flour and spices. Beat until thoroughly blended and smooth. Add vanilla and remaining flour. Blend. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board. Knead until dough is smooth with small bubbles on surface. Place in a greased bowl, turn to coat dough all over. Cover, place in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again.

Take a small amount of dough. Pat it as thinly as you can into prepared greased baking pans. Brush with milk. Place wedges of peach or apple as closely as possible onto dough, covering as much of the surface as possible. Dough will rise between slices as it bakes. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Bake in 350 degree oven until dough is baked and fruit is tender.

You cannot eliminate salt from a raised dough recipe as that will affect dough rising.

Rice Is Great Staple

MEXICAN SKILLET RICE
- ¼ pound ground beef or ground pork
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1½ tablespoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 cups cooked brown rice
- 16-ounce can pinto beans, drained
- 2 cans (4 ounces each) diced green chiles
- 1 medium tomato, seeded and chopped, optional

Cook meat in large skillet over medium-high heat until brown, stirring to crumble, drain. Return meat to skillet. Add onion, chili powder, cumin, and salt; cook until onion is soft but not brown. Stir in rice, beans, and chiles; thoroughly heat. Top with tomato. Makes 6 servings.

PORK FRIED RICE
- 1½ tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup diced ham or raw pork
- 1 cup finely chopped fresh mushrooms
- ½ cup thinly sliced green onions, including tops
- 3 cups cooked brown rice, cooled
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce

In large skillet or wok, heat ½ tablespoon oil over medium heat. Add eggs and cook without stirring until set. Invert skillet over baking sheet to remove cooked eggs; cut into 1½ x½ -inch strips. In same skillet, heat remaining oil over medium-high heat. Stir-fry ham, mushrooms, and green onions in oil three minutes, or until mushrooms and onions are tender. Stir in cooked rice and egg strips; sprinkle with soy sauce. Toss lightly, heat thoroughly. Makes 4 servings.

BEEF AND VEGETABLE MEDLEY
- ¾ pound boneless beef sirloin steak
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 medium red pepper, cut into strips
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 cup sliced zucchini
- 1 cup sliced yellow squash
- ⅓ cupsliced green onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
- ½ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 3 cups hot cooked brown rice

Partially freeze steak; slice across the grain into ¼ -inch strips. Season beef with salt and pepper. Heat oil in large skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Brown meat quickly in oil. Add vegetables and herbs; stir-fry 3 to 4 minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp. Stir in rice; thoroughly heat. Makes 4 servings.

GINGER CHICKEN STIR-FRY
- ¼ cup teriyaki sauce
- ¼ cup water
- 1 pound skinned and boned chicken breasts, cut into 1½ -inch pieces
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 medium onion, cut into 8 wedges
- 16-ounces frozen broccoli, cauliflower, carrot mixture
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- ⅓ cup chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water
- 3 cups hot cooked brown rice

In shallow baking dish, combine teriyaki sauce and water; add chicken pieces, coating well. Cover and refrigerate two hours. Drain marinade from chicken pieces. In large skillet or wok, heat oil; stir-fry chicken and onion until chicken is slightly browned. Stir in vegetables, ginger, and broth. Cover; simmer 4 to 5 minutes, or until vegetables are tender crisp. In small bowl, combine cornstarch and water until smooth. Gradually add to skillet, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve over hot rice. Makes 6 servings.

EASY EGGPLANT PARMESAN
- 2 medium eggplants, peeled and sliced ½ -inch thick
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ⅔ cup Italian-style breadcrumbs
- ¾ cup Parmesan cheese, divided
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 30-ounce jar spaghetti sauce
- 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese

Cook eggplant in oil with garlic in large skillet over medium-high heat; set aside. Combine breadcrumbs with 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Place eggplant slices in 13x9-inch glass casserole, overlapping slices if necessary. Sprinkle with breadcrumb mixture.

Combine rice, sauce, and remaining Parmesan cheese in large bowl; pour mixture over eggplant. Sprinkle with mozzarella cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes or until cheese is melted and lightly browned.

Makes 6 servings.

LEMON RICE DESSERT
- 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1 cup cooked rice, chilled
- 1⅓ cups frozen whipped topping, thawed
- ¼ cup sliced almonds
- ¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Place bowl in ice water and stir until gelatin is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites; stir in rice. Fold in whipped topping until smooth. Lightly fold in almonds, cherries, and lemon peel. Continue to stir gently (over ice) until thickened. Pour into dessert dishes. Cover and chill until ready to serve.

Serves 8.

ANSWER — Geraldine Long, Elkton, Md., wanted recipes for cooking October beans, and information on how should they be planted and cared for. Thanks to Hazel Spamer, Perry Hall, Md., who writes that she suspects there is another name for October beans as she cannot find them listed in her seed catalogues. From the name, she believes that October beans are a dried bean similar to Great Northern beans. The bush type beans should be sowed after the last frost date. Sow seed about 2-inches apart, 1-inch deep. Grow like any string bean except let them hang on the bush until 90 percent of the leaves have fallen and the pods are dry. Pull plants up by the roots and hang in a dry place until beans have dried out. Shell, and use in any dried bean recipe that appeals to you.

ANSWER — Judy Looney, New Castle, Va., wanted a recipe for chocolate cake that has sauerkraut as an ingredient. Thanks to Ms. Demmy, Lebanon; Mrs. William Schlicher, Zionsville; and Audrey Eby, Lancaster.

Sauerkraut-Fudge Cake
- ½ cup shortening
- 1¼ cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- Dash salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup cocoa
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup sauerkraut, rinsed

Cream shortening. Add and blend sugar, eggs, salt, and vanilla. Sift together cocoa, flour, baking powder, and baking soda. Add alternately with water to mixture. Blend well. Add sauerkraut and blend. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Sauerkraut Cake
- 1⅓ cups sugar
- ⅔ cup butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2¼ cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup cocoa
- 1 cup water
- ⅔ cup sauerkraut, drained
- 1¼ cup heavy cream
- 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 2 teaspoons cocoa
- 1 tablespoon instant coffee
- 2 tablespoons rum flavoring

Cream together sugar, butter, and vanilla. Sift together dry ingredients; add water and butter mixture. Snip the kraut into small pieces and blend into mixture. Turn onto a layer or loaf pan; bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool in pan and spread with Mocha Whipped Cream, which is made by beating cream, sugar, cocoa, coffee and rum. Beat until stiff, and spread on cake. Refrigerate until ready to eat.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Women #20 met on September 2 at the home of Mary Shirk with Marion Hastings and Lillian Winters as co-hostesses.

For the program Candi Steiner gave a talk on the Association of the Blind. She had a Braille card for each and showed different articles of interest that were made. She talked about the gift shop and said they could use help there as well as to work with the blind.

For the devotions Mary read "A Cup of Sugar, Neighbor" and the scripture II Kings 4:2-6. The 20 members present answered to the Roll Call by imitating an animal.

It was voted to participte in the Town Edge Fund Raiser on October 2, by having a table of baked goods and crafts. In October members go to Conestoga View to help entertain.

The president, Nancy Axe, who presided at the business meeting, gave a report on the board meeting which she attended. The October meeting will be held at the home of Barbara Stone instead of Marie Foose.

Berks Executive Society

The Berks County Farm Women executive board meeting was held at the home of president Fern Phillipy on August 30, with a covered dish picnic. The business meeting was opened by Fern, with devotions by Group #7 and Dorothy Stricker gave a reading from a book "Minutes of Gold", Bible verse John 13:34; followed by The Lord's Prayer and pledge to flag.

The roll call question "What is your favorite summer fruit?" was answered by 20 members and one guest.

Janet Schlegel reported on agribusiness, stating the Farm-City banquet is November 4 at the Sheraton. A standing motion to donate a food basket by Berks County Farm Women made by Brown's Country Store, was approved. Janet also showed the brochure of Berks County that will be updated for a new printing. This brochure is a helpful item for the tourists coming into Berks County. A note of thanks was received from Ernest Heckman and Clyde Myers for the farm women's participation at Scenic River days.

On Sept. 11th is the Hawaiian Festival at the Berks Heim (both buildings) from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. — rain or shine.

The quilt is completed, among other lovely prizes, for some lucky person to win at our county convention on October 2, at the Ag Center. Report to your group president about reservations, price for ticket $11.50 — deadline date September 20.

Berks County has 100% participation in the state's heifer project.

Dates to remember: October 14th is designated Farm Women Day, November 11 bingo at the Heim and January 10, 1994 state convention at Harrisburg.

The next executive board meeting November 1, at 8 p.m. at the ag building conference room.

Lancaster Society 8

LANCASTER - Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on September 8 at the residence of Elaine Fuhman at the St. John Herr Retirement Home in Columbia. Shirley Trimmer gave devotions. Nellie Blake gave an informative talk on the Safety With Drugs.

The October 13 meeting will be at the home of Margaret Heisey in Mountville.

York Society 26

York County Farm Women 26 met on August 17 at Beshore's Pavilion for the group's annual picnic. There were 17 members present.

Group 26 will be on the committee for the attendance awards at the York County Convention at Wisehaven Hall on November 4.

The next meeting will be September 14. Ruth Willis will serve as hostess.

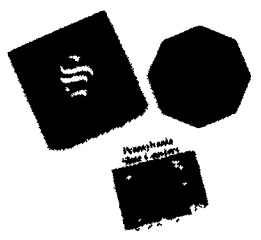
A Gift of Genuine Slate

Holiday Time is just around the corner and that means you will soon be searching for those perfect gifts for the special people in your life.

Why not start early this year and avoid the last minute panic which usually means buying an inappropriate gift at a price higher than you wanted to pay.

The Capozzolo Brothers Slate Company can help solve those tough gift problems so you can be free to really enjoy the holiday season. We are now taking orders for our genuine Pennsylvania slate coaster gift sets. Our unique coasters are very popular and with over 40 models to choose from there is a design for everyone. Each set comes attractively boxed in sets of six and weigh less than one pound per gift. This makes them easy to travel with and inexpensive to send through the mail. They make ideal office gifts, club, church, school, house warming gifts, or any situation when a small gift is appropriate.



Remember, the slate used is mined in Bangor, Pennsylvania by the Capozzolo Brothers. This is a gift made exclusively in the U.S.A. which means all Americans, especially Pennsylvanians, can be proud to give or delighted to receive. Each set comes complete with a history of this interesting natural Pennsylvanian resource.

It is very easy to order. Simply write the quantity of sets desired in the space aside design description. Allow $11.95 per set. This one low price includes all shipping, handling and PA sales tax. Should you order six (6) or more sets, allow $10.95 per set. Order a dozen (12) or more sets (perhaps you can order with a friend) and you pay only $9.95 per set. We accept Visa and Master Card so phone orders are welcome.

Kid's Korner

Mark searches through the dirt looking for pieces of pottery or pipe that tells a history of the people who lived in the area.

The Hans Herr House was built in 1719.

Eleven-Year-Old Participates in Archeological Dig

Arya Porter is the archeologist dig coordinator and supervisor.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

While other kids his age were swimming and fishing this summer, Mark Graybill was digging dirt.

The 11-year-old son of Dale and Joyce Graybill of Mount Joy was part of a team participating in an archeological dig at the Hans Herr House in Willow Street.

The Hans Herr House is the oldest house in Lancaster County that has been preserved and is open to the public to tour.

With spades and trowels, the team chipped away at the soil and sifted through it looking for clues to the past. The bits of pottery that they found enables archeologists to tell how old the pieces are.

"It's pretty interesting," Mark said. "If the pottery is glazed on one side it is very old, but if it is glazed on both sides, it is not as old."

The purpose of the dig was to locate remains of the exterior entrance that once led into the cellar of the 1719 Hans Herr House.

"You can only dig one layer at a time. You must be careful because some pieces break and the pieces are very fragile," he said.

He was most impressed with the ox shoe he found while digging in the soil.

After a summer of digging, Mark thinks he would like to continue work as an archeologist. He said that he watched a movie that taught him how to tell how old the pieces of pipe were that was found while digging.

Mark looks at a trench in front of the Hans Herr House.

After the pieces are washed, they are catalogued to help historians find clues to the past.

Gotta. Or does he? The pig chase provides plenty of thrills for those adventurous enough to enter.

Ephrata Fair Marks 75th Anniversary

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Sure, Pennsylvania's largest street fair is famous for its parade, its cheese steak sandwiches, and its Ferris wheel. But those who stick to Main Street concessions, carnival rides, and parade gawking are missing the best part of the Ephrata Fair.

This year, its 75th anniversary, make sure you walk or take the shuttle bus a few blocks south to Tent City, the place where country and city meet. It's where the bleating of sheep mingles with pig squealing and bawling steers.

During other times of the year, these sounds are foreign to Ephrata Park, where Tent City is located, but the last full week of every September, these sounds attract crowds of fairgoers eager to see real farm animals.

Tent City isn't just a place for town folks to gape. It's really the place where country folks congregate to show off their tractor driving skills, where 4-H'ers and FFA'ers compete in ewe-to-ewe combat, and where hog buyers open their hearts and pocketbooks to claim the highest bid.

From September 21 to 25, Tent City carries a full agenda of ag-related activities. Some is serious stuff such as farm equipment displays but other things are just plain ridiculous fun such as the pig chase and the calf dressing contest.

For 25 years, Charles Ackley, former advisor for the Young Adult Farmer Program for Ephrata School District, has been in charge of Tent City activities. During his tenure, Tent City has grown to include farm machinery displays, tractor driving contests, garden tractor pulls, a community tug-of-war rope pull, a milking contest, family fun night on Friday, and a pumpkin contest.

"Large animal shows have diminished but sheep and hog shows have grown in size," Ackley said.

He said that the success of Tent City is due to the involvement of FFA and adult farmers, who take charge of most of the activities.

This year, Ackley has turned the reins of leadership over to Rep. Terry Scheetz and Clark Stauffer. Antique tractor judging on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. is a new activity this year.

Lycoming Co. 4-H

The 4-H Horse and Pony members of Lycoming County have been busy in the month of August.

Recently 37 4-H members from seven local clubs competed in the local 4-H Horse roundup held in early August at the Williamsport Riding Club.

Classes for all ages and ability were held including therapeutic classes for handicapped members. Those that placed at the level of competition were able to move on to the district show that was held at Clinton County Fairgrounds.

Twenth-three local members were eligible to compete at the district show in 61 classes. Those winning the top awards at the district show are now eligible to go on to the State 4-H Show that will be held at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg on Oct. 29-31.

40- TO 60-HP JOHN DEERE SPIRIT TRACTORS

Raise your productivity

Here's the perfect team for your dairy operation. A John Deere Spirit tractor with a job-matched 520 or 540 Loader. Choose from the 40-hp 5200, 50-hp 5300, or 60-hp 5400. All three feature John Deere wet-sleeve diesels which maximize fuel efficiency and productivity.

Plus, Spirit tractors deliver the highest standard hydraulic capacity in their horsepower class. You get a high-volume 11.4 gallons per minute, with working pressures up to 2,750 psi. So you can lift more, faster.

And for fast, smooth shifting, choose the optional top-shaft-synchronized (TSS) transmission. Improved shuttle-shift capability makes it perfect for loader work.

Need more traction in slippery lots or muddy fields? Add MFWD for more pulling power plus a tight turning radius.

To speed up loader work and free up more time for other herd management tasks, see your John Deere dealer soon for a Spirit tractor.

The 1993 Adams County 4-H Steer program will conclude on Thursday, November 4 with a show and sale at Wenger's Saddlery, north of York Springs, just off Rt. 15.

These Adams County 4-H youth need your support at the sale. Your support as a buyer can follow one of two alternatives. First, the meat from these grain fed cattle is tender and juicy and makes excellent freezer beef.You could get together with a neighbor, friend, or relative and split the costs and use the meat for the freezer. Second alternative is for you to buy a steer and resell it to a commercial buyer at a fair market price if you are not interested in the meat product.

With either alternative, you attend the sale or send a bid for the price per pound you wish to pay. The sale is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., Thursday, November 4. Hauling of the steer for either alternative can be arranged. Contact Jared Tyson, county 4-H agent at (717) 334-6271 or (717) 624-4525 for more information.

Cumberland County

The Cumberland County 4-H Program concluded a busy summer of camping with an Environmental Camp in August at the Monroe Township Elementary School.

The camp featured workshops on plant ecology and identification, wildlife habitat evaluation, and insect identification. Campers made crafts associated with the workshops, painting T-shirts with leaf shapes, mounting leaves and insects, and making posters of the habitat around the school.

The campers also learned how to test water and use a compass and measure distance by pacing. They played nature jeopardy to test their knowledge of environmental trivia in such categories as wildlife habitat and plant identification.

Participants took a field trip to Havre de Grace, Md. where the Susquehanna River enters the Chesapeake Bay. They tested the water in the bay, toured a decoy museum and lighthouse, and learned about shoreline vegetation. The campers also visited the Steppingstone Museum, a turn-of-the-century farm. They churned butter, washed laundry on a washboard, and observed a potter and blacksmith.

Thirty-two campers from throughout Cumberland County attended. Teen counselors, Greta Colestock, Jamie Glennon, Leanne Haycock, Cassie Knerr, and Tanya Zelger supervised the campers and helped teach the workshops. Water quality agent Tom McCarty, Master Gardener Marcia Thompson, and volunteer leader Robert Glennon taught the workshops. County 4-H coordinator Anthony Betonte directed the camp.

The district show recently held at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds was represented by 48 Lancaster County riders in 34 classes.

FFA HAPPENINGS

York County FFA

Lynn Farner, the daughter of Kenneth and Lynda Farner, Dillsburg, was selected to receive the Carroll F. Thompson Scholarship.

The recipient was selected by the York County Vocation Agricultural Teachers Association, which is given in memory of Carroll F. Thompson, formerly a vocational agriculture teacher at Spring Grove and Dover high schools.

Lynn is a 1992 graduate of Northern York Area High School and is studying agricultural education/environmental education at the University of Montana.

Lynn has served as reporter and treasurer of the Northern York Area FFA Chapter and has been involved in the York County FFA forestry contest. Lynn attended the Penn State Conservation Leadership School and Advanced Conservation Leadership School. She has worked as a volunteer on a work crew in Yellowstone National Park.

While in high school, she also served as reporter and editor of her school newspaper, and Lynn served on the student council and cross country team.

As a student in high school, Lynn was the driving force behind the design and construction of the nature trail adjacent to the Northern York High School.

During her first year of college Lynn was a member of the Forestry Students Association, the Woodsmen's Team, and the David son Honors College. She also was a volunteer at the U.S. Forest Service's Forest Service Laboratory in Missoula, Mont.

The scholarship recipient must be a graduate of an agricultural education/horticulture program in York County who is continuing their education in a post high school institution. Selection is based on their future plans, financial need, leadership activities, and scholastic performance.

Ephrata Fair

Sheep shows at Tent City offer a chance for youth to show off their sheep breeding success.

At the Tent City location, Ephrata Young Farmers will sell homemade soups, hot sandwiches, and other taste-tempting treats to keep fairgoers' stomachs filled. The stand is most famous for its pork chop barbecue on Tues. evening. Proceeds from the sales support the 4-H Therapeutic Riding Club, for handicapped children. Ackley said Young Farmers donate $1,000 a year to the Therapeutic Riding Club.

Although Farm Women Society 3 is an ag-related organization, its food stand is not located in Tent City but at the Main Street concessions. For 73 years, the Farm Women's stand has attracted diners to its sit-down stand with its homemade specialties. Members start weeks in advance of the Fair to roll out pot pie made with 100 pounds flour, 22 dozen eggs, and 60 pounds of potatoes. Members cook and debone 250 pounds of chicken for chicken corn soup, make applesauce and pepper cabbage, shell, grind and freeze 1,100 deviled clams and other made-from-scratch entrees.

Esther Stuber, who has helped with the stand from the beginning, said, "We've done this for so long that we have a system. It (the work) really isn't hard at all. We have fun doing it."

Join the crowd at the Ephrata Fair in celebration of its 75th anniversary.

BRETHREN DISASTER RELIEF AUCTION

Where Talent, Hard Work, Generosity Helps The Needy

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

PALMYRA (Lebanon Co.) — Never underestimate the power of small things.

Take a kernel of popcorn. Give it to Ellen Young and her niece Janice Longenecker Holsinger, who add a few other ingredients and they end up with more than $2,000 to help the needy.

Ellen and Janice are among two women of many hundreds of volunteers who work together every year to make the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction a success.

The auction was started 17 years ago to raise funds to help meet the needs of those facing disasters such as hurricanes and famine. The first year, the auction garnered $11,714. Last year, $340,000 was raised.

The auction will be held at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds on Friday, September 24 starting at 4 p.m. and on Saturday, September 25, starting at 7 a.m. with breakfast.

Janice Holsinger and her aunt Ellen Young gather supplies to make caramel corn for the upcoming auction where they love to serve because it helps those who are in need.

Ten years ago Ellen Young, seated, began the tradition of making caramel corn for the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction that her niece Janice Holsinger, continues today. The two-day project made a profit of $2,400 last year.

The annual event is sponsored by the Atlantic Northeast and Southern Pennsylvania districts. How do they raise so much money in two days? Through people like Ellen and Janice who donate their abilities to help those in need.

Ten years ago, Ellen Young, who has a reputation as a super cook, offered to make caramel corn at the auction. She used her mother's recipe, an old but large popper, and a copper kettle in which to coat the popcorn with caramel. Her husband, Bob, an administrative assistant with Elizabethtown College, helped her.

The aroma of freshly popped corn and simmering caramel soon had buyers standing in line. The first year, Ellen made a $180 profit. Each year, sales increase, more helpers are added, and more supplies are purchased. Last year, a $2,400 profit was made at the caramel corn stand.

In the beginning years of the auction, Janice did not help her aunt at the caramel corn stand. Instead, as church youth advisors, she and her husband helped organize a white elephant sale. Then the Holsingers moved to New England for four years. When they moved

Where People Can Buy A Little Bit Of History

LOU ANN GOOD

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — A little bit of history can be purchased at the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction on September 25.

It's a model of an original Reber Wagon made by Ron Reber, who following in the footsteps of his great-great-grandfather, constructed the wagon on a one-third scale model.

The precisely-fashioned wagon mirrors those made more than 100 years ago when Jonathan Reber founded the Reber Wagon Works in 1892.

Just like his great-great grandfather, Ron uses poplar, oak, hickory, and white ash to make a strong wagon.

The details are the same right down to the blacksmithing he does with a heated anvil, and the painted design in the original colors of Brewster green and Venetian red with scrolling and lettering in black, yellow, and red.

"I'm a real hound on detail. Authenticity is very important to me," Ron said. "I go to a lot of work just to make this wagon like the real McCoy."

That means two extra spokes on the wagon wheel and the brake has two extra detents on the rear brake handle catch. Detents are the slots between the teeth to engage or disengage the brake.

Ron, who describes himself as a person who likes tinkering around and then getting down to the nitty gritty, became fascinated with the Reber wagons when he was a boy. At that time, the Wagon Works had ceased. All Ron had were bits and pieces of its history as recalled by relatives who also had a few original pieces.

This family heritage became more and more important to him as he grew older. In retrospect, Ron can see how events in his life prepared him for the job of wagon making.

He said, "My father was a real stickler for doing things right. If it wasn't done right, we did it again. And my father always said, 'If you have time to do it a second time, you have time to do it right the first time.'"

As an adult, this training to do things right was enforced by Ron's eight-year career in the Air Force.

"I worked with nuclear weapons. There was no room to make a mistake in that. Everything needed to be done literally perfect," he said.

That is Ron's aim — to do everything perfectly.

Although his wagons are two-thirds smaller than the original farm wagons, Ron said the detail and the strength is still there. To demonstrate the wagon's rugged construction, Ron jumped up and down on the wagon bed.

"This will last 100 years," he said.

Although the wagons are made for working purposes, Ron said that so far, all those he made have been purchased by collectors and displayed.

But if a wagon would be used and break, Ron promises to repair free of charge anything that is not

Ronnie Reber keeps wagon history rolling with these models built on a one-third scale of the original Reber Wagons.

Auction goers will have a chance to purchase a bit of history at the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction where this Reber Wagon made by Ronnie Reber will go to the highest bidder.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

These are busy days as I try to empty my gardens in preparation for a train and bus trip across Canada. Of course it will include several airplane rides that I am not looking forward to as my ears often hurt me during flights.

But for now I can pickles and tomatoes. And, we buy pears and plums by the basket. Another ritual of September is the picking of Concord grapes that climp up our old, brick smokehouse. The juice is canned and the grape sauce is frozen.

I actually asked my husband to rototill the green beans as I was tired of picking them for months. Now I have Kentucky Wonder beans that grown on a permanent fence beside my pole limas. Even though it has been a dry summer the lima beans managed to give a good crop. Last year they were all leaves and no beans.

Allen has been using ladders to pick apples from the tree in our front yard. They are small but so far we've made 24-quart of applesauce. Now we have used all of our cans and all of our freezer boxes so we shall have to stop preserving things for the winter. The last sweet corn has been frozen but I still want to make cole slaw from some of my many cabbage heads.

The other Sunday we were pleasantly surprised to have three Amish families visit us at the same time. Their little children were well behaved. Much better, in fact, than our own grandchildren who rush in and grab everything and then a big crash follows. My children tell me that I should not have little things setting around on the tables to tempt little fingers.

back in the area, the couple offered to help Janice's aunt at the caramel corn stand.

Three years ago, Ellen retired from overseeing the annual event, and Janice took charge. As owner of 10 U-Gro Learning Centers, Janice has plenty of expertise in management which helps in planning and ordering supplies. She purchased six burners to cut down on rental fees, although they continue to rent an additional four burners on which to cook the caramel. Two industrial size poppers are used to pop corn continuously for two days, and 40 volunteers work in shifts at the stand.

Everyone has an assigned job. Some stir the mixture in the kettle, others pop corn, others fill the kettle.... There is even an assigned clean-up crew.

Caramel corn burns quickly and it takes constant watching.

"We are so busy, we barely have time to talk," Janice said.

Despite the team's best efforts, almost every year, one or two of the 75 batches made are discarded because it became scorched.

This year, Janice and her husband, John, purchased 300 pounds of popcorn and 170 pounds of margarine for the upcoming event.

Janice said that many volunteers have been generous in supplying things to make the job easier. Some donations include a large spatula with a long handle, which is used to clean out the kettle between batches, a four to five-foot paddle to stir the mixture, a rack to cool the popcorn, and a wire sifter to sort out unpopped kernels.

Although Ellen no longer is in charge of the caramel corn stand, she continues to help with it.

"It gives you a good feeling because the money goes to help people who really need it," she said.

It's a lot of work lugging the heavy kettles in and out, and a sticky mess to clean up, but Janice always looks forward to the event. She said that her aunt and herself come from families of hard workers. "We both were raised to work and serve."

Many other volunteers work together to make the auction a success by donating supplies, monies, and talent. In addition to auction items, stands are set up with baked goods and other food items, arts and crafts, quilts, a farmer's market, share-a- meal, a heifer sale.

For those who would like the recipe to use at home, Ellen and Janice are glad to share it.

Caramel Corn

2½ to 3½ gallons popped corn
2 cups light brown sugar
½ cup molasses (King or Turkey brand)
2 sticks margarine
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup water

Combine sugar, molasses, margarine, vinegar, salt and water and bring to a boil at 280 degrees. Pour mixture over popcorn. Stir quickly to coat.

Make Draperies

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Window treatments cost a fortune anymore! Beat the cost of dressing your windows in style by learning to make your own draperies and top window treatments taught by veteran instructors, Trudy Dougherty, extension home economist, and Doris Hoag, freelance home economist, on Tuesdays, September 21 and 28 and October 5, 19 and 26, 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Chester County Extension office, Government Services, Government Services Center, Suite 370, 601 Westtown Road, West Chester.

This series will include instruction and demonstrations on fabric selection, measurements, construction techniques, and variety. The fee is $15 for all five sessions. Enrollment is limited and, at this price, the class will fill quickly. Register before the deadline date of September 13. For registration information, contact the Extension office at (215) 696-3500.

in perfect working condition.

"I'm very particular," he said.

No nails hold the wheels. It is held by a band of steel put on by heat.

"The wheel should ring when bounced," he said. "If it thuds, it isn't right."

He said, "I see people cutting corners when they make replicas, but I'm trying to take longer corners — make it better — rather than easier."

He said, "I'm sentimental in what I do. I am the fifth generation to make a wagon. I live and breathe this every day."

Ron makes about 30 wagons a year, some are sleighs, water wagons, and other types.

Ron's interest in history and wagon-making are so intertwined that he wrote a historical account of his great-great-grandfather's business. Each wagon and sleigh sale includes a copy of the book, which he has had printed.

Ron is on the board of directors at Landis Valley Museum and demonstrates wagon building there and at several places such as the Hans Herr House at Willow Street.

As an engineer for Ford New Holland in evening hours, Ron spends every afternoon in his shop behind his Landisville home. He and his wife, Yvonne, have three children, Stacie, 6; Veronica, 3; and Paul, 4 months.

Of finding enough time to work full-time and almost full-time again at his ballooning wagon business, Ron said, "I just hustle."

His quest in life comes from the biblical quotation in I Thessalonians 4:11-12 NIV: Make it your ambition to lead a quiet life, to mind your own business and to work with your hands, just as we told you, so that your daily life may win the respect of outsiders and so that you will not be dependent on anybody."

His dream is to turn a neighboring warehouse into a museum and restaurant. "I would fill it with wagons and everything old. Nothing would ever be locked away," he said.

Within the next few months, he plans to make a Conestoga covered wagon according to scale from prints he obtained from England.

He'd also like to make a wagon to be pulled by miniature horses.

If you would like more information about Reber Wagon Works, call Ron at (717) 898-1819 or write to 237 Broad St., Landisville, PA 17538.

Ron thinks it is symbolic that his great-great-grandfather was also a minister in the Church of the Brethren faith and now the Reber wagons are used to help raise funds for disaster relief. Each year, three anonymous donors share the cost of the wagon to donate it to the sale. Last year, the wagon sold for $2,100.

The auction will be held at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds on Friday, September 24, at 4:00 p.m. and Saturday, September 25, starting at 7 a.m. with breakfast.

Mexican Pickers Dominate Pa. Mushroom Industry

LAURA RANDALL
National Geographic News Service

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — At the end of a long work day, Martin Sabala, 24, relaxes for the first time since 5 a.m. and talks about his 11-year career as a mushroom-picker in rural southeastern Pennsylvania.

"The hours are long and there is nothing to do at night, but economically for me, this is the No. 1 place to make money for my family," says Sabala, whose stonewashed jeans and long hair make him look more like a high-school student than a husband and father.

With tales of good wages, abundant work and "tranquilidad" spinning in his head, at age 13 Sabala followed his own father here from Moroleon, Mexico. His brothers, a cousin and an uncle soon followed him.

More than 80 percent of the Chester County, mushroom industry's 10,000 workers are Mexican; many come from Moroleon, a town of fewer than 50,000 people in the mountains of central Mexico.

Since the early 1970s, Moroleon men have left their wives and children behind to work almost non-stop for six or seven months at a time in the mushroom camps of Pennsylvania.

Recently, however, the 2,000-mile commutes have begun to ebb. Motivated by loneliness and a 1986 change in U.S. immigration laws, thousands of laborers are bringing their kin north permanently.

Many favor the farms of Pennsylvania, because mushrooms are grown indoors and offer year-round employment. The state produces almost half the nation's mushrooms.

Migrant workers are nothing unusual in Chester County. At the turn of the century, Quaker mushroom-growers employed Italians, who then began to buy their own farms and hire black laborers, who in turn were followed by white Tennesseans and later Puerto Ricans.

In the 1970s, as Puerto Rican workers moved on to other areas and higher-paying jobs, the young men of central Mexico began to replace them.

But the recent settling-in of these Mexican immigrants has created some unexpected problems in this small community 30 miles southwest of Philadelphia.

Atonia Sepulveda reads English with a Spanish speaking kindergartner in Kennett Square. Sepulveda, who moved to the state from Puerto Rico in 1968, is a former mushroom-picker who has moved on to teach in Chester County's "Even Start" program for youngsters who don't speak English.

Hector Bedolla, 31, cuts the stems off mushrooms in Kennett Square. Like many other mushroom workers in Chester County, Bedolla is from Mexico. Along with many of his coworkers, he commutes from nearby Delaware, where housing is less expensive. His family remains in Mexico City.

La Comunidad Hispana, a local service organization, estimates that more than 200 Mexican families have moved to Chester County in the past year.

In one school district last September, about 40 Hispanic children, few of whom spoke English, showed up unexpectedly for classes. And workers at Project Salud, a health clinic, are seeing an average of two to three new families every week.

Lack of affordable housing in Chester County has caused some Mexican workers to commute from neighboring Delaware. Families double up in trailers and apartments to save money on rent. Single men live in one-story dormitories on the mushroom farms or cram into apartments with as many as a dozen other workers.

"It's a type of homelessness," Sheila Druley, executive director of La Comunidad Hispana, tells National Geographic.

Most of the mushroom-pickers earn the minimum wage — $4.25 an hour — or about $1.10 a basket. Bonus pay for every pound picked and 60-hour work weeks help pickers afford cars for themselves and clothing and other goods for relatives in Mexico.

The growing presence of the low-income immigrants has erected an invisible wall between them and many natives of predominantly white Chester County.

"This tends to be a conservative area," says Druley. "There is some discomfort at guys standing around on a corner, seeming to do nothing. Some locals don't understand that many of the workers come from small villages, where they have a kind of plaza to go to congregate and socialize."

But, in a county whose economy depends on mushrooms, everyone agrees that sensitivity toward the Hispanics has grown in the past year.

Two bilingual police officers and a Spanish-speaking dispatcher have been added to the state police force in nearby Avondale. Several local churches have migrant-ministry programs. A task force of mushroom-growers and community leaders is exploring possibilities for more low-income housing.

Kennett Square, population 5,210, at first glance seems like any other small town in rural Pennsylvania, except that the Hispanic influence is evident: rows of tortillas, jalapeno peppers, and sliced mango at the local supermarket, "leche" and "cafe" on the McDonald's menu.

At Kennett Middle School, teacher Palmira Matos helps newly arrived Mexican students make the transition to American classrooms. Matos herself is a picker's daughter who came to Chester County from Puerto Rico when she was 13.

"I know what my students are going through," she says. "They are battling two evils: not know-

From Piggy Banks To Checking Accounts

NEWARK, DE. — "The sooner kids are involved in financial management, the better," says Maria Pippidis, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension home economist. "Even young children understand very early the concept of trading a coin for something. By the time they're teens, kids should be well on their way to learning how to handle finances."

Pippidis says when teens start earning money regularly — whether through part-time jobs, baby-sitting or paper routes — they need to start managing their money, too. If they don't already have savings and checking accounts, now is a good time to open them.

Parents can help their children make good financial decisions by helping them set priorities. Advertising and peer pressure bombard kids, notes Pippidis. Parents can act as intermediaries to help filter through the information.

"It's important for kids to learn that money is a means to an end," says the agent. "It is a tool that can be used to accomplish other things in life. If your child wants to buy a CD because enjoying music is an important part of who he or she is, that's a good goal. If the child wants a CD because everyone else has it, maybe you need to discuss it further."

Pippidis says communicating about money is important to help children understand money concepts and develop financial self-esteem.

"Communicating about money gives benefits beyond finances," she adds. "Parents who communicate with their children about money will build an overall better relationship that helps them bond and develop respect for each other."

When a child decides on a purchase goal, parents can help by suggesting that the child save a percentage of each sum of money that is earned. Using a tangible method such as putting the amount of money saved in a box or envelope will reinforce the concept. Another way to keep savings tangible is to post a progress chart on the refrigerator. List the child's goal, dates when income was made, and what amount was put aside.

"Whether your child plans a long- or short-term goal, encourage comparison shopping by reading consumer reports or going to various stores to compare items," Pippidis says.

Parents can encourage good financial record keeping by having children file pay stubs, balance checking accounts and save receipts and warranties from major purchases.

"The most important thing parents can do is provide their children the opportunity to experience financial management activities and skills," says the agent. "The more experiences and practice the kids have with finances, the better they will be at making good decisions and choices.

"Share as much of your personal finances as possible with children including fuel, electricity and mortgage costs. Let them help write the checks for household bills occasionally. And remember to share your long-term goals with them.

"Money issues are a reality," Pippidis says. "Let's deal with them and help children learn the skills they need to become good financial managers so they can reach their goals."

Beef Checkoff Promotes New Burger

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The introduction of Wendy's Big Bacon Classic Cheeseburger is big news! Developed to please hearty appetites, the burger is the first new beef item that Wendy's will permanently add to its menu since the late 1980s. Through checkoff dollar investments, cattle producers throughout the nation are helping to assure that the product is a big success.

The sandwich — a quarter pound ground beef patty topped with cheese and three full strips of bacon and served with the works on a Kaiser bun — was first introduced during the month of August with an intensive media blitz. Television commercials, featuring Wendy's founder, Dave Thomas, as well as radio spots, print advertisements, free-standing inserts and a variety of other promotional tools, were designed to evoke interest in the Big Bacon Classic, which is expected to move millions of incremental pounds of ground beef during the next twelve months.

"Checkoff dollars invested by cattle producers will be used to sustain awareness of the Big Bacon Classic and to encourage frequent ordering," explains Kelley Shearer, Pennsylvania Beef Council Foodservice coordinator. "In-store point-of-sale materials will remind consumers to ask for the Big Bacon Classic, which is sure to be a new favorite among beef lovers." As a symbol of the beef industry's participation in this effort, the red beef checkmark is featured in all television ads and print materials.

"This partnership presents an excellent opportunity to increase beef sales at Wendy's and to enhance beef's positive image, "adds Shearer. "The beef industry enjoys great benefit when a chain the size of Wendy's adds a permanent new beef item to its menu. Promotional efforts are aimed at generating awareness and establishing a 'crave appeal' based on the great taste of beef served fresh and hot off the grill."

ing English and the everyday difficulties of school."

Matos says county schools need more bilingual teachers. The migrant workers are no longer as transitory as they once were. "Parents dream about going back to Mexico," she says, "but the reality is different."

Mushroom-picker Martin Sabala now faces that reality. He longs to be back in Mexico with his wife and year-old son, whom he last saw four months ago. Instead, he says, he will soon start the legal procedure to bring them to the United States. Then he'll be able to work year-round.

The job of tracking the changing work status of Sabala and other pickers at Modern Mushroom Farms falls to Marcelo Ortiz.

Ortiz left Puerto Rico in the 1950s with thousands of other laborers in search of better employment. His bilingualism helped him work his way from picker to general foreman. Now Ortiz, 54, sees the 135 men he supervises cope with the same difficulties he once thought he would never overcome.

Problems with housing, discrimination, and living a long distance from nome may continue, but most of the workers will remain on the mushroom farms, he says, "because they need it."

Dealing With Stress After Major Storm

RUTGERS, N.J. — A natural disaster such as a hurricane not only leaves a trail of property destruction in its wake, many times it leaves thousands of its victims with a destroyed sense of balance. In addition to restoring buildings and replacing material possessions during the recovery period, victims may need to devote time to restoring their own emotional equilibrium. This can be especially important for children who do not have years of life experience to guide them.

Be extra patient.

Determine what's really important, keeping in mind that your mate's viewpoint on what should be considered top priority may be different from yours.

Don't expect things to instantly restore themselves. Accept that restoration (both physical and emotional) takes time.

Realize that disaster victims have suffered losses and it's natural for them to express disbelief, anger, sadness, anxiety, and depression afterwards.

Realize that the emotions of victims will rollercoaster and moods can change unexpectedly.

Don't overlook the feelings of children as you deal with the situation. They need to feel that they can count on you for the extra attention, love and support needed to get through. Reassure them, making sure they understand they are not responsible for the problems you face.

Try to keep your family diet as nourishing as possible under the circumstances.

Refocusing on the big picture, instead of the little details and the little problems, will give you a sense of competency.

Talk with friends, family, ministers. In crisis situations, a supportive network is essential.

Chickens Help In Heart Research

Robert J. Bulger, M.D.

(NAPS) — Some sick chickens may help keep people healthy.

In the 1940's, researchers noted that chickens with Marek's disease developed hardening of the arteries similar to that seen in humans with artherosclerosis. Fifty years later, researchers are using this clue to help unravel the still mysterious process of how heart disease develops, and have implicated another contributing factor — the herpes virus.

In persons with artherosclerosis, the arteries that supply the heart gradually become narrowed by a buildup of a hardened material called plaque, made up of cholesterol fats and cellular debris. A heart attack occurs when a clot blocks the artery and cuts off the supply of oxygen to the heart. How this process begins, and a connection between forming plaque and clots have remained largely unresolved.

Dr. David P. Hajjar and his colleagues at Cornell University Medical College have proposed a molecular mechanism for the development of heart disease and the role of the herpes virus. In 1978, scientists showed that Marek's disease was caused by an avian herpes virus, which caused clogged areteries even in chickens fed a cholesterol-free diet. Dr. Hajjar found that when a herpes virus type 1 (the kind that cuases cold sores in humans) infects a cell lining in the interior of arteries, it causes a molecule called glycoprotein C to be produced. Glycoprotein C then triggers the biochemical reactions leading to a clot. Moreover, white blood cells called monocytes respond to this clotting process, invade the arterial wall, absorb cholesterol and fats, and form the nucleus of an incipient plaque.

Does this mean that people who get cold sores will necessarily develop heart disease? Absolutely not — it is estimated that 90 percent of Americans develop a herpes infection sometime in their lives, yet not all develop heart disease. However, herpes infection may contribute to aggravating the condition in people with other risk factors such as smoking or high cholesterol levels.

Preliminary test-tube experiments aimed at interfering with glycoprotein C have been promising, and follow-up animal tests are planned. On a broader scale, this research contributes to defining why certain individuals, even some with normal or low cholesterol levels, develop heart disease. By better understanding the complex interplay of its several contributing factors, comprehensive and effective prevention and treatment of heart disease can more readily be developed. And until that day arrives, it's probably wise to stay away from too many french fries.

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your work watch stops running within FIVE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next five years.

This watch is available in both men's and women's styles. To receive your new work watch, read and complete the coupon below, and send it with your payment to:

Polled Hereford Youth Meet For National Junior Show

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Southern hospitality greeted more than 300 exhibitors and 400-plus Polled Herefords at the 20th Junior National Polled Hereford Show and Forum held July 17-22 in Perry, Ga.

The "Georgia On My Mind" event was held in the state's heartland at the Georgia National Fairgrounds and Agricenter and co-hosted by senior and junior Polled Hereford breeders from Georgia, Florida, and Alabama.

Junior national exhibitors showcased 426 head of 1992-born heifers, steers, and cow-calf pairs. Particularly impressive was half of the 20 heifer classes were topped by animals bred by junior exhibitors. The reserve grand champion heifer and the champion cow-calf pair were also bred and owned entries. Judges for this event were lead judge Tom Hook, a Tracy, Minn., cattle breeder, and associate judge Jeff Bedwell, instructor and livestock judging coach at Northeast Oklahoma A&M College, Miami, Okla.

For their grand champion female, Hook and Bedwell selected Division IV winner RJY Sara 9208, a March yearling sired by HPH Raceways Dasher 34Z. The heifer was bred by RJY Polled Herefords, Edgar, Neb., and owned by 14-year-old Steven Soules, Skiatook, Okla.

The reserve grand champion heifer was also champion of the bred-and-owned show and the Division III champion. She was TJ 030 Jaqui 239, a May 1992 TJ-Jaguar 030 daughter bred and owned by 21-year-old Kent Tjardes, Gibson City, Ill. The reserve champion bred-and-owned heifer was HPH Infinity 37B, a November '92 daughter of Kilmrle Deliverance 80U. She came out of Division I and was bred and owned by 17-year-old Heather Hicks, Cullman, Ala.

The champion cow-calf pair, also a bred-and-owned entry, was exhibited by 15-year-old Curt Stockdale, Dayton, Pa. He won with CS Miss 1st Flag 21A, a 2-year-old GS Checkered Flag daughter, and her April heifer calf by Beau Donald Rival.

Eleven-year-old Precious Atlas, Grandview, Texas, exhibited the reserve champion cow-calf pair that was bred by her family's Atlas Polled Herefords. The duo included Atlas Redeyed Lady 7A, a 2-year-old by Tex Prime Time, and her January bull calf by FPP First Priority 28U.

The champion steer weighed 1,150 lb. at 14 months and was sired by Stone Ridge Knight Fire. He was bred by Dale Curfman, Three Springs, Pa., and owned by 16-year-old Jennifer Altobelli, Dover, Pa. The reserve champion steer was 1,200 lbs. at 16 months of age and sired by GK Sportsman 41Y. He was bred by James Cravens, Buffalo, Ill., and owned by 15-year-old Jayson Entwistle, Riverton, Ill.

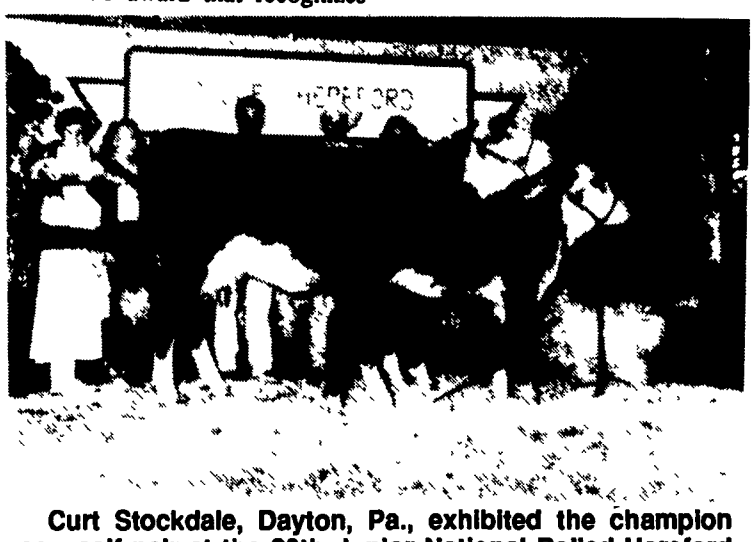
Junior exhibitors from Illinois earned the Brownell Combs Memorial Trophy for exhibiting the best state group of animals. Second place was won by Oklahoma juniors and third by Texas. Twenty-year-old Tammy Riffel, Enterprise, Kan., earned the premier exhibitor award for the fifth consecutive year. Heather Hicks was the premier junior breeder, while the premier senior breeder award went to Greg and Gail Alsup of High Prairie Farms, Fair Grove, Mo.

Also presented during the show was the Lewis Memorial Award, a scholastic award that recognizes junior accomplishments at the Junior National. It is given in memory of Walter and Joe Lewis of Alfalfa Lawn Farms, Larned, Kan. First place and $500 was awarded to Heather Hicks; second place and $375 to Tom Boatman, Blountsville, Ala., and third place and $250 to Lynne Wise, New Philadelphia, Ohio.

Another scholastic achievement award, the highest a junior member of the American Polled Hereford Association can receive, was presented to Judy Anderson, Gold Hill, Ore. Anderson's prize includes a $1,000 scholarship and a trip of choice to a Polled Hereford operation in the U.S., sponsored by Harding and Harding Insurance. Second place and a $750 scholarship was presented to Tammy Riffel, and third place and a $500 scholarship went to Michael Poss, Harlem, Ga.

Six new members were elected to leadership positions on the National Junior Polled Hereford Council during the annual membership meeting of the junior association. Those who will hold two-year terms on the Council are Jenny Hartzell, Redmond, Ore.; Angie Stump, Blue Rapids, Kan.; Kevin Owen, Lamar, Mo.; Stanton Webster, Carthage, Tenn.; Kyle McMillan, Highland, Ill., and Chris Mullinix, Woodbine, Md. Officers elected to lead the Council are Chairman Tim Lockhart, Red Oak, Texas; Vice Chairman Stan Hathorn, Louisville, Miss.; Secretary Heather Hicks; Reporter Mandy Peak, Mansfield, Ohio, and Ex-Officio Jock Beeson, Wayne, Neb.



Curt Stockdale, Dayton, Pa., exhibited the champion cow-calf pair at the 20th Junior National Polled Hereford Show. His bred-and-owned entry was CS Miss 1s Flag 21A, a 2-year-old GS Checkered Flag daughter, and her April heifer calf by Beau Donald Rival. Stockdale is the 15-year-old son of Dennis and Jo Stockdale and will be a sophomore at Dayton High School this fall.

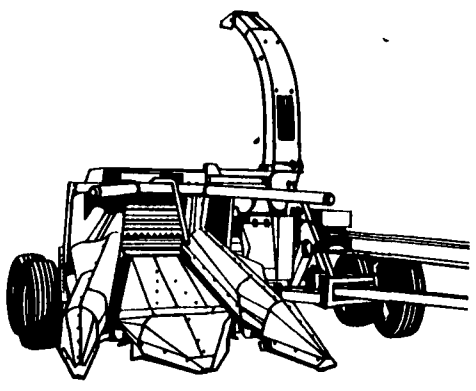
Bed And Breakfast Inn's And Outs

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — A Bed and Breakfast is an owner-occupied, overnight lodging with a friendly host who provides personal touches and a morning meal as part of standard service. Although not the lifestyle for everyone, Bed & Breakfasts and Farm Vacations offer the hosts a way to earn additional income and to meet a variety of interesting people.

To help you in considering the option of starting this very special type of home-based business, the Penn State Extension will offer a two-day workshop, "The Inns and Outs of Bed & Breakfast," at the Penn State Harrisburg, Middletown on October 13 and 20. The class will cover business planning, legal matters, safe food handling, insurance considerations, marketing, record keeping and taxes and use of a reservation service. Participants will have the opportunity take a slide tour of local B&Bs and have panel discussions with their hosts. A $30 registration fee covers all materials and lunches for both days.

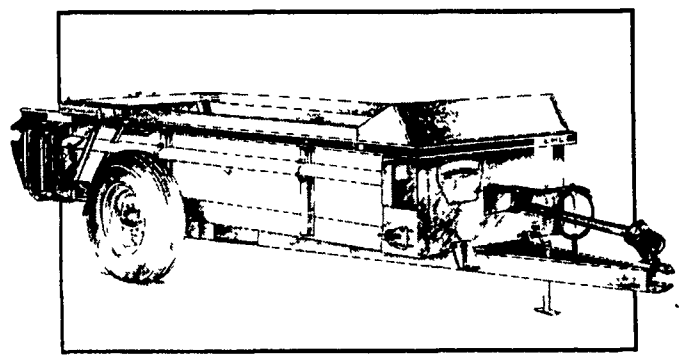
GEHL®

Versatility Champ!



With a horsepower rating for maximum 200 hp, the Gehl 1060 featues exclusive patented spinner delivery system that "jets" material from cylinder to blower in a continuous flow. Other features include overrunning clutch; in-head hydraulic knife sharpener that allows in-field knife sharpening and refacing of cutterbar, using tractor hydraulics; and single-station cutterbar adjustment. Auto-Max system, speed monitor, metal detector, haylage water tank optional! It's totally versatile! Make us prove it with a demonstration.

EVEN WHEN IT'S EMPTY...IT'S LOADED



When you're checking out box-type manure spreaders, look to Gehl for a better spreader! Gehl box spreaders are available in five sizes ranging from 135 to 425 bushel heaped capacities. Gehl box spreaders deliver these and many more advanced features:

IT'S FALL AGAIN

Earlier in the spring, we discussed the importance of a defined calving season on profitability in the cow-calf enterprise.

Overlooking this important management feature can have a severe economic impact on the profitability of the enterprise. The upshot is that if the bull is still out with the cows, you are the big loser in lower calf weights, complications with a health program, and nutritional problems with the herd.

Fall is the period when the second most important step can be taken — determination of pregnancy in the cow herd. Seventy-five to 90 days after the bull has been pulled (or when the breeding season should be over) is probably the most effective time for this practice. Since most people are not trained in pregnancy detection, a veterinarian will need to be called in.

It will not be necessary to put the cows through the chute only for a preg check. The fall vaccination program, deworming, grub and lice control, replacing ear tags, condition scoring, and physical exams of the cow herd can all be done at this time. In addition, pre-sale vaccinations, sorting replacement heifers, and leftover castrations can be made with the calves.

Why is pregnancy detection so important? Simply this — an open cow allowed to stay in the herd will never catch up again. That is, the cost of keeping a cow around for another 18-20 months before she returns anything to the enterprise far exceeds her ability to produce enough weaning weight to pay for it.

With all costs considered, extensive records show it costs about $300-$400 to maintain a cow for a year. The majority of the cost comes from harvested and supplemental feeds — just the inputs an open cow will be using in the next 8 months. Allowing "another chance" means she has effectively used up $600-$700 of your money before she sells another calf. Even in the best of times, most cows are not capable of producing that much income in single year.

What are the alternatives? Sell her. She already ate your grass all summer, so get something back to pay for it. (Grass is cheap feed, but it is not free.) Replace her with a bred heifer.

A cull cow is worth about $500-600 in today's market. Add it up: you sell a cow for $600 now and a calf out of the heifer (assuming an 80 percent chance of selling a calf in any year) for $300 and you have total receipts of about $900. The heifer will cost you about $1,000 to buy and keep until next fall, so the loss is about $100 instead of $300. Trading $100 for $300 sounds pretty good, even to a Ph.D.

The Missing Link

Texas researcher John McNeill recently reported on a retained ownership program he is supervising. Under this program, ranchers are retaining ownership on part of their calves and receiving carcass and economic data on them.

The result from over 600 of these calves from 74 producers showed that almost one-third did not meet industry standards for one of several reasons. The major cause (1/3) for this failure was in making a profit of $25 per steer.

Another striking feature is that the range in profitability was about $280 per steer. Some ranchers lost over $100 per head, while others had profits over $180 per steer.

I talked with John personally about this, and he said the reason some people made more money than others had nothing to do with price or feed, but it had to do with the kind of management the calves got before they got to the feedlot. In particular, those ranchers that were using good genetics and had a sound health program were the ones who made the most money. Does that sound familiar?

Somerset Farmers Association To Meet

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — The 706-member Somerset County Farmers' Association will hold its annual meeting Thursday, September 30 at 7 p.m. at the Berlin Community Building.

The agenda will include the election of three directors for the board, one delegate for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau/Farmers' Association held in November, and discussion of and voting on policy resolution.

Ticket prices are $3.50 per member, $1.75 for child 10 and under, and $6.50 for non-members.

Send reservations and correct dollar amount to Deb Rohrbaugh, R.D.#1 Box 274A, Somerset, PA 15501 by September 27. No tickets will be sold at the door.

NORVELT (Westmoreland Co.) — The future of the dairy industry looks bright for Westmoreland County, if the number of young entrants in the 1993 show here is an indication.

Of the 20 entrants crowded into the ring for the spring calf class, 15 were 4-H exhibitors. The total number of 4-H entrants, however, was down slightly — about 100 entrants this year. The open class held steady with 167 entrants.

Each of the 4-H entrants needed to complete a project book as part of their learning experience beyond the preparation and showing of an animal.

Thirty-four blue ribbon merit winners from this show on August 27 were eligible to go on to the district completion held September 4.

"Dairy in Westmoreland County is a $20 million (annual) industry," said Gary Shepherd, Westmoreland County Dairy extension agent. The trend, however, is toward larger but fewer farms. "We have about 210 dairies now, compared to 250 in 1985," he said.

Though stress is created on both the exhibitor and the animal, the dairy show becomes a kind of vacation for many of the farmers, "a kind of break" in the yearly routine, according to Shepherd.

Judge for the show was Curtis Day.

County Preserves 25th Farm

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — On Thursday, July 29, the purchase of an agricultural easement was settled in Berks County. The Berks County Agricultural Land Preservation Board, which administers the purchase of agricultural conservation easements, announced that with this purchase a total of 2,985 acres of prime farmland has been preserved for perpetuity.

Two additional farms have been approved for the Agricultural Conservation Easement Purchase Program but have not yet reached settlement. The total acreage approved for the program exceeds 3,400 acres.

The Berks County program was established, and has been taking applications since September of 1989. The board selects farms which meet the required criteria and score highest in a numerical ranking system which considers soil types, productivity, stewardship, and development pressure.

The 25th farm to have an easement purchased is owned by Myers and Mabel Adam and is located in Perry and Maidencreek Townships. The farm consists of 134 acres of which 132 acres have been committed to the easement program. Hay, corn wheat, and soy beans are the principal crops grown on this farm and their yields are all above average for the county.

The Berks County program is currently considering 92 applications which consists of more than 12,500 acres of farmland. The interest by farmers who want to see their farms preserved has been great.

Custom Farm Seed Names Marketing Director

MOMENCE, Ill. — Custom Farm Seed recently named Dale A. Simpson as its marketing director and general sales manager.

Simpson will be responsible for overall management of product sales and marketing activities throughout the Midwest and East Coast.

Simpson, a veteran of agricultural production, sales and marketing, brings with him a farm background and a bachelor's in business administration. Simpson's previous employment includes management and sales with International Harvester Co., State Farm Mutual Insurance Co., and land management and international agriculture interests with Doane Agricultural Service Co.

According to Brent McKee, CFS president and general manager, "We interviewed a number of candidates for this very important position. With Dale's background and enthusiasm, we feel he's the perfect fit to take us into the next century."

Simpson replaced Lee Scribner, who, before retiring, served as CFS marketing and sales director for 14 years.

Promotion Committee Explores Increasing Beef Checkoff

CHICAGO, Ill. — Concerned about erosion in the buying power of their checkoff dollars, beef producer directors on the Beef Industry Council (BIC) Promotion Committee have encouraged exploration of increasing checkoff investments.

The move was in the form of a resolution made by the Promotion Committee at the National Livestock and Meat Board Annual Meeting, held in Chicago recently.

According to Clark Willingham, promotion committee chairman, there is substantial evidence that the checkoff has been effective. But that effectiveness is being challenged by media inflation straining limited checkoff dollars, as well as promotion competition from other protein sources.

."We've demonstrated that we have the capability to use checkoff dollars wisely to increase demand for beef," said Willingham, a cattleman from Dallas, Texas. "Research shows that our promotion and information programs return about $5.80 for every dollar invested by producers."

The national beef checkoff, which started in 1986, requires that producers remit $1 per head each time cattle are sold. These funds are used in national and state research, promotion and information programs through various organizations, including state beef councils and the Beef Industry Council.

Butch Van Veldhuizen, a beef and dairy producer from Turner, Ore., moved adoption of the resolution, which was unanimously passed by the committee. He said research has established the need for more checkoff-related programs.

"The beef industry isn't close to the $100 million in marketing programs recommended in an analysis conducted two years ago by the marketing firm Booz, Allen & Hamilton," Van Veldhuizen said. "With supplies of beef and competing meats projected to increase substantially over the next several years, we must be aggressive now to keep consumer demand in line with increasing supplies."

The successful advertising placed as a result of checkoff investments is one area that's being threatened not only by the challenge of competing meats, but by media inflation. According to BIC Advertising Subcommittee Chairman Don Sonnier, a beef producer from Bossier City, La., spending on advertising would have to increase significantly just to keep pace with inflation.

"Just with inflation of media placements, we would need to spend $40.8 million this year in order to keep up with our advertising efforts of six years ago," Sonnier said. "Our advertising budget for 1993/94 year is $22.6 million.

"And when you compare that to the poultry industry — which spent $37 million in advertising in 1991/92 — it's obvious we must do more to hold our own in battling to keep our share of the consumer's protein dollar. In fact, in Louisiana the beef industry has approved an additional fifty cent voluntary checkoff above the $1 per head already being collected."

Sonnier pointed out that research has demonstrated the effectiveness of the beef industry's advertising efforts. A study found that consumers intend to eat beef 13 percent more often then they had intended to eat before the advertising campaign began. Assuming these representative consumers follow through on their intent to purchase, this would generate a demand for an additional 1.2 billion pounds of beef.

Already successful foodservice and retail promotions could also be expanded through an increased beef checkoff, according to other beef producers represented on the BIC. Larry Oltjen, a beef producer from Robinson, Kan., said partnerships being created through beef industry foodservice programs would be expanded and enhanced with increased funding.

"We've created successful partnerships with Pizza Hut and Wendy's through our checkoff efforts, but we're just scratching the surface," said Oltjen, subcommittee chairman. "By helping move millions of pounds of additional beef through promotions for the Steak Lover's™ Pizza and Big Bacon Classic™, we're creating additional demand for beef. We'd like to be able to partner with more foodservice operators."

Jane Frost, a beef producer from San Jon, N.M., and chairman of the BIC Retail Subcommittee, agrees that the partnering opportunities that would come with increased funding would build beef demand.

"This past year we offered retailers incentives to increase their beef advertising, with great success," Frost said. "That effort yielded a $30 return on every checkoff dollar used to fund the program. It's difficult to argue with that kind of return on investment."

"We've had to set priorities based on the level of funding available," said Willingham. "Although our track record in beef promotion is outstanding, we could do a more effective job with expanded funding. In addition, the BIC has successfully reduced governance and meetings costs, thus increasing efficiency. That's why our committee is recommending, through this resolution, that the industry take immediate steps to begin a united industry effort to increase the level of investment in the beef checkoff."

In the resolution, the BIC Promotion Committee also encouraged the BIC to challenge other state and national industry organizations to give the funding area high priority.

Intensive Wheat Management Series Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Wheat growers in the Northeast are invited to participate in a series of intensive wheat management programs to be conducted for growers of soft red winter wheat.

The program was developed by Virginia Tech and will be presented in three segments via satellite teleconferences. The series of meetings will be made available to wheat growers in southcentral Pennsylvania by the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Office.

Growers, ag sales representatives, and other persons interested in the production of wheat are invited to attend the series of meetings. All meetings will be held in the basement meeting room of the Lancaster County Farm and Home Center.

The first meeting will be conducted on Wednesday, September 29. This broadcast will concentrate on precision planting, tramlines, variety selection, weed control, the important link between management practices and wheat growth stages, and the importance of a total wheat management package concept. The meeting will begin at 8 a.m. and conclude at noon. The program will include a 30-minute segment where anyone can ask questions of the Virginia Tech specialists. In addition to the teleconference, Penn State Agronomy Department members will be on hand to answer questions of local interest.

The program is available to anyone who has a satellite dish capable of getting C-Band, Telstar 301, Channel 19.

For more information contact Bob Anderson at the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Office (717) 394-6851.

Several Attend District Manager Meetings

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Several Hoffman Seed district managers recently attended a series of manager meetings.

Those attending the meetings included Rob Kauffman, Petersburg, Pa.; Brian Cox, Keymar, Md.; John Itle, Lancaster, Pa.; and Rob Podlaszewski, Greensburg, Pa.

The meetings informed district managers about industry trends, new product developments, sales programs, and production goals.

Details were also released about the new Manheim research station devoted to plant breeding for hybrids ranging from 105-120 days relative maturity.

The keynote speaker for the event was Dan Lehmann, vice president of administration for Ciba Seeds. He talked about biotechnology and its impact on agriculture, specifically with respect to European Corn Borer-resistant corn.

Kauffman has been a district manager since 1988, and is responsible for Hoffman's central Pennsylvania sales territory. Cox has been a district manager since 1991, and is reponsible for Hoffman's western Maryland and south central Pennsylvania sales territories. Itle has been a district manager since 1980, and is responsible for Hoffman's southeastern Pennsylvania sales territory.

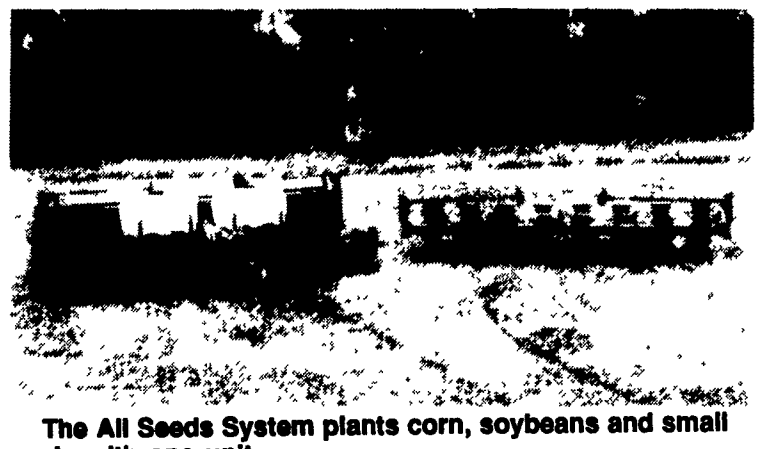
Unit Plants Variety Of Seeds

ASSARIA, Kan. — Great Plains announces a major planting equipment innovation — the All Seeds Planting System. The All Seeds System plants corn, soybeans, and small grain with one unit.

Great Plains' new 3-Point Planter and new 3-Point Drill both work in conjunction with the new All Seeds Hitch, eliminating the need to purchase a second set of coulters and fertilizer equipment.

When planting corn, the All Seeds Hitch and 3-Point Planter provide zone tillage fertilizer application and precise planting. When planting soybeans and small grain, the All Seeds Hitch and 3-Point Drill provide a "fluff-and-plant" seeding system and exclusive fertilizer application options.



The All Seeds System plants corn, soybeans and small grain with one unit.

Great Plains new 3-Point Planter and new 3-Point Drill both work in conjunction with the new All Seeds Hitch, eliminating the need to purchase a second set of coulters and fertilizer equipment.

All Seeds Hitch

The new 15-foot and 20-foot All Seeds Hitch is compatible with the Great Plains 15-foot and 20-foot 3-Point Drill for no-tilling small grain and soybeans, and the Great Plains 6-row and 8-row 3-Point Planter for no-tilling corn.

It features the center pivot design proven on thousands of Great Plains no-till drills for accurate coulter-opener tracking in virtually any terrain.

Two optional 200-gallon fertilizer tanks provide 67 gallons per row of fertilizer on a 6-row unit and also serves as ballast when drilling in tough ground conditions.

3-Point Planter

The new Great Plains 3-Point Planter has a rugged 7-inch x 7-inch mainframe and is available in 6-row and 8-row 30-inch sizes.

Parallel-arm openers provide up to 90-pounds of downpressure per row. Offset opener blades with double bevel design enhance the planter's penetration and residue slicing. Mounted on the sides of each opener are 4-inch x 16-inch depth wheels to provide accurate depth control. An optional Seed-Lok wheel is available for each opener to assure seed-to-soil contact. A choice of 1-inch x 12-inch Double-V closing wheels or two 8-inch closing disks with a 6½ -inch x 12-inch chevron wheel are also available.

Large transparent seed hoppers hold a full two bushels of seed. Corn is metered with the field-proven finger pick-up system. Changing seed rate requires no wrenches.

Equipped with 80 pound-capacity insecticide boxes, the boxes can conveniently be split to hold 40-pounds of insecticide and 40-pounds of herbicide.

For more information, contact Great Plains Mfg., Inc., PO Box 218, Assaria, KS 67416.

Waxy Seed Corn Leader Celebrates Anniversary

MOMENCE, Ill. — Custom Farm Seed celebrated 20 years of service to American agriculture with an open house and plot tours at its headquarters here.

In presenting cofounders J. Brenton McKee, president and general manager, and Jim LaMotte, quality control manager and director of Momence Research, with a commemorative plaque, the Momence Chamber of Commerce recognized the international company's 20 years of business and service to Momence community.

Displays highlighted Custom Farm Seed hybrids and varieties, their production and worldwide distribution; the company's affiliation with National Starch & Chemical Co.; food items whose existence are independent upon Custom Farm Seed waxy corn; and the community contributions made by Custom Farm Seed.

Test plots showcased today's high production lines of waxy corn, dent corn, soybeans, and alfalfa and company research with nitrogen fertilizer, no-till soybeans, and various corn herbicide applications.

In 1973, McKee and LaMotte founded Custom Farm Seed with the singular goal of developing superior waxy seed corn.

"We may not be the largest seed company, but we've become the leader in specialty seed," said McKee. "With our waxy corn, we introduced one of the first value added products from agriculture. Producers who substitute waxy corn for dent corn see higher milk production in dairy cattle and improved rates of gain in beef cattle and hogs.

An affiliation with National Starch and Chemical Company in the mid 1970s found many food manufacturers becoming dependent upon Custom Farm Seed hybrids for the corn starches used in numerous food items, including puddings, pies, and snack foods. Custom Farm Seed specialty hybrids also make possible Eco-FOAM, an environmentally friendly foam packaging "peanut."

Subsoiler Shatters Hardpan, Leaves Soil Structure Intact

LITCHFIELD, Ill. — New Terra Max™ subsoiler from Worksaver, Inc., shatters hardpan at depths up to 20-inches, loosening soil for aeration root penetration, moisture permeation, and soil preparation.

Featuring a narrow shank design of heat treated alloy steel, the Terra Max does not pull dirt up in slabs and dirt clods do not roll forward of shanks. It leaves soil structure intact and raises soil 3 to 5 inches for conditioning without disturbing residue, ensuring that sufficient cover remains to minimize wind and water erosion.

The subsoiler's patented, helically curved forged steel shanks have points which are easily replaced and an angled point tip to help lift soil. Other features include manually adjusted gauge wheels and heavy duty frame with high operating clearance to prevent trash build-up.

The Terra Max is available in two configurations. Terra Max I has a single row of shanks with typical 24-inch shank spacing. The Terra Max II has a double row of shanks with typical 30-inch shank spacing. They can be custom designed for shank spacings for wider and specialty crop applications. Both models are available in 3-pt hitch and pull-type configurations. Sizes range from 8' to 17.5' and in 2 through 8 rows.

Heavy gauge, 20-inch diameter spring loaded coulters provide up to 600-pound down pressure. An optional soil/residue conditioner levels and works crop residue into the ground. Coulters are self-aligning.

For more information, contact Worksaver, Inc., P.O. Box 100, Litchfield, IL 62056-0100, (217) 324-5973.

Seminar Provides Alfalfa Expertise

NAMPA, Idaho — Jim High of P.L. Rohrer & Brother Inc. recently graduated from Alfalfa University located here.

Alfalfa University, developed by America's Alfalfa, is a two-day seminar that provides specific alfalfa expertise to seed sales representatives, who in turn help local growers improve production.

Top university alfalfa experts and forage Extension specialists address timely alfalfa issues, including establishing alfalfa to improve pasture, managing grazing systems, the advantages of grazing alfalfa for beef and dairy production, pest identification, and forage quality.

"Alfalfa University is more than just training," said Dr. Jim Moutray, director of research. "We help them experience first-hand the complex steps involved in producing quality alfalfa seed — alfalfa breeding, pollination, testing, conditioning, and quality control."

IPM Lawn, Garden Workshop Held

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — For years, farmers have complained they get an unfair share of the blame for the conditions that exist in the Chesapeake Bay.

In an attempt to respond to these complaints and to educate the general public, the Keystone Chapter of the Soil And Water Conservation Society, along with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, The Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, the Governor Pinchot Group of the Sierra Club, and the Lancaster County Conservation District cosponsored an IPM-low impact workshop on lawn and garden management aimed at the urban homeowner.

An abbreviated session was held the evening of September 1 in conjunction with the regular meeting of the Sierra Club in Camp Hill. An in-depth session followed the next day from 9 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster.

Billy Mills, bayscapes director, Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, Richmond, Va., lead off with an analysis of the Bay and why it is so sensitive to land management in its tributary watersheds. He stated the Susquehanna contributes 50-percent of the water to a Bay which is 200 miles long, 30 miles wide, and only an average of 30 feet deep. His analogy compared the ratio of length to width to depth and found that all things being equal, the depth would only be the width of three dimes.

Mills pointed out that farmers have many incentives to use pesticides correctly, including the facts that they are the first to feel the effects of mis-use in their health, their water supplies, and their pocketbooks. Urbanites, on the other hand, have no "accounting system" which forces them to be economic in their use of pest control products. Most want to see instant results from their pesticide applications, they don't read or follow the label, tend to follow the axiom "if a little is good, more is better." These attitudes lead to problems for the bay and the consumer.

He outlined several ways for urbanites to help improve the bay through the use of sound landscape practices such as fall fertilization; use of pest-resistant, drought-tolerant landscape species; and use of mulches, cover crops, dwarf fruit trees, etc. Soil testing was strongly recommended to prevent overapplication of fertilizers and lime.

Next on the program was Phil Catron, founding partner of "Naturalawn" lawn care service. Phil stated his company was founded in response to the public's desire for alternatives to pesticide and fertilizer intensive lawn and garden systems. When he and his partner founded the company in 1986, they were looked upon as mavericks in the industry. As a measure of the public's acceptance of this approach, these "mavericks" now have 26 locations in 14 states.

"The 'perfect lawn' doesn't exist!" said Catron. "All lawns have weed, insect, and disease pressures, and the more we try to overcome them, the more problems we have — the more it costs us economically and environmentally."

The secret of success is to understand the biology of the lawn and garden system and try to come to a good balance. We can live with some pests and some weeds. He emphasized identifying and solving lawn and garden "problems" and not to be lulled into treating "symptoms." Many times we try to force something to grow where it is not adapted due to natural soil or site conditions. This wastes time, money, and resources, and leads to frustration. Instead, he suggested looking for alternative plant covers that are adapted to that location. This adds to the diversity and interest to the landscape and reduces costs.

He also emphasized soil testing, stressing that pH is a factor many times overlooked in the urban landscape. Proper pH balances natural systems and allows them to operate more efficiently. Many times we are so intent on modifying natural systems that we destroy the benefit that they provide us at no charge.

Dr. Lee Hellman, entomologist and turfgrass specialist, University of Maryland, College Park, wound up the program with a presentation on the integrated pest management (IPM) system of lawn care. He pointed out that 80-percent of the pesticides are applied to just 10 weeds. He discussed the importance of scouting your lawn on a regular basis to know what is going on and whether treatment is necessary.

He also emphasized the importance of records in managing your lawn, asking questions such as "How are you going to know what is going on today if you have no reference to compare to what went on last week? Is the situation getting better or worse? What did you treat with last year? Was it successful? Were the weather conditions the same? Was the level of control satisfactory?"

Hellman discussed a wide range of topics, including the importance of using resistant varieties of grass, diversity of plant covers in the landscape, beneficial insects, fertility practices, mowing height, sharpness of mower knives, drought resistant plant covers, etc.

The interest of workshop attendees was such that the session ran one and one half hours over the allotted time.

Sponsors are considering presenting the program in several other locations across Pennsylvania next February and March to educate other urbanites on the lawn and garden alternatives available and their role in the improvement of water quality and the environment.

Wayne County Holds Livestock Show, Sale

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The 1993 Wayne County Fair was the host for the most successful 4-H livestock show and sale in the history of Wayne County 4-H.

The 4-H Sheep Show began with the showmanship contest. Champion showman went to Valerie Ebert, winner of the junior division. Reserve champion showman went to Joshua Gustock, intermediate division winner.

In the 4-H Sheep Breeding Show, Jennifer Rickert exhibited the champion and reserve champion Hampshire ewes. The champion Suffolk ewe was shown by Thomas Ebert.

In the market lamb show, 41 lambs were paraded before judge Chris Herr. Garnering grand champion honors was Earl Marshall with his 119-pound Suffolk lamb. Reserve grand champion honors went to Andrew Korb with a 118-pound Dorset.

Judge Ken Winebark placed 30 very competitive steers in the 4-H Market Steer Show. Grand champion honors went to Scott Lewis, showing a 1,245-pound Maine Anjou/Angus steer. Reserve grand champion went to Nick Nebzydoski with a 1,065-pound Simmental.

Every beef exhibitor also participated in a fitting and showing competition. Grand champion fitter was won by Scott Lewis while reserve champion fitter went to Charles Megivern. In the showmanship contest, champion showman honors went to Holly Marshall, and reserve champion went to Scott Lewis.

4-H Beef Breeding Show results: Dexter: champion - Eric Smith; Highland: champion - Jimmy Bannon and reserve - Renee' Bannon; and Simmental: champion - Charles Megivern and reserve - Luke Megivern.

The 4-H Market Hog Show in Wayne County has become one of the largest and most competitive market hog shows in all of Pennsylvania. Swine judge Keith Bryan was very impressed with the quality of the 133 market hogs that he sorted through.

After a long hard day, Jimmie Ann Chyle's 247-pound crossbred was named grand champion. Reserve grand champion honors went to Beth Nebzydoski with her 254-pound hog.

Market Hog Results: Division 1 champion - D.J. Bortree and reserve champion - Emily Bryant; Division 2 champion - Jessica Chyle and reserve champion - Carrie Bryant; Division 3 champion - Erin Kilker and reserve champion - Scott Lewis; Division 4 champion - Holly Marshall and reserve champion - Jason Donofry; Division 5 champion - Jimmie Ann Chyle and reserve champion - Beth Nebzydoski; grand champion - Jimmie Ann Chyle; and reserve grand champion - Beth Nebzydoski.

Seventy-seven 4-H members participated in the swine fitting and showing contest. Judge Rick Smith said that this was one of the most competitive contests he had ever judged. Grand champion fit-

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels.
- Improved energy density of your rations.
- Excellent quality control.
- Exchange programs with feed mills.
- Economical storage, rolling and grinding available.
- We also buy corn and soybeans

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Chester County Conservation District is requesting bids for the construction of an Agricultural Waste Storage System to be funded in part by the Chesapeake Bay Program. Construction of this project is expected to begin during October 1993. The site is located in West Sadsbury Township, Chester County.

The site showing is scheduled for 10:00 AM September 29, 1993. Prospective contractors will receive a bid package consisting of instructions to bidders, a sample contract form, the plans and specifications for the project and a bid sheet. Small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises are encouraged to respond to this invitation for bids.

Sealed bids will be accepted until the public bid opening at 10:00 AM on October 6, 1993, in the Chester County Conservation District office.

To obtain a bid package or more information contact the Chester County Conservation District at:

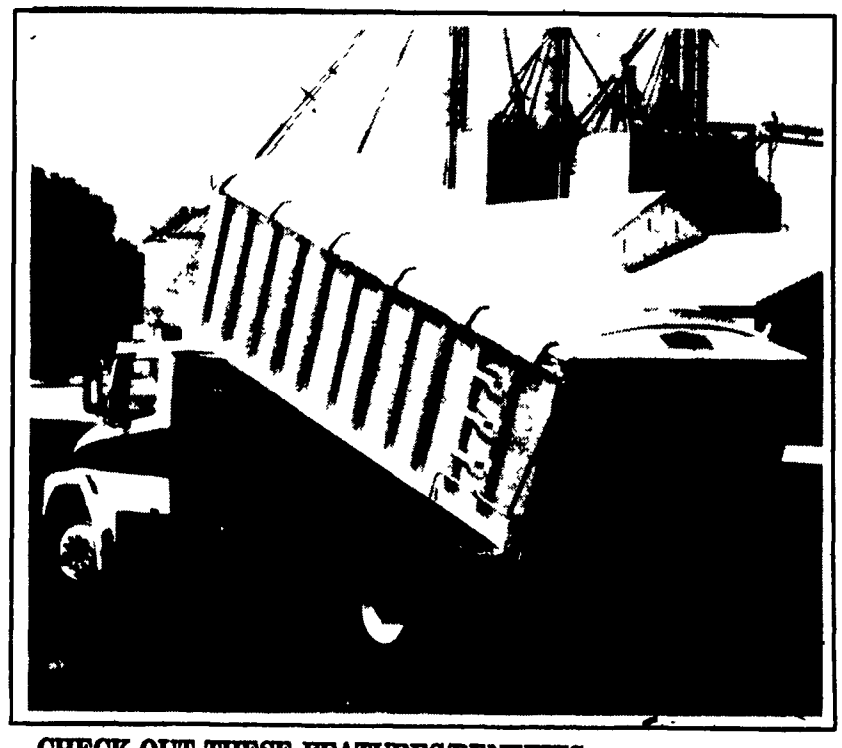
In grain bodies, aluminum makes Sense.



Eby Aluminum Agri-Dump Bodies pay off in dependable long-term service. Their all-aluminum construction means:

- Greater payload efficiency
- Maintenance-free service
- Substantially higher resale value.

Eby's time-tested design is available in lengths to 24' for grain bodies and 10½ ' for general purpose dump bodies. A long list of standard features such as tarp rail, built-in steps, aerodynamic uprights and Harsh hoist is complemented by a full range of custom options, including tailgates, Wahpeton tarps and grain chutes.
When you select your next grain body or general purpose dump body, consider the value that aluminum offers. It's a worry-free investment in your future.

CHECK OUT THESE FEATURES/BENEFITS

- Up to 40% lighter than steel, for greater payload
- Designed for long life
- Resale value
- Corrosion resistant, never needs painting
- Appearance to complement any truck
- Complete list of popular options, including tailgates, tarps and sides.

Corn Grower President Has Model Conservation Farm
EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.)— If weeds are not controlled you are going to get a greatly reduced crop. The most single limiting factor in corn production is water and weeds take it.
The author of this quote Grant Troop president Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers knows how to grow a good crop. But he is also very anymore. Many of the earlier chemicals I didn't use anyway because of the suspicion of danger. I use all the safeguards and recommendations on the label and I feel I'm doing a safe job of farming. It works for me.
Troop graduated from Penn State with a degree in agronomy in 1973 and immediately started to work the family farm west of Georgetown. Before his time the farm was a concentrated livestock operation and there were only four large fields on the farm. These fields contained

We didn't do anything special
The three Glenn brothers Richard 43 Dave 39 and Mike 36 farm in partnership about five miles south of McConnellsburg. They purchased the cows and machinery from their father Ralph in 1977 and rent 600 acres from him. They farm a total of 720 acres and milk 137 cows.
While not all their fields equalled the 213 bushel yield 50 acres on the home farm averaged 185 195 bushels to the acre while the rest of the

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs

More Than $129 Million in Extra Payments

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past six years, we returned more than $129 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $36,600 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.7 million a month.

Robert B. McSparran
President

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

Kessler Named Franklin County Extension Director

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Robert J. Kessler has been named county extension director for Penn State Cooperative Extension in Franklin County. He succeeds John Shearer, who retired July 1.

Dr. Paul Wangsness, director of the Capitol Region of Penn State Cooperative Extension, announced Kessler's appointment. "I am delighted that Bob has accepted this very important assignment in Franklin County," Wangsness said. "He will be a fine addition to our administrative team.

"His knowledge of the county and broad experience will be a definite asset as we strive to offer relevant educational programs and assistance to Franklin County's citizens."

Kessler began his career with Penn State Cooperative Extension in 1969 as assistant county agent with responsibilities in the dairy area. In 1971 he assumed duties in 4-H/youth development and has continued to work in that area to the present. He was instrumental in the establishment of the Franklin County 4-H Center.

Kessler was promoted to senior extension agent in 1984. In addition to assuming the county extension director role, Kessler will take over Franklin County's agronomy and plant science programs. A new agent will be hired to handle 4-H/youth development programs.

Kessler earned a bachelor's degree in extension education from Cornell University and a master's degree in agronomy from the University of Maryland. He has done postgraduate work in business management at Frostburg State University in Maryland.

Because of his expertise in youth development and 4-H work, he often serves on local, regional, and state extension communities. He is a member of the National Association of 4-H Agents. He has held various leadership roles in the association and has received its National Achievement Award. He also serves on the Pennsylvania Council on Horseback Riding for the Handicapped.

Kessler is a member of several community groups. He serves as president of Straight Love, an organization that helps teens and parents troubled by alcohol and drugs.

W. Va. State Fair Draws 139 Angus Entries

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Joe Bales, Knoxville, Tennessee, served as the judge for the 139 Angus entries that were paraded at the 1993 West Virginia State Fair Angus Show. The event was held August 17 in Lewisburg, W. Va.

Taking home the grand champion bull honors was R & J Majestic 1121, an April 1991 son of R&J Maxima. This senior champion winner is jointly owned by Whitestone Farm, Aldie, Virginia, 21st Century Genetics, Shawano, Wisconsin; and Benson Angus Farms, Irwin, Iowa.

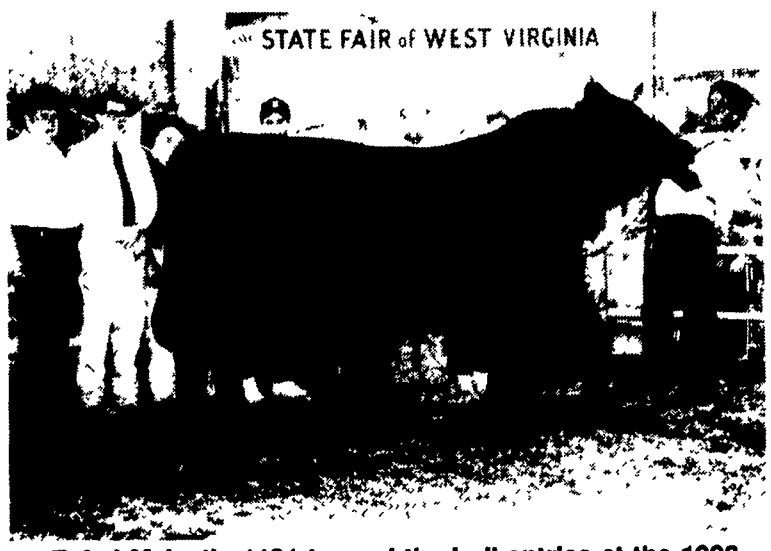
The reserve grand champion bull was Hale O Goliath. This October 1991 son of TC Stockman is owned by Hale O Farms Inc., Bland, Virginia. He was also the reserve senior champion bull.

In the heifer competition, Whitestone Blackbird 2164 was the winning entry. She is a September 1992 daughter of Ellanin Sky Diver. She was named the senior heifer calf champion before winning the grand honors. She is owned by Whitestone Farm, Aldie, Virginia.

Capturing the reserve grand champion female title was Sycamore Creek Ark Pride 502. This March 1992 junior champion winner is sired by Leachman Tonto. She is owned by Q B Land & Cattle Company, Caldwell, Ohio.

Whitestone Blackbird 2164 was named the grand champion female at the 1993 West Virginia State Fair Angus Show in Lewisburg. Whitestone Farm, Aldie, Virginia, owns this September 1992 daughter of Ellanin Sky Diver. She was also the senior heifer calf champion winner. Breeders exhibited 139 entries in the show.

Justafew Bonnie Jaye 9 and her March 1993 bull calf were chosen as the grand champion cow-calf pair at the 1993 West Virginia State Fair Angus Show in Lewisburg. The cow is a January 1991 daughter of Leachman Tonto, and the calf is sired by S A F Power Fix. They are owned by Ann Ogle, Max Meadows, Virginia.



R & J Majestic 1121 topped the bull entries at the 1993 West Virginia State Fair Angus Show in Lewisburg. This April 1991 son of R&J Maxima was previously named the senior champion winner. He is jointly owned by Whitestone Farm, Aldie, Virginia; 21st Century Genetics, Shawano, Wisconsin; and Benson Angus Farms, Irwin, Iowa. Breeders exhibited 139 entries in the competition.

Deere Introduces Mower/Conditioner

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has introduced a new family of mower/conditioners (MoCos) that replace the 1219 sicklebar and the 1360, 1460, and 1470 rotary models.

The new 800 and 900 Series MoCos provide improved flotation from a new 3-point suspension system, simple adjustments, and easy serviceability. The rotary MoCos feature a new John Deere designed-and-built modular cutterbar that provides durable, reliable performance and serviceability advantages.

The model 820 sicklebar MoCo has a 9-foot 9-inch cutting width, the widest in its class, and 6 inches wider than the model 1219 it replaces. The 920 rotary MoCo also has a 9-foot 9-inch cut. The larger 930 rotary MoCo features a cutting width of 11 feet 6 inches. The rotary models are available with either impeller or urethane-roll conditioning. The 820 features urethane-roll conditioning.

The new 3-point suspension system optimizes platform flotation for smooth cutting performance. Float adjustments are made with a built-in handcrank on each end of the carrier frame. A simple turnbuckle (or optional rachet) located on the third suspension point makes adjusting cutterbar angle a one-step process. In addition to float and cutterbar angle, roll pressure and windrow width can also be adjusted without tools.

An angled-tongue design enhances the maneuverability of the MoCos and eliminates the need for an equal-angle hitch. A "Power-Cushion" spring capsule in the front section of the tongue protects the telescoping hookup and the tractor PTO. The spring in the power cushion compresses if the tractor hookup "bottoms out," for example, during a turn while climbing a steep incline. Tongue and lift-cylinder locks are provided for transport, servicing, and storage.

The new slip clutch in the main drive sheave, located at the primary gearcase, has new metallic linings for increased reliability and durable performance. The linings are moisture-resistant to minimize the potential for seizing, a condition often associated with organic linings.

The model 820 features a 5-bar reel that provides increased visibility to crop flow through the platform. The computer-designed, cast-iron reel cam enhances smooth reel operation for improved crop delivery. Reel cam adjustments for matching crop release to crop conditions are easy to make by repositioning one bolt. For easy access to the cutterbar, one of the five reel bars has a quick-release feature that permits it to be pivoted out of the way when servicing or inspecting cutterbar components.

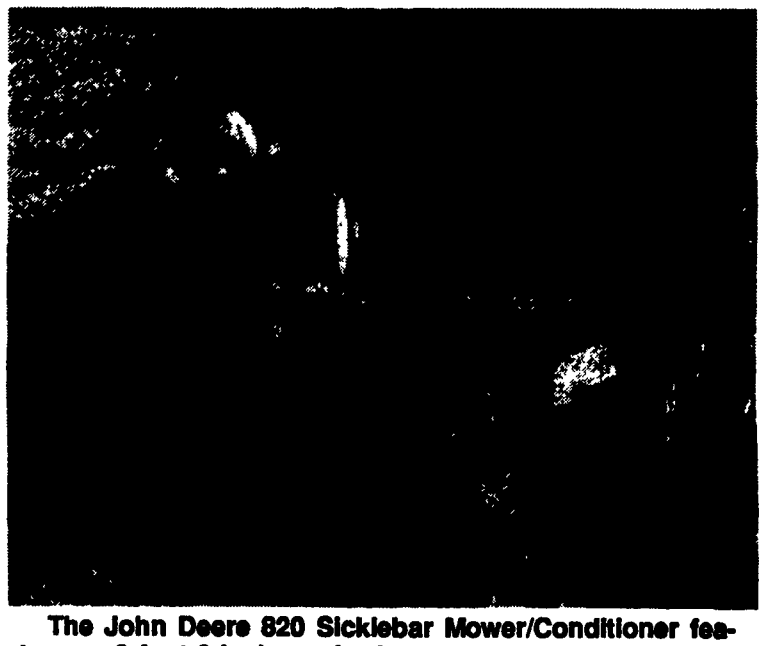
New double-hardened, two-tine, narrow-profile guards provide improved crop penetration and expose more of the knife section to the crop for clean cutting in difficult conditions. Non-clog guards are also available. The enclosed knife drive operates in oil to minimize wear and eliminates the need for additional lubrication or adjustments. Knife speed is 1,650 strokes per minute for smooth cutting.

The 820's low-profile transition deck helps crop flow smoothly from the cutterbar to the urethane conditioning rolls. The rolls are gear driven to ensure proper roll timing, smooth operation, and reliable performance.

The exclusive urethane conditioning rolls have intermittent recessed cleats that provide more crimping edges than typical chevron-style rolls for fast, uniform crop dry-down. The molded urethane rolls are formed at low temperatures so the steel cores of the rolls remain "arrow" straight. The result is straight rolls that can be accurately adjusted for consistent clearance, which promotes uniform dry-down.

The 920 and 930 rotary MoCos feature a new modular cutterbar that is designed and built by John Deere. The cast-iron modules provide durability and strength. Should repair work ever be needed, the modules can be serviced or replaced individually.

The modules are bolted to a reinforcement member across the rear of the cutterbar for added strength. Steel plates located on the top and bottom of the cutterbar provide protection.



The John Deere 820 Sicklebar Mower/Conditioner features a 9-foot 9-inch cut for increased productivity and a 3-point suspension system that optimizes platform flotation and simplifies guard angle adjustments. The standard 5-bar reel and low-porfile transition deck help provide a smooth material flow to the exclusive urethane conditioning rolls.

The large-capacity oil reservoir gives the cutterbar improved cooling and tolerance to varying oil levels. A convenient sight glass at each end of the cutterbar makes checking the oil level easy. A rubber seal between the modules helps maintain the integrity of the system.

The module transmits power to the cutting disk through a splined driver hub. If the cutting disk receives a severe impact, the splines inside the hub will shear, interrupting power to the disk to help protect the internal components of the cutterbar.

The 920's cutterbar uses six cutting disks. The 930's cutterbar uses seven disks. Each disk has two reversible, interchangeable knives and produces a knife tip speed of 191 mph at 2,650 rpm.

An access hole in the front of each half-moon-shaped disk protector provides an easy way to reverse or change the knives from

INVESTMENT CONSIDERATIONS

Roland Freund
Penn State
Regional Farm
Management Agent

In this column last May we discussed methods of expanding the dairy herd.

The options of rapid expansion and closed-herd expansion were analysed, and the conclusion was that in most cases the slower process with investments staggered over time will be far less risky. Once a modernization or an expansion program gets to the planning phase, a whole host of possibilities jump to mind.

In recent months I have been looking at construction plans which, if implemented, will result in new debt of more than $6,000 per cow — just for cow housing and parlors. Such situations suggest that our dairy managers are in danger of allowing modern technology to lead them down the risky path of overcapitalization.

It was too much investment for too little profit that led to the "Farm Crisis" of the 1980s, and we don't want a repeat of that in Pennsylvania in this decade.

The profitiable farms in this decade will be those which can achieve good production through cow comfort and health, with labor efficiency, capital efficiency, and economical waste handling. There are many ways of doing these things, and every dairy farm has to compromise on some of these parameters in order to maintain profits.

Waste handling

New legislation has brought this factor to the forefront of the planning process. It is important to develop a plan of how this resource will be managed, handled, and used in the total farming operation. Sticking to such a plan can reduce investment in the system, improve crop uptake of nutrients, reduce labor bottle-necks in the spreading process, and minimize storage overflow crises.

Cow comfort and health

The basic requirements for cows are a clean environment with shade in summer and wind protection in the winter.

New concepts are open and naturally ventilated buildings, rather than the old insulated and mechanically ventilated ones. Careful design can reduce construction costs and eliminate the need to add costly ventilation systems to correct problems which are almost inevitable in enclosed strucures.

Labor efficiency and convenience

The design of facilites and systems will have a big impact on labor. Each component of the system and each task needs to be examined to avoid extravagant spending on one component or the other.

More capital does not always mean less labor. Bottom unloading silos may have some advantages, but labor inefficiency and operating costs have made them obsolete in some setups.

Milk in less than two hours?

The parlor seems to get the most attention when it comes to labor.

In the old days of single family operations, it might have been necessary to "quit work to come in and milk." So people had good reason to reduce time devoted to that "chore."

In any dairy with more than two operators, milking needs to be a specific assignment which should not interfere with field operations. Parlor sizing should be based not on the entire herd, but on each group that is to be milked.

In high-producing herds with three times a day milking, some suggest that it is prudent to get each cow back to feed in less than one hour. By careful design of parlor and grouping of cows in the housing, such a goal can be accomplished even with quite modest parlors.

A parlor which operates four or six hours per milking will be more capital efficient than a big-bucks model which gets the job done in two.

Capital or labor

In the planning process, it is important to keep capital and labor expenses in perspective. If capital for equipment and facilities can be obtained at 8 percent with repayment over 10 years, then a labor-saving investment of $86,000 will break even only if it reduces total labor costs by $1,000, or more per month.

This means that, all other considerations being equal, we are better off if we hire labor for $1,000 per month than to pay out $90,000 to eliminate it. But if we can save $1,000 per month with an investent of $80,000 or less, then that investment can be justified on the grounds of labor savings.

Communal efforts

Given the astronomical investments in new technology, the small single-family operation runs great risks when it attempts to modernize.

But failure to modernize can also lead to poor profitability and eventual termination of the business.

To maintain total independance and rugged individualism may be ideals which will have to be suppresssed for the sake of survival in the future.

Extended families and groups of farmers might have to return to business arrangements which foster pooling of capital and labor resources for greater efficiency. This might include not only equipment and labor for field activities, but even animal housing and milking parlors.

Budgets are critical

For greater chance of success, every plan requires an open mind and the evaluation of many alternatives. Then careful cash-flow budgeting can avoid making mistakes in concrete.

the front of the machine. A bolt-on shield protects the knife mounting hardware from wear, making removal easy.

Impeller conditioning in the rotary machines features a rotating shaft with a series of free-swinging tines that move the crop through the machine. Conditioning occurs as stems rub together and against the adjustable conditioning hood. As the stems' waxy layer is removed, moisture is allowed to escape.

A single lever permits lowering the hood for more thorough conditioning or raising it for lighter conditioning. Also, the two drive gears for the impeller rotor can be easily interchanged to adjust rotor speed for more effective conditioning in certain crops.

Urethane-roll conditioning, like in the 820 sicklebar machine, is also available in the rotary models.

The John Deere factory in Ottumwa, Ia., is scheduled to begin shipments of the new 800 and 900 Series MoCos in February.

More information about the machines is available from John Deere farm equipment dealers.

J-Star Honors Rovendale Ag & Barn Equipment

The elite MVP Award (major volume performer) recognizes the company's top dealers who have achieved gold, silver, or bronze levels of sales and performance objectives during 1992.

The presentation took place at J-Star's Regional Dealer Meeting held in Carlisle.

The meeting gave North American dealers an opportunity to hear about new products, innovations, and programs which J-Star Industries will be featuring for the balance of 1993.

Versatility Champ!

With a horsepower rating for maximum 200 hp, the Gehl 1060 features exclusive patented spinner delivery system that "jets" material from cylinder to blower in a continuous flow. Other features include overrunning clutch; in-head hydraulic knife sharpener that allows in-field knife sharpening and refacing of cutterbar, using tractor hydraulics, and single-station cutterbar adjustment. Auto-Max system, speed monitor, metal detector, haylage water tank optional! It's totally versatile! Make us prove it with a demonstration.

EVEN WHEN IT'S EMPTY...IT'S LOADED!

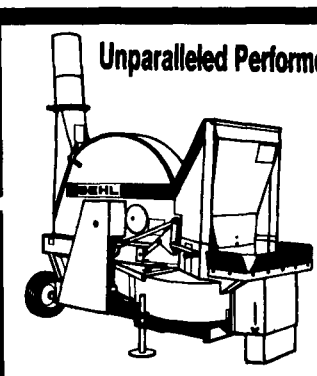
GEHL

Thoroughly Conditioned

The Gehl 2140/2170 mower conditioners will thoroughly condition your hay. These pull-type mower conditioners are built for fast cutting, fast drying and worry-free performance. The wide, intermeshing rubber rolls with intermittent ribs give you 35% more working edges than continous-ribbed rolls, for more thorough conditioning. That means shorter drying time with less leaf damage. See your Gehl dealer today on how the 2140, with a 7 ft. cutting width, and the 2170 with a 9 ft. 3 in. cutting width will fit into your haymaking operation.

Unparalleled Performers



The ultimate forage blowers are here - the Gehl 1640, 1660 and 1680. These blowers have been developed around the high capacity tradition of famous Gehl blowers. In addition to unmatched capacity, these blowers boast many convenience features - swing-away blower outlet, removable tunnel covers, replaceable rim sheet liner, adjustable left axle, quick-adjust air vents, PTO storage hanger and more. PUT A GEHL BLOWER TO THE TEST ON YOUR FARM TODAY!

Infinite cutting width adjustments make the new Case International 7500 semi-mounted moldboard plow your perfect choice for heavy duty plowing of rolling or contoured land Or for adjusting to varying soils.

You can vary furrow cuts from 14 to 22 inches (356 to 559 mm), so if you turn over cornstalks at 18" (457 mm) or sod with a 14" (356 mm) cut, one plow is all you need. Also simplifies closing dead furrows and finishing headlands. Manual or hydraulic for 4 to 7 bottom plowing.

The 7500 plows also feature exclusive Earth Metal® moldboards —the kind that withstand up to 50% more deflection than conventional moldboards without breaking.

Check out the difference a custom cut can make in your fields. Stop in today.

Just Arrived - New Spring Auto-Reset 4 Bottom Model 7500 Heavy Duty Moldboard Plows To Work Contours Or Flatlands.

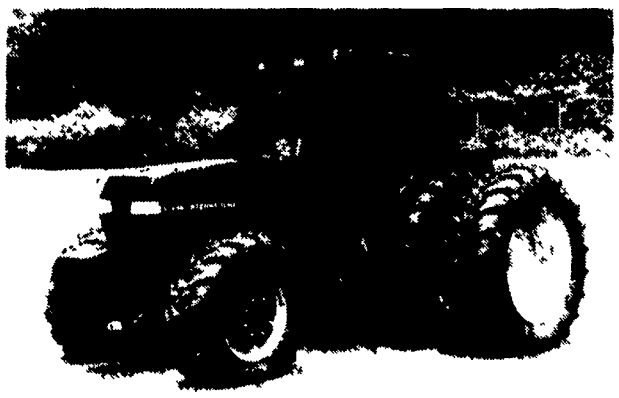
MAKE BINKLEY & HURST YOUR CASE IH DEALER & REAP THE BENEFITS OF A DEALER WHO TRIES HARDER!

case ih

THREE YEARS AGO, WE SET THE STANDARD. NOW WE'RE RAISING IT: INTRODUCING THE NEW 5200 SERIES MAXXUM® LINE.

NEW HP RATINGS From 80 To 90 To 100 To 112



THIS NEW 5250, 112 HP TRACTOR IS IN AND READY TO GO TO THE FARMER WHO WANTS IT THE BEST!

This New 112 HP Model 5250 Is Here

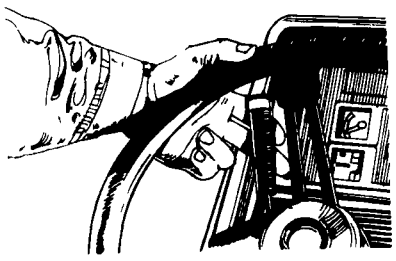
And Would You Believe The Competition Has Tried To Copy The Case IH Maxxum & Magnum Tractor Lines... But OOPS! They Didn't Make It! This Proves That Case IH Is Truly The Tractor Industry Leader!

① We Still Have Transmissions Made Out Of Real Iron — NOT Aluminum.

② Our Maxxum Tractor Line Weighs Almost 1 Ton More Than Most Competitive Brands In The Same HP Class.

③ Case IH Maxxum Tractors Are Still The Only Tractor Made With A True Shuttle Shift That Is Operated By Your Left Hand Which Also Operates Your Steering. This Leaves Your Right Hand Free To Operate Loader Controls, Aux. Hydraulics & Other Operating Functions.

THE MAXXUM® SHUTTLE SHIFT: IT'S NEVER BEEN EASIER TO MAKE ALL THE RIGHT MOVES.



While it may be tough to choose between the four new Case International 5200 Series MAXXUM tractors now available, one thing is certain. No matter which model you select, the industry's top shuttle-shift system comes standard. ■ And that means high-volume, high-speed loader work has never been easier. With the flip of a fingertip, your MAXXUM shuttles quickly and decisively from forward to reverse, or vice versa, without clutching. ■ The MAXXUM shuttle-shift is active between the first 12 forward speeds and the corresponding 12 reverse speeds, allowing shuttle shifts at forward speeds of more than eight mph and reverse speeds of more than 10 mph. ■ "Shuttle-shift" a new 5200 Series MAXXUM tractor yourself. Coming or going, there's never been anything like it.

④ Case IH Tractors Feature American Styling, NOT Italian Like Competition Has Compromised To.

JUST ARRIVED! WE HAVE A NEW CASE IH MODEL 5220, 80 HP, AND A NEW MODEL 5230 IN STOCK! ALSO...SEE BINKLEY & HURST FOR NEW CASE IH 5100 SERIES DEMO TRACTORS AT REDUCED PRICES - LET'S GET TOGETHER NOW!

There's nothing more important to a crop than early, even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheel and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers.

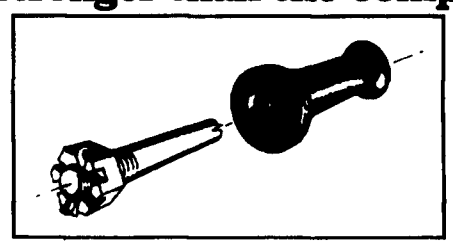
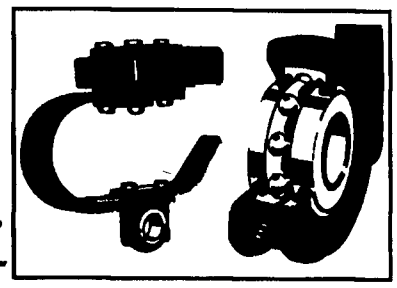
KRAUSE 4900 DISCS WORK!

Here's why Farmers choose KRAUSE over the competition...

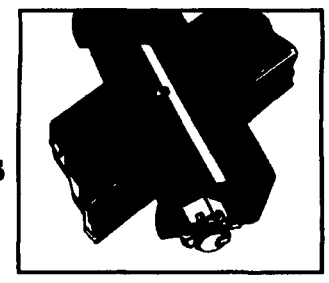
HEAVY DUTY GANGS

1. Cold rolled alloy steel tie rod, ½" diameter is up to 70% stronger than the competition's. Ductile iron spools are the strongest cast material in the industry. This produces a gang that is virtually unbendable.
2. Krause uses cross-rolled, high carbon Ingersol blades which are unmatched in the industry for durability.
3. Nuts at both ends of the tie rod make service easier.
4. 2½" wide by 1" thick C-arms are heavier than the competition.
5. Krause's regreasable super-seal bearings are triple-sealed to keep dirt out and provide long life. The bearings are encased in rubber - a unique Krause feature - to absorb shock in all directions.
6. The furrow-filler is shear-bolt protected so that if you catch something with the rear gang you don't bend the tie-rod. You just replace the shear-bolt and you're back to work.
7. Krause engineered the double-offset design that cuts out the center ridge without a center tooth.

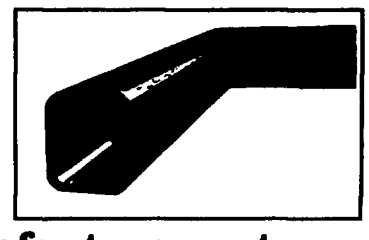




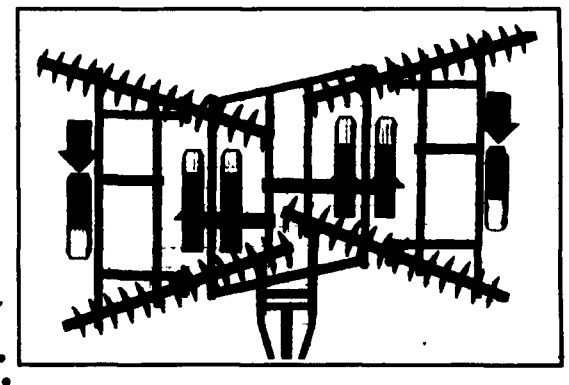
HEAVY DUTY FRAME



1. 3" x 5" frame with gangs bolted to the underside of the frame for extra durability - compared to integrated construction techniques where gangs are welded onto frame.
2. Big 1½" x 15" wing hinge bolt provides for extra durability needed to withstand years of rigorous wing flexing.
3. Two sets of tongue leveling springs to provide stability to you disc in rough conditions. Plus helps to eliminate wear when putting packer on rear of disc.
4. 6½" rocker-shaft - the biggest in the industry! Provides more wear surface and strength in transport to give your disc longer life and safer transport.



UNIQUE WHEEL ARRANGEMENT



1. This special wheel arrangement saves fuel by helping to prevent gouging.
2. In raised postion the center and wing wheels on each side line-up for better turning characteristics.
3. In field position the center wheels move backward as the wing wheels move forward - providing more uniform depth-gauging of front wing gangs without the use of gauge wheels.
4. Heavy-duty regreasable wheel hubs & big 10.00x15 8 ply tires.

It's time for you to try a KRAUSE 4900 Disc on your farm.
See for yourself how they WORK and WORK and WORK...

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes drier. Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

The VA 500 automatic feeder, simple and functional

Individual feeding for yield and quality

The VA 500 can be programmed to increase daily ration automatically up to a new maximum. The increase is very gradual with consequent beneficial effect on feed utilisation and health. As milk yield decreases towards the end of the lactation you can instruct the feeder to automatically and gradually decrease the daily ration to nil over whatever period you choose. Once a week or so amendments may be programmed into account for the current milking situation (new cows calved or dry etc.). All other instructions can be entered at any time to coincide with the receipt of figures from milk recordings and analysis. The VA 500 saves a lot of labour and time working out new rations.

Vicon

Concentrates correction for all livestock

When there is a sudden change to bulk feed intake (for example because of bad weather or a switch to a different quality of silage) rations can be adjusted for the whole herd by making a single entry on the controlling keyboard. This has proved to be particularly easily accomplished and prevents fluctuations in production.

Normal cleaning across slopes

3-D in operation

COMBINING SLOPES THE MF 3-D CLEANING SYSTEM

With the MF-3-D cleaning system, the crop is distributed evenly across the full width of the sieves, performance remains stable and output maintained.

The 3-D cleaning system provides dynamic slope compensation which means that the upper sieve moves sideways against the slope of the hill. The degree and direction of these movements depend on the inclination of the slope. Quick reaction and of course equal performance in any direction on slopes of up to 20%.

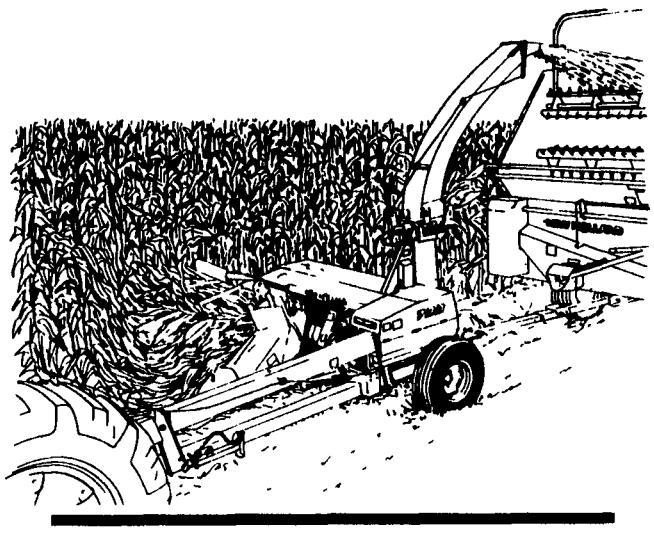
MODEL 790



HIGH PERFORMANCE LOW HASSLES

The high performance of the Model 790 forage harvester starts with the massive 12-knife cutterhead. It delivers a fine, uniform chop for high quality feed. The "790" is built tough to keep chopping season after season. And routine maintenance is easy to keep hassles to a minimum. Stop in and see for yourself.

USED TRACTOR PRICE GUIDE

1993 EDITION

For over 43 years, Intertec has made a business of knowing the used equipment market. That's why we're able to offer you comprehensive tractor pricing, specification and loan value information. Introducing the 1993 Used Tractor Price Guide. Covering over 25 manufacturer's models from 1970-1992, this handy reference provides you with detailed information on engine size, transmission speeds, PTO hp, drawbar hp, shipping weight, approximate retail price when new, estimated trade-in values (high and low) and more. You'll also find special sections covering tractor serial numbers and their locations. So if you're buying or selling a tractor... or just interested in model specifications, turn to the 1993 Used Tractor Price Guide for complete reference information. 1993 editions/5.5x8" softbound/200 pgs.

FORD NEW HOLLAND

ABC GROFF Since 1890 The Name You Can Trust

Ford "30 Series" Model 5030

4 Cy - 62 HP Tractor

North America's leading tractor line offers you more:

- Hydrostatic steering. Easier handling, durable, responsive.
- Improved front axles. Both two-and four-wheel drive axles, stronger, durable.
- Transmission. Choose the 8x2 or the 8x8 shuttle... the perfect loader transmission, or the deluxe 16x8 Dual Power.

IN STOCK - $19,900 F.O.B. New Holland

Seeing is believing

Every minute you can save at the blower means more loads per day and more overall productivity. Let us demonstrate the New Holland Model 40 forage blower and we believe you'll agree you can increase your silage productivity.

The Model 40, with 20 percent greater tip speed than previous models, center fills silos over 80 feet high. The Whirl-A-Feed® table spins the crop into the blower housing at high speed, making more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.

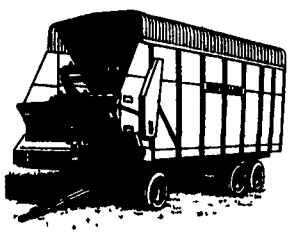
Haul, unload your forage faster



You can unload any crop quickly and efficiently with the new big-capacity Models 816 and 818 forage boxes from Ford New Holland. Roller chain drive provides unloading speeds of 3.0 and 7.1 feet-per-minute. And tough Duraply sides flex under heavy loads for season-after-season dependability. The "816" and "818" unload from the front and come standard with three self-aligned beaters and baked-enamel galvanized roof. For a closer look, stop in and see us about this new forage box.

Total performance for big crop harvesting

You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut, high-quality forage. Other features on the "900" include:

- Optional Metalert® II electronic metal detector— protects cutterhead and your valuable animals.
- Electromagnetic clutches—give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Easy-adjust shearbar—makes adjustment fast and precise.

Save hay Save money

NH 144 Windrow Inverter

LEFTOVER - SPECIAL PRICE!
FOB New Holland

The New Holland Model 144 windrow inverter can save your hay crop by turning it over to dry, without losing valuable leaves. Get your hay out of the field sooner, before it rains. Or, if it's been rained on, dry it quickly and gently. Make your hay more valuable with the "144".

Go with a proven winner!

There's a name for people who won't settle for second best

We decided a long time ago that "good enough" wasn't. So we made a commitment to excellence and haven't let up since. We met tough criteria set by John Deere to provide excellent customer service.

That's why we've been named a John Deere Super Service Dealer. It means a lot to us, and even more to you. It says your agricultural machinery is in the hands of a team who meets the very highest standards. People who really care about what they do.

Your trust is important to us, because your business is important to us. That's what being a Super Service Dealer is all about.

Super Service Dealer. It's more than just a name.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

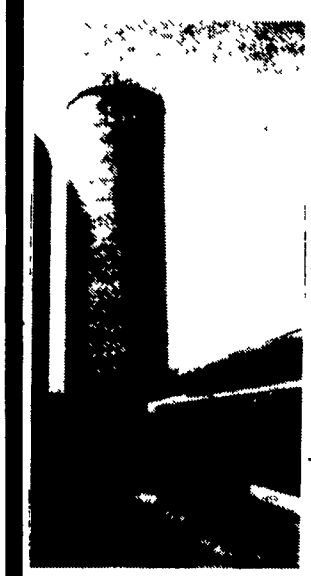
B.T.U.

"BUY THIS UNIT", or one like it to store your high-moisture shelled corn and save a lot of energy. With the cool spring and slow start for a lot of corn fields, this may be another harvest season coming up when the corn dries slowly...



20x72' About 17,000 Bu. Capacity Shelled Corn Poured Concrete, No Used Silos, No Rebuilt Silos, No Preowned Silos

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY (B.T.U.'s) TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Lets discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

+4625 Lbs. Milk +185 Lbs. Milk Fat +155 Lbs. Milk Protein

In 29 Months On Purina Maxi-Tech 40

Rodney credits his success to:

- ★ Overall improvement in Management
- ★ Better forage quality
- ★ Better feeding program
- ★ High energy concentrate, Purina Maxi-Tech 40
- ★ Good advice/service from Purina Dairy Specialist

FEEDING PROGRAM

Producer Comments:

- Milk special is just a nice feed. It's consistent and cows clean it up better than anything I've tried
- Tried a cheaper feed but we lost milk & money
- We started top dressing Purina Ultimate EXT 32 two weeks ago and are very interested to see how we can do with it.
- We really appreciate the dedication our Purina salesman shows; he's there when we need him and looks out for our interests.
- Herd health has been good (knocks on wood) Haven't had a D.A. in a year and a half.

* Bob left the Purina Milk Special Program in an attempt to reduce feed costs. Losses in milk value greatly exceeded cost savings.

KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION NEWS

FARM SHOW COMPLEX, HARRISBURG, PA

September 30 to October 4, 1993

The show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission.

Published in Lancaster Farming, September 18, 1993

KILE Qualifies For North American Six-Horse Classic Series

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In 1993, over 200 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exhibition is again a qualifying show for the 1993 year. Prize money will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has been chosen as one of 45 recognized Qualifying shows on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at Qualifying Shows spread across Canada and the United States. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

John Cole's Pennwoods Percherons demonstrate the six-horse hitch. The North American classic series is part of KILE.

The stated goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, thereby expanding development of the draft breed industry". Thirteen Six-Horse Hitches will be in the ring at one time for the competition.

The Hitches competing include: Pennwood Percherons of PA, Live Oak Planation Clydesdales of FLA, John Schwab of PA, Ro-Lin-On Clydesdales of PA, Grandview Clydesdales of PA, Grandview Clydesdales of IN, Richard Bartlett of NY, Aaron Lundy of NY, Rovenolt's Stables of PA, Sterling Farms of MI, J.P. Farm of IL, and the sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourage breeders of quality hitch horses.

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show Competition.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator. The show will be held on Saturday evening, October 2, 1993 in the large arean of the Farm Show Complex. The competition will be held in conjunction with the popular "Challenge of the Breeds" Competition. A total of 325 draft horses are entered.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will be held September 30-October 4, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Denlinger Named To Livestock Hall Of Fame

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In a ceremony at the 37th annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE), Dr. Everett Denlinger, a lifetime resident of Lancaster County, who devoted a lifetime of service to Animal Agriculture in Pennsylvania, will be named 1993 Livestock Man of the Year and his picture will be hung in the Livestock Hall of Fame. The public is invited to honor Dr. Denlinger at a ceremony at 4:00 in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex.

Dr. Denlinger was born on a farm in Kinzer in 1915. He married Martha A. Wenger in 1937 and they have one daughter, Linda Lee. He received his pre-veterinary training at Franklin and Marshall and received a degree in veterinary medicine from the University of Pennsylvania in 1947. Upon graduation, he worked for a time at Southeastern Artificial Breeders Association (now Atlantic Breeders Coop). He established a large animal practice in 1949 and served the livestock industry of Lancaster County until 1967. In 1968, Dr. Denlinger joined the Bureau of Animal Industry. In 1972, he was appointed Chief of the Bureau, where he instituted many programs including Equine Infectious Anemia testing and Hog Cholera Free Status for the Commonwealth. Through his efforts, the Poultry Health Division of the Bureau was established.

He has been a member of the United States Animal Health Association, Northeastern United States Animal Health Association, Pennsylvania Equine Council, Pennsylvania Mastitis Council, Health Committee for the Farm Show, Pennsylvania how Cholera Advisors Council, State Salmonella Committee, Pennsylvania Livestock Association, Pennsylvania Cattlemans Association and Pennsylvania Beef Council.

Dr. Denlinger has previously been recognized for his achievements by the Pennsylvania Veterinary Medical Association. The Pennsylvania Pork Council, The Pennsylvania Dairy & Allied Industries Association and the Pennsylvania Cattlemans Association.

He has been involved with the Pennsylvania Livestock Association since the early 60's. He has served the association in many leadership roles. He has served as "Sunday" Chairman of the Food Booth at the Farm Show for many years and most recently has been chairman of the Animal Health Committee and active on the Board of Directors.

Dr. Denlinger is presently employed on a part-time basis at the Penn National Race Track as State Veterinarian.

According to Pete Krall, Chairman of the PLA Selection committee, criteria for this prestigious award are:

A person's contribution to the livestock industry in general and how the nominee has contributed to the Pennsylvania Livestock Association. Involvement of the individual in his community also plays a key role in the selection process.

The award presentation will take place during the Opening Ceremonies on Thursday, September 30, 1993.

Dr. Everett Denlinger has been named 1993 Livestock Man of the Year.

Keystone Classic Swine Sale Set

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On Friday evening, October 1, 1993 at 6:00 p.m., the annual Keystone Classic Swine Sale will be held in the small arena at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. This sale is a part of the Keystone International Livestock Show.

This year the featured breed is going to be the Spotted & Chester White Breeds. The entries for this event are coming from all over the country. Boars and Open Gilts will be sold by Harry H. Bachman, Auctioneer of Annville, PA.

These hogs will be shown on Friday morning at 10:00 a.m. If a hog man needs top quality replacement stock, this will be the place to be.

World Famous Racing Pigs Featured

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — One of "America's top novelty attractions", Bob Hale's Racing Pigs will be performing 6 shows daily at the Keystone International Livestock Exhibition September 30 through October 4. These world famous athletes are drawing record crowds from coast to coast. Training starts at four weeks and the pigs practice on a permanent track where they're taught to race for a vanilla wafer. The trainer reports that it takes food, repetition, and patience to train the pigs to race.

Contrary to what most might think, the pigs aren't kept hungry so they race faster or so they'll even race at all. They race for the vanilla wafer placed on the platform at the finish line. Pigs, who just naturally want to eat, sometimes come out of the starting gate and just stop, trot around, spin around, play or buck; it just depends on training and their mood.

Bob Hale's Racing Pigs travel the country as privileged characters. They travel in air-conditioned comfort and have performed in such places as Walt Disney World, Opryland, and the World Pork Expo. While betting is not allowed in Pennsylvania, cheerleaders are picked from the crowd and whoever cheers on the winning pigs takes home a poster.

Each 15 minute show features 4 heats. The average time for a trained racing pig to run around the 150 foot track is 7 seconds. Pigs are usually used on the show circuit until they weigh 180 pounds or are about 16 weeks old, and then they are returned to the ranch back in Missouri.

The Racing Pigs are being sponsored by Hatfield Quality Meats of Hatfield, Pennsylvania. Hatfield quality products are available in most areas throughout the state.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the PA Livestock Association in cooperation with the PA Department of Agriculture and the PA Farm Products Show Commission.

Why not plan to enjoy yourself at the 1993 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Wholesome Meat Assurance Program Continues

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — As a safeguard to the consuming public's views on safe food products and the recent United States Food and Drug Administration's decision to "check" Junior Livestock Show Animals at slaughter and before for illegal residues, the Keystone International Livestock Exposition has implemented a Wholesome Meat Animal Assurance Program for the 1993 year.

We know that it is important that our exhibitors abide in the safe use of the products which may cause a residue problem. This is the only way we can ensure that every market animal exhibited for slaughter be fed and maintained in a proper manner in order to provide a safe and wholesome product to the consuming public. We urge our exhibitors to abstain from the use of any drugs whatsoever, but if it is necessary to use drugs, we urge abiding within the legal withdrawal limits before slaughter.

Each exhibitor is required to complete a certification form stating that no drugs were used or listing the dates which the medication was administered. Not only is the youth required to sign, but also the parent. The form must be turned in at weigh-in.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will be held September 30-October 4, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Sponsors Assist In Production Of KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 37th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30-October 4.

To date, five sponsors have committed funds to support the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. A sponsorship program was put together this year for the second time. The purpose behind the program is to sell advertising and promotion of the show to the client who is looking for the agricultural-family oriented consumer, and we have thousands of people at the KILE show which fit this description. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies to get involved.

Glatfelter Insurance Group in York, PA is sponsoring the "Challenge Of The Breeds" show on Friday evening in the large arena. This event will pit four internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint and the Quarter Horse against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. A total of four horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition. The "Keystone Sovereign Champion" will then receive $1,000.

Sponsoring the Kiddie Pedal Pull is Evergreen Tractor Sales at Lebanon, PA. Dennis Grumbine, owner, reports that he chose the Kiddie's Pedal Pull to sponsor because of the close tie-in with the equipment business. The Pedal Pull will be held on Saturday, October 2, at 3:00 PM. The event is open to children between the ages of 3 and 8.

Hatfield Quality Meats is sponsoring the Racing Pigs at the show. The racing pigs will be "running" six times each day in the activity area of the KILE Show. Mr. Dwight Woelker, from the Corporate Office of Hatfield, states that the corporation has a commitment to animal agriculture and wants to be a part of the KILE Show in 1993.

Kessler Meats has chosen to sponsor our daily "Kessler's Barnyard", as it is called, where kids of all ages can touch and pet barnyard animals. Kessler's Meats is located in LeMoyne, PA.

Lebanon Valley National Bank is sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be held for children including wheelbarrow races, hay toss, sack races, hog-calling, and laughing contests. Kids will even learn how to auctioneer.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the PA Livestock Association in cooperation with the PA Department of Agriculture and the PA Farm Products Show Commission.

Why not plan to come on down to the farm at the 1993 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Shepherd's Lead Line Shows Industry Best

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Who looks better, the Sheep or the Shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be held on Saturday, October 2, 1993 precisely at NOON at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in our Lead Line Competition the Leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit. (At least 80% wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. Our herdsperson must not only look terrific, but our sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

The Lead Line Competition has been around K.I.L.E. for years and each year it gets easier for our contestants to find their Wool Garments.

We help point out the virtues of wool. It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well deserved comeback.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

Challenge Of The Breeds Featured Again

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Friday evening program is being planned for the 1993 Keystone International Livestock Exposition to be held September 30 - October 4 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. This event, the "Challenge of the Breeds", will pit four internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint, and the Quarter Horse, against eawch other in an evening of fun and mastery. The animals, two from each breed, will be chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. The event is sponsored in part by the Glatfelter Insurance Group.

The six events in which each horse will be entered include:

A. Pleasure Driving - Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.

B. English Pleasure - In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot and a canter.

C. Hunter Hack - In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.

D. Western Pleasure - In western gear, the horse will walk, jog, and lope in both directions.

E. Western Riding - The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.

F. Barrel Racing - A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by a qualified judge. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign Champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The Reserve Champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the fourth time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania. The Draft Horse teams will also perform in competitive classes during the evening. Over twenty-five different teams are expected to be in competition.

The various breed associations are in the process of looking for "outstanding" horses. The horses not only must rate high in confirmation and performance, but must be very versatile.

The event will take place on Friday evening, October 1, in the large arena of the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex. It will begin at 7:00 PM. There is no admission fee for this event or for any part of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the PA Livestock Association in cooperation with the PA Department of Agriculture and the PA Farm Products Show Commission.

Youth Production Class Set For Barrows

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will be held September 30-October 4, at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Exhibitors from Pennsylvania can enter one or two pigs in place of the pigs that would be entered in the regular Junior Barrow Show. Pigs will be weighed and identified at the farm, and brought to the Exposition with any other barrows. Pigs will be judged on-foot, but they will also be judged on the basis of weight gain and carcass merit. This will reward junior exhibitors, not only for good genetics, but sound swine management as well.

To date, approximately 50 animals have been entered in this class, representing about 62 Pennsylvania youth. All pigs weighed in June at less than 60 pounds.

Premiums in this class are $500.00 for the champion and $250.00 for the reserve. The primary purpose of this class is to tell how much muscle an animal puts on each day, thus giving breeders more information on feed conversions and feed efficiencies.

Entertainment Scheduled For Keystone International

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 37th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30-October 4.

Two strolling acts have been booked for the show this October, which should delight both young and old alike. The acts, which are booked primarily for Thursday evening, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on their shows. For too many years, the only reason people had to attend the KILE Show was to look at the animals and one quick trip through the barns and they went home.

At the 1993 Show, we are attempting to give people a reason to stay. The first act booked is "The Pied Piper". He comes highly recommended to the Livestock Show after performances at many fairs and parks.

The second strolling act is the musical Ray Owen. Ray whips up a veritable feast of classic American sons and stirs in a healthy helping of humor for all ages to enjoy. His latest album release achieved national airplay and was selected as a candidate for Grammy nomination, which produced tours with such legendary entertainers as Willie Nelson, Arlo Guthrie, Hank Williams Jr., and Bob Hope.

One of "America's top novelty attractions", Bob Hale's Racing Pigs will be performing 6 shows daily. These world famous athletes are drawing record crowds from coast to coast. Each 15 minute show features 4 heats. The average time for a trained racing pig to run around the 150 foot track is 7 seconds.

Keystone International Livestock Exposition To Open Sept. 30

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 37th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30 - October 4, 1993.

Along with a huge array of livestock, the Exposition will include commercial and educational exhibits, top qualify entertainment, and a tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups.

DAILY THURSDAY THROUGH SUNDAY — Being featured daily at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition are the Stockman's Trade Show, the Barnyard where young and old alike may touch, pet, and feed the animals, Educational Exhibits, Agricultural Commodity food booths, and strolling entertainer, The Pied Piper, along with musician, Ray Owen.

Another daily attraction is the "Racing Pigs" Show featuring the Hatfield Racing Pigs. The pigs will be performing 6 shows each day. Each 15 minute show features 4 heats. The average time for a trained racing pig to run around the 150 foot track is 7 seconds.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30-MEDIA DAY — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition officially begins at 8:00 AM with the Pinto and Appaloosa Horse Shows. The Media Pig Race will follow at 4:45 where local television stations will have their designated animal entered in the competition. The Livestock Person of the Year and Outstanding FFA and 4-H Livestock Members will also be recognized.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1-STOCKMAN'S DAY — Breeding sheep judging will begin at 8:00 AM. The Quarter Horse Show begins at 8:00 AM along with the breeding swine AT 9:00 featuring various breeds. Simmental Cattle are featured at 12:30 PM. Throughout the afternoon, various classes will be conducted including cattle and sheep. At 6:00 PM the Keystone Classic Sale will take place. Sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds Show" at 7:00 PM is Glatfelter Insurance Group of York, PA. This is horsemanship at its best as four breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint, and the Quarter Horse. go against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. The animals, two from each breed, will be chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horses must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2-KID'S DAY — A busy day begins with the Draft Horse Halter Classes at 7:00 AM, followed by the Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contest at 8:00 AM. Judging begins at 8:00 AM for sheep and continues throughout the morning. A special attraction at 12:00 noon is the Keystone Lead Line, an attractive combination, as sheep and shepherd are dressed in their finest. Also at 12:00 noon Lebanon Valley National Bank is sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be held for children. At 1:00 PM the Paso Fino Horse Show is featured followed by additional Draft Horse Hitch classes at 7:00 PM. Wool judging begins at 3:00 PM and the Yearling Bred Ewe Sale. The Suffolk Yearling Bred Ewe Sale begins at 6:00 PM followed at 6:30 by the Feeder Calf Sale.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 4-FAMILY DAY — At 8:00 AM A family sunrise church service will be held. Junior Beef Breeding Cattle judging begins at 8:00 AM. Saturday Is Kid's Day At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, October 2, 1993 as a special day for children. Daily attractions continue throughout Kid's Day including a special performance by "The Pied Piper."

Kessler's "Petting Farm" is open all day long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch and hold farm animals such as a colt, ducks, and baby pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

Six shows will be presented throughout the day featuring the Hatfield Racing Pigs. Youngsters will especially enjoy these events as the racing pigs leave the gate at high speed in search of the prize at the finish line.

Lebanon Valley National Bank is sponsoring the "Agri-Kid Olympics" at 12:00 noon. The olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete is such farm-related events as Sack Races, Wheel Barrow Races, Laughing Contest, Horse Shoe Pitch, Hog-Calling Contest, and learning how to Auctioneer.

The Kiddie Pedal-Power Tractor Pull is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must pre-register at 1:30 for the event which will be held at 3:00 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants, each one receiving a momento of the event.

So, why not plan to bring your children to the 1993 Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Scenes like this can be expected again at Kid's Day.

Highland Cattle Added To KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Over 100 Highland Cattle from nine states will be entered in the competition at the 1993 KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW in Harrisburg, Penna. on Saturday, October 2, 1993. The show will begin at 12:30 p.m. The eighteen breeders will be coming to the show from nine states and Ontario, Canada.

The Highland Breed is known to be domesticated continuously longer than any present breed in the World. References stretching back 1000 years place the animals in the Highlands of Scotland. Old paintings of Highland cattle show that the breed has remained unchanged for centuries. The British registry began in 1884 and the United States registry opened in 1948. This marks the first year that Highland Cattle will be shown at KILE.

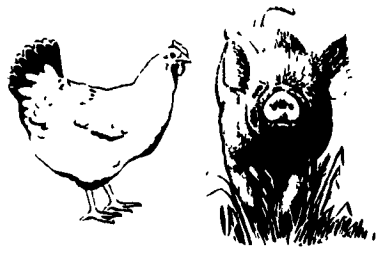
BIO-DIGESTER 3



A New Product For Digestion In Waste Pits

BIO-DIGESTER 3 is a new generation blend of aerobic and anaerobic bacteria cultures and stabilized free enzymes to aid in the digestion and elimination of solid accumulations, and to remove the source of foul odors in waste storage systems. BIO-DIGESTER 3 is a non-toxic and environmentally safe digestant that utilizes mother nature's own cleaning agents to eliminate the build-up of solids and the organisms that cause foul odors from waste systems and their associated plumbing. BIO-DIGESTER 3 contains no harsh solvents, no corrosive or dangerous chemicals and will not harm people, animals, clothing or materials commonly used in construction of waste systems. The bacteria cultures and enzymes in BIO-DIGESTER 3 are activated by dilution with water and work synergistically to break down and liquefy solids.

Just follow the simple procedure: - Determine the capacity of your pit - Check the pH of your pit - Provide air for bacterial growth - Proper mixing of BIO-DIGESTER 3

Sunday Is Family Day At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has scheduled Sunday, October 3, 1993 as a special day for the family. We begin the day at 8:00 a.m. with a sunrise church service for the entire family.

We encourage you to bring your family and enjoy the many attractions of the Livestock Exposition. Ray Owen will stroll through the complex entertaining you with songs, and "The Pied Piper, the Singing Walkaround" will amuse people of all ages.

Hatfield Racing Pigs will present six shows throughout the day to entertain you. Experience the thrill as the pigs race to the finish. Each 15 minute show features four heats.

Educational Exhibits are displayed throughout the complex to provide you with information on varied areas. The "Petting Farm" will be open all day for your family to enjoy the animals. Ag Commodity Food Booths are set up to tantalize your tastebuds.

Why not plan to visit the 1993 Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

Youth Contests Featured

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 16th Annual Keystone Stockmen's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the KILE Show, is scheduled for Monday, October 4, 1993. The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members. These members will also compete as individuals.

Registration begins at 8:00 a.m. and the contest concludes at 4:30 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress and return home the same day.

Prizes are awarded for the winners. The high scoring team wins $100.00 as well as ribbons. The individual high score wins $75.00, with prizes going to the top 30 participants. All others will receive participation ribbons. The five highest placing contestants in the over-all individual scores are interviewed by a committee of three officials. The interview consists of questions on management, health, showing and current events concerning the livestock industry. The winner of this award will receive $250.00 and a permanent trophy. For more information on the contest, contact Charles Itle, manager of the KILE Show. He can be reached at 717-787-2905.

The Second Annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be held. Prizes for this show are provided by the International Arabian Horse Association. This contest will be held on Monday, October 4th beginning at 8:00 a.m. For more information on this contest, contact Katrina McClelland at 717-624-3258.

Proper Pruning Helps Prime Gardeners

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — This autumn Penn State Cooperative Extension and Penn State-The Lancaster Center have teamed up to offer two personal enrichment courses on gardening.

The first is Pruning Ornamental Plants. This course will promote the appreciation of a well-maintained landscape through proper pruning techniques. Participants will learn about the selection and care of pruning equipment, and the proper methods of pruning decisuous shrubs and trees, needled evergreen shrubs and trees, broadleaved evergreens, and hedges.

The first three classes will consist of lecture and hands-on demonstrations of pruning on the grounds of the Penn State Lancaster Center and surrounding Greenfield Industrial Park. The final class will be a field trip to Longwood Gardens to observe pruning techniques. While at Longwood, we will observe all the previous types of pruning techniques discussed in class and also the following: topiary, espalier, vines, and bonsai.

The course is on four consecutive Tuesday afternoon, October 19, 26, and November 2 and 9 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Cost is $80.

The second course is Selecting Plants with Winter Interest. This course will explore the potential of the winter garden. For many people, after the first frost, all gardening activities cease. With proper plant selection, any garden can become a winter wonderland using color, texture, fruits, and flowers.

The course will consist of a two-hour lecture and one-hour walking tour on the grounds of the Penn State Lancaster Center and surrounding Greenfield Industrial Park. The course will take place on Monday, November 1, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Cost is $25.

For more information or to register, contact Penn State-The Lancaster Center, 1850 William Penn Way, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717) 299-7667 or (800) 828-6233.

Union County 4-H, FFA Sale Results

LAURELTON (Union Co.) — The fifteenth annual Union County 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Sale was held at the West End Fairgrounds recently.

The sale grossed more than $23,800 for Union County 4-H and FFA members. The sale consisted of six market steers, 40 lambs, 23 hogs, and 10 meat pens of three rabbits.

The grand champion market steer was purchased by Daniel Keefer for Robert Hamm of the Country Cupboard Restaurant and Shops of Lewisburg. Auctioneer Bryan Imes of Port Royal sold the steer for $3.10 a pound. The 1,050-pound Limousin/Angus cross steer was owned by Kevin Digan. The 4-H member is the son of Greg and Teresa Shuck of RD Mifflinburg.

The reserve champion market steer was owned by FFA member Chadd Gessner. The 1400 pound Charolais steer was also purchased by Country Cupboard. The Mifflinburg RD youth is the son of

Expanded Wool Show Planned

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 37th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30-October 4, 1993.

An expanded Wool Show has been planned this year with Bob Calvert of Mercer, PA serving as chairman. The purpose of this show is to encourage the production of better wool, to promote proper handling, grading and preparation for market and to create an awareness of the many qualities of wool and its uses. Any growers of wool may enter fleeces in the competition. The judging will take place on Friday, October 1 at 2:00 p.m. The fleeces shall be tied with paper twine, flesh side out, in a manner to allow their being handled without falling apart.

For more information, regarding the Wool Show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition contact: Charles Itle, Farm Show Complex, 2301 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg, PA 17110.

Two thumbs up!
MF Dynashift™ transmissions are getting rave reviews in every field they enter.
On the one hand, it's a smooth, productive powershift.
Your left hand controls a 4-speed powershift transmission for smooth, clutchless shifts under load and outstanding productivity
On the other hand, it's an efficient, reliable manual transmission.
Your right hand controls an 8-speed synchronized transmission with synchronized forward/reverse shuttle for outstanding fuel efficiency, maneuverability and low cost
Together you get the absolute best features of both transmissions a tractor with 32 forward and 32 reverse speeds that's more productive than a manual shift and more economical and reliable than a powershift Test drive a Dynashift transmission today on one of these outstanding MF tractors.

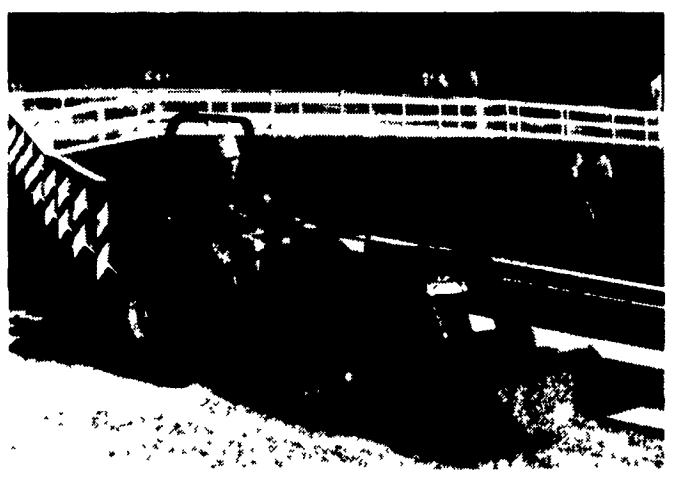
CHALLENGING TIMES DEMAND TRACTORS EQUIPPED FOR THE CHALLENGE



Kubota tractors are. Powerful, versatile and fuel efficient.

Our B-Series tractors come with liquid-cooled diesel engines, 10-20 PTO HP, 2WD or 4WD and quick-attach implements. Optional Bi-Speed turning, HST transmission and power steering are available.

Kubota's L-Series, with 20-49 PTO HP, offer 2WD or 4WD and are built with a Kubota liquid-cooled diesel engine. These models come with lots of choices which include the Ever-Clutch, a first-of-a-kind wet clutch that doubles clutch life and the Kubota exclusive Glide Shift Transmission (GST).

And, our 42 to 91 PTO HP Kubota M-Series are extremely efficient and powerful. They come with optional shuttle-shift transmission, 2WD or 4WD, Kubota diesel engines and oversized fuel tank capacity.

Kubota. Economical tractors meeting the challenge.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a full line of tractors through a nationwide network of over 1,000 dealers.

Hesston 1160 Mower Conditioner

When you're doing high-capacity haying, our Hesston 1160 Hydro Swing Mower Conditioner gets right down to business.

We built it with a center-pivot design that gives you all the benefits of a self-propelled—without the extra expense. And it's made for consistent, even cutting.

Once you've entered your fields, the 1160's fully engaged 110" conditioner goes to work for fast drying and even, well-conditioned windrows. You can even adjust the forming shields to produce everything from a swath to Hesston's unique fluffy windrow. Whatever the crop conditions, the 1160 tailors itself so you can harvest the highest quality hay and save lots of time in the process.

See your AGCO/Hesston dealer listed here and ask about our flexible financing plans on the 1160. Or on our wide selection of other equipment, all backed by the AGCO Warranty Program.

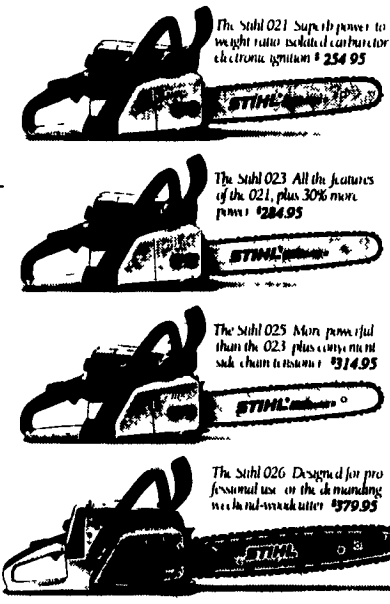
The Chain Saws For People Who Want To Act Like Lumberjacks, Not Work Like Them.



The Stihl 021 Superb power to weight ratio solid carburetor electronic ignition $254.95
The Stihl 023 All the features of the 021, plus 30% more power $284.95
The Stihl 025 More powerful than the 023 plus convenient side chain tension $314.95
The Stihl 026 Designed for professional use on the demanding wood-and-woodcutter $379.95

If you know a little about the timber business, you know that Stihl chain saws have been used by professional woodcutters for over sixty years

So maybe you think Stihl equipment is "too good" for a suburbanite or farmer or anyone else who needs to cut wood on an occasional basis

Well, we're happy to tell you that Stihl makes a whole series of chain saws with your needs in mind

But don't confuse them with discount-store chain saws

All Stihl saws are designed for performance, ease of handling and starting, and durability

Now, about the 026 shown at the bottom we'll admit we sell this saw to professional woodcutters But it's also bought by people who simply put a lot of hours on a saw every year

And by the way, when were you ever unhappy because you bought a product that was too good?

For The Part Of You That Promised You'd Never Compromise.

POURED SOLID CONCRETE

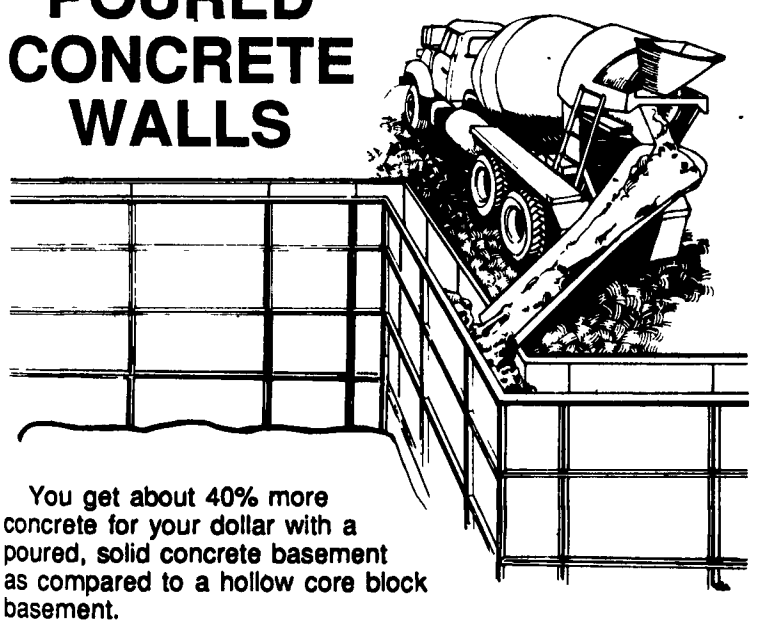
POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs. more per cubic foot! Far denser. What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic ... there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration.

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced.

Solid Concrete For:

- Manure Pit Walls
- Hog House Walls
- Barnyard Walls
- Chicken House Walls
- Retaining Walls
- House Foundation Walls
- Silage Pit Walls
- Cistern Walls
- Concrete Decks
- Concrete Pit Tops

These Future Champions Will Sell.

The 1992 calving season at the Miller Farm was an exciting one. The number of exceptionally good calves was overwhelming. But we decided that wasn't enough. We wanted to improve the quality from top to bottom. After making several contacts and telephone calls, we headed west. After traveling several thousand miles and picking only the top calves from herds in Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Colorado, we came home with truly an exceptional group of calves. These calves will be all you ever expected in Western bred club calves. Along with our truly deep set of home bred calves, they will be worth your time to inspect. Over 20 Grand or Reserve Grand Steers were sold through this sale last year. These cattle will be wormed, vaccinated, pre-conditioned, and halter broke.
